Feb. 1. Berkhampstead. To Michael Mynyot or to him who supplies his place in the port of Southampton. Order to deliver to R. bishop of London, the chancellor, or to his attorney, 6 tuns 4 pipes of wine of his fee of wine which pertains to him by reason of his office.

Feb. 2. Berkhampstead. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer and to the chamberlains. Order to deliver due payment to Thomas de Blaston, the king's clerk, having accounted with him for the time when he was in the king's service in the following matters, allowing him 13*s*. 4*d*. a day for his wages, and his expenses, as on 14 July in the 11th year of the reign the king appointed him and other lieges to choose, array and try a certain number of men at arms and archers in co. Lancaster and to cause them to be led to Thomas de Bello Campo earl of Warwick, then keeper of the March of Scotland, and to do other things, and afterwards on 7 May following, the king appointed him, by letters patent under the great seal, and Thomas Surtays to make scrutiny of all wool in Newcastle-upon-Tyne and the port there, to take the number of sacks and sarplars and cause the names of the owners to be written down, and to cause a moiety of all that wool and all the wool taken at another time for the king's use and not sent to parts beyond the sea, to be taken for the king's use and delivered to the takers of wool in co. Northumberland or to the collectors of customs in the aforesaid port, and to do divers other things, and Thomas de Blaston has now besought the king to order his wages to be paid to him, as he went from co. Northampton to Newcastle and from York to co. Lancaster by reason of the aforesaid assignments. By C.

Feb. 6. Kennington. To John de Ellerker, chamberlain of North Wales. Order to pay to Richard earl of Arundel the arrears of 1,000 marks, as on 28 November in the 10th year of the reign the king granted to him 1,000 marks yearly from the issues of that chamber, in recompence for what pertained to the earl of the stewardship of Scotland, which belonged to him by hereditary right and which he granted to the king, the grant being confirmed by Edward, king of Scotland, and the king ordered Robert de Hambury, sometime chamberlain of North Wales, to pay the said 1,000 marks to the earl, and the earl has besought the king to order the arrears to be paid to him, as Robert was amoved from his office before he had fully paid the 1,000 marks. The king nevertheless wishes the castles, towns and other places in North Wales to be well supplied with all victuals and other necessaries.

Feb. 8. Westminster. To the sheriff of Wilts. Order to cause a coroner for that county to be elected in place of Robert de Lavynton of Salisbury, 'spicer,' who has no land in that county except for life and a term of years.

Feb. 8. Westminster. Walter Parker and John his son, imprisoned at Wyndesore for trespass of venison in Wyndesore forest, have the king's writ to Bartholomew de Burgherrsh, keeper of the forest, this side Trent, or to him who supplies his place, to bail them.

Jan. 25. Kennington. To the sheriff of York. Order to cause all the lands which belonged to William son of Constantine Flauvel to be delivered to those to whom they ought to belong, as he was appealed of aiding the death of Henry de Cheston, by William Fissh of Bouland, approver, then in gaol at York castle, before William de Shareshull and his fellows, justices of gaol delivery, and he was convicted thereof before them, and he was delivered by the justices to William, archbishop of York, in accordance with the privilege of the clergy, and he died in the archbishop's prison without having purged himself of the felony, as is found by the archbishop's certificate; and now the king has been besought by Adam, William's brother and heir, and Alice, William's wife, who was jointly enfeoffed with him of certain lands which belonged to him, as is said, to order the lands which belonged to William to be delivered to her.

Feb. 8. Kennington. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer and to the chamberlains. Whereas the king lately ordered the treasurer and barons to account with Richard Talebot, keeper of Berwick-upon-Tweed, for the arrears of his wages, and those of the men at arms and archers in garrison with him there, and for replacing certain of his horses lost in the king's service, from the time when the account was last made with him in the wardrobe, and ordered the treasurer and chamberlains to pay him what was found to be due, and Richard has informed the king that the treasurer and barons have delayed to do this because they have not ascertained the day when he last accounted; and because Edmund de la Beche, late keeper of the wardrobe, has acknowledged in chancery that he accounted with Richard until 11th July last, the king orders the treasurer and barons to account with him as aforesaid, and orders the treasurer and chamberlains to pay him what is found to be due. By C.

Jan. 26. Kennington. To the prior of Bath, collector in the diocese of Bath and Wells of the triennial tenth granted by the clergy of the province of Canterbury. Order to allow the abbot of Glastonbury 100*l.* in the second year of payment, which were not allowed to him in the first year, in accordance with a former order of the king [as in this Calendar 12 Edward III. page 357], as the abbot has informed the king that he could not have the allowance on account of certain assignments of divers sums to Queen Philippa on the money of the first year, and has besought the king to order the allowance to be made to him for the second year. By C.

Feb. 3. Berkhampstead. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause the prior to have allowance for 100*l.* if they shall find that he has allowed that sum to the abbot of Glastonbury by virtue of the preceding order.

Feb. 8. Westminster. To the sheriff of Lincoln. Order to pay to William Fraunk 25 marks for Michaelmas term last, in accordance with the king's grant to him on 8 February last of 50 marks yearly to be received by the hands of the sheriff until the king shall provide him with 50 marks yearly for life of land and rent in a suitable place in the realm.

Feb. 5. Kennington. To John de Ellerker, chamberlain of North Wales. Order to pay to Richard earl of Arundel, justice of North Wales, the arrears of his fee, both for the time of Robert de Hambury, sometime chamberlain there, and for his own time, and to pay the fee henceforth so long as he is chamberlain and the earl is justice.

Jan. 26. Berkhampstead. To the collectors of customs in the port of Great Yarmouth. Whereas the king is bound to Ralph de Ferar [iis] in 49*l.* for his wages of war, and those of the men at arms whom he retained in the company of William de Monte Acuto, earl of Salisbury, for the safe custody of the march of Scotland and for the siege of Dunbar castle, between 1 March last and 6 June following as appears by a bill under the seal of Edmund de la Beche, sometime keeper of the wardrobe, the king has granted that Ralph shall buy 24½ sacks of wool in the realm, load them in that port and take them to the staple of wool at Andewerp, and that 40*s.* due on each sack for custom and subsidy shall be allowed to him in full payment of the said debt; the king therefore orders the collectors to take Ralph's oath that he will only take his own wool, and to take security that he will take the wool to the staple, and not elsewhere, and to permit him to load the wool and take it away, the custom and subsidy being allowed as aforesaid. By p.s.

Feb. 12. Westminster. To Thomas de Foxle, constable of Wyndesore Castle. Order to pay to John Maurdyn, parker of the new park of Wyndesore, the arrears of his wages from the time of the constable's appointment, and to pay such wages henceforth.

MEMBRANE 48.

Jan. 26. Berkhampstead. To the collectors of customs in the port of Boston. Order to deliver to Master Paul de Monte Florum what is wanting of those 400 sacks of the king's wool which the king caused to be assigned to him in that port and ordered to be delivered to him by the collectors in part payment of 2,000 sacks of wool which the king granted to him for the great sums of money which he delivered to the king for his affairs, in parts beyond the sea, and to give Paul ships, at his own expense, to take the wool to the said parts. The king wishes that the assignments of wool made to Paul and William Dunort in that port to be in no wise retarded. By C.

Jan. 26. Berkhampstead. To William Muchet, sometime sheriff of Huntingdon, and to the receivers of the king's wool in that county. Order to cause 66 sacks of that wool to be taken with all speed to the port of Lenne to be delivered by indenture to the collectors of customs there, whom the king has ordered to receive them and keep them safely until further orders.

Feb. 1. Windsor. To the collectors of the custom of wool, hides and wool fells in the port of London. Order to permit Godekinus de Revle, John de Clyngynberg and Alvinus de Revle or their attorneys to load 80 sacks—of the 500 sacks which the king ordered the collectors of the custom of wool, hides and wool-fells in the port of Boston, to permit them to load and take from that port to parts beyond the sea without paying custom or subsidy due thereon, because they had already paid them to the king in parts beyond the sea—in ships in the port of London and take them to the said parts without paying custom or subsidy, as they have besought the king to permit them to take 80 sacks from London and the remaining 420 sacks from Boston. By p.s.

To the collectors of the custom of wool, hides and wool-fells in the port of Boston. Like order to permit Godekinus and the others to take 420 sacks from that port. The king has ordered the sheriff of Lincoln to permit them to load the wool in that port. By p.s.

Jan. 28. Berkhampstead. To the collectors of customs in the port of Boston. Whereas the king ordered William de la Pole, his serjeant, to cause 2,900 sacks of the king's wool to come from England to the king to parts beyond the sea, with all possible speed, to be sold for the king's use, and to make certain payments for the king therewith, and it was ordained by the council that 2,418 sacks 10 stones of that wool should be delivered to William, to wit 212 sacks of co. Lincoln, 360 sacks ½ stone of co. York in the port of Kyngeston-upon-Hull, and the residue in other ports of the realm, wherefore the king ordered the collectors of customs in the port of Kyngeston to deliver the wool to William or his attorneys to be taken to the king to the said parts, and they have only delivered to him 168 sacks of the wool of cos. Nottingham and Derby, of the 212 sacks of co. Lincoln, because certain wool of co. Lincoln has not yet come to that port, as is found by their certificate sent into chancery, wherefore William has besought the king to order 44 sacks of wool which are thus in arrear to him to be delivered to him of the wool of co. Lincoln; the king therefore orders the collectors to cause this to be done by indenture, the wool to be laded in the port of Boston and sent to parts beyond the sea, without William paying the custom and subsidy due thereon. The king has ordered the collectors in the port of Kyngeston to supersede the livery of the said 44 sacks. By C.

By C.

Jan. 28. Berkhampstead. To the collectors of customs in the port of Lenne. Order to receive the 66 sacks of wool which William Muchet, sometime sheriff of Huntingdon, and the receivers of wool in that county, will deliver to them, and cause them to be delivered to Master Paul de Monte Florum, the king's clerk, or his attorney, beyond the 1,109 sacks 7 stones which the king assigned to

Order to permit John Brune of Sidynghusen and Richard Suderland, merchants of Almain, or their attorneys, to load in ships of that port 60 sacks of wool of the 90 sacks—which the king ordered the collectors of the custom of wool, hides and wool-fells in the port of Boston to permit them to take from that port to the staple at Andewerp, without paying the custom or subsidy due thereon—and to permit them to take the wool to Andewerp as aforesaid, as the merchants have besought the king to grant that they may take 60 of the said sacks from London and the remaining 30 from Boston. The king has ordered the collectors at Boston and the sheriff of Lincoln and the takers and purveyors of wool in that county to permit the merchants to take the 30 sacks as aforesaid.

By p.s.

Order to deliver to William Potent, chaplain, attorney of Master Paul de Monte Florum, the king's clerk, 150 sacks of wool in canvas, in their custody at Boston, in part satisfaction of 400 sacks which the king ordered the collectors of customs in the port there to deliver by indenture to Paul or William in part payment of the 2,000 sacks granted to him to take to parts beyond the sea, and the attorney afterwards informed the king that although he delivered canvas for 150 of the 400 sacks to the sheriff and receivers yet they have hitherto delayed to deliver the sacks to the attorney.

By C.

Feb. 4. Kennington. To the collectors of the custom of wool, hides and wool-fells in the port of London. Order to cause all the king's wool brought to that port beyond 8790 sacks 9 stones, which the king ordered to be reserved for himself and others to whom assignments of wool in that port have been made, to be safely kept until further orders.

Feb. 8. Westminster. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to allow to William de Northwell, the king's clerk, who undertook to render the account of Robert de Tanton, deceased, for the time when he was keeper of the wardrobe, such wages for the time when he was attendant upon the ordering and rendering of the account as they shall find to have been allowed to Roger de Waltham or Richard de Bury, late keepers of the wardrobe, for rendering their accounts, in the debts in which William is bound for the time when he was keeper of the great wardrobe, as the king previously ordered them to cause such allowance to be made to William, who has informed the king that this cannot be made in Robert's account and has besought the king to order allowance to be made in the said debts. By C.

Feb. 5. Berkhampstead. To Edmund de Duresme and his fellows appointed to supervise the wool levied for the king's use of the men of co. Essex according to the ordinance made in the last great council at Northampton. Order to cause the 16 stones of wool assessed by them upon John de Bousser, archdeacon of Essex, by reason of his lands in that county, to be allowed to him in recompence for the same quantity of wool taken from him by William Buk and his fellows appointed in that county to levy a moiety of the wool granted in the parliament at Westminster in the 12th year of the reign, who delivered the wool to Richard de Leyham and his fellows collectors of customs in the port of Ipswich, for the king's use, as is found by William's certificate sent to chancery, and the archdeacon has besought the king to order such allowance to be made to him.

The like, 'mutatis mutandis,' to Ralph de Bockyng and his fellows appointed in co. Suffolk for 18 stones of wool.

Order to account with John de Wyndesore, the king's clerk, for his expenses and wages in the following matters, allowing him 6*s.* 8*d.* a day for his wages and 12*d.* daily for each man at arms, and 3*d.* for each archer retained in the king's service by him, and to pay him what is found to be due beyond the sums which he has already received from the king, as the king appointed him and other lieges to arrest ships in ports and places in the liberty of the Cinque Ports, and to cause them to be prepared for war and supplied with men and other necessaries to set out against the Scots and their allies who proposed to invade the realm, and to see that all of the Isle of Wight were supplied with suitable arms and arrayed, and to pay wages as aforesaid to the men at arms and archers whom the king ordained to be chosen outside the island in co. Southampton and elsewhere, and to be sent to the island, and to do other things contained in the letters patent; the king also sent John to certain abbots, priors and other men of religion in divers counties of the realm to receive divers jewels from them on loan for the king's use and to show them certain secret affairs of the king as was enjoined upon him by the king and council, and the king granted him 6*s.* 8*d.* a day for his wages and caused divers sums of money to be delivered to him upon his expenses, and John has besought the king that account may be made with him and that he may receive payment. 1339. Membrane 47—cont.

Feb. 18. Westminster. To the sheriff of Southampton. Like order in favour of William de la Pole, the king's merchant, for 300 sacks of wool and 20 lasts of hides, in accordance with the king's grant to him by writ of privy seal, as he has paid 2 marks for each sack and 40*s.* for each last to the king in parts beyond the sea, and the king has pardoned him the residue. By p.s.

Feb. 2. Westminster. To the collectors of customs in the port of London. Order to permit John de Bures to load 50 sacks of wool in that port and take them to the staple at Andewerp, receiving security from him that he will take them there and not elsewhere, as the king granted that he should so take the wool in recompence for 100*l.* which he granted to him by reason of the news (rumorum) which he brought to the king of the birth of his son Lionel. The custom and subsidy are to be allowed to John in full payment of the said 100*l.* By C.

Feb. 15. Westminster. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer and to the chamberlains. By C.

[Fœdera.]

Feb. 12. Westminster. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Whereas the king lately appointed John Gogh, his clerk and others to take into his hands all priories, houses, benefices, and places of men of religion and other aliens of the power of the king of France, and their goods and chattels in South Wales, together with the debts which were owed there, and to cause those possessions to be safely kept until further orders, answering to the king for the issues of the lands and places and for the goods, and John has besought the king to order account to be made with him in the premises and his wages to be paid, the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to audit John's account and cause 2*s.* daily to be paid to him for his wages, having viewed his commission, and to do what pertains to the final issue of the account. MEMBRANE 37.

March 6. Byfleet. To the collectors of customs in the port of Boston. Whereas the king granted that John del Isle, mayor of Bordeaux, might take 11 sacks of wool from that port to Bordeaux, 40*s*. a sack for custom and subsidy being allowed to him in the debts which the king owed to him, and the king ordered Thomas Gouk and James Keys of Newerk, then collectors of customs in that port, to permit John to take the wool as aforesaid, and while they were collectors John only laded 8 sacks, and is hindered by the collectors from lading the remaing 3 sacks, because they have no warrant, the king therefore orders them to permit him to take the remaining 3 sacks, as aforesaid, if they find that he has only hitherto taken 8 sacks. By C.

Feb. 25. Byfleet. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer and to the chamberlains. Whereas the king ordered them, by writ of privy seal, to account with John de Wesenham for wages for himself and forty men at arms, forty archers and fifty mariners retained in a ship called 'la Grace de Dieu' of Lenne, from Whitsuntide in the 11th year of the reign until the Annunciation last, to set out to sea to attack the king's enemies, and to arrest goods and chattels forfeited to him, allowing him the accustomed wages of war, and to pay him what they found to be due, and although they accounted with him, they have refused to make payment to him because he does not answer to the king for 41 sarplars of wool arrested by Walter de la Haye, his serjeant at arms in the said ship, in Gascony, delivered by indenture to Oliver de Ingham seneschal of the duchy [of Aquitaine], and for a ship called 'la Rede cogge' and 260 tuns of wine found therein, arrested by John and the others and men in two ships of the earl of Salisbury, although the ship is demised with others in the port of Southampton and was afterwards received for the king's use by Gawayn le Corder and Robert Leddrede, wherefore the king ordered them to view the account and give John satisfaction for the sums due to him; and afterwards John informed the king that they delayed to give him satisfaction, because it is not certain by the king's order who ought to be charged with the wool, ship and wine, wherefore the king ordered them to satisfy John for the sums which they should find to be due to him, and because by the advice of the council the king granted to him permission to take 200 sacks of wool from the port of Boston and 40 from the port of Ipswich to Andewerp in Brabant, allowing the custom and subsidy due thereon in part satisfaction of the said debt, the king ordered the treasurer, barons and chamberlains to direct the collectors of the said ports to permit John to take wool from them as aforesaid; and now John has informed the king that although the treasurer and barons are certified by writ of privy seal that 'la Redecogge' was lost with the king's ship called 'la Cristofre' and other vessels, and that part of the 260 tuns of wine has been given by the king to divers persons and the residue is in the king's possession, and that the sarplars of wool were delivered to the seneschal and they are ordered to discharge John of the ship, wine and wool, yet payment is not made to him, whereupon he has besought the king to provide a remedy; the king therefore orders the treasurer, barons and chamberlains to view the aforesaid writ of privy seal and John's account, and to give him payment or an assignment for what is found to be due to him beyond the 480*l.* allowed to him, directing the collectors of customs in the ports that he shall choose to permit him to take so much wool, whereof the custom and subsidy reach what is found to be due to him, causing the custom and subsidy to be allowed to him in full satisfaction of such sum. March 6. Kennington. To the sheriffs of London. Order to pay to Henry Darcy, mayor of London, 50 marks of the king's gift to support the charges of his office from SS. Simon and Jude last until the same feast following, and for the following cause, as he has besought the king to make such provision for him as he ought to receive 50 marks yearly, as his predecessors have done from alien merchants, to wit, of Amiens, Neel and Torby (sic), trading at that city, that they have withdrawn by reason of the war with France, so that nothing of the 50 marks can be levied, and the king has granted his request in consideration of his efforts for the safe keeping of the city, the arraying of its men and the punishment of malefactors there.

in the port of Hertilpole, to take thence to the parts of Estland to sell there, and certain malefactors of the said towns entered the ship at sea near the coast of Denmark by, armed force and took the ship with its tackle and carried off the goods; and the king ordered the bailiffs of Skardeburgh to take an inquisition upon the matter and although it is found by the inquisition that the ship, valued at 200*l.*, and the goods, valued at 600*l.*, were taken as aforesaid on the eve of Whitsuntide last, the king several times requested the counts of Guelders and Hainault, lords of the said towns, to cause restitution to be made to the merchants and satisfaction for their damages, yet the counts have answered that the men of those towns are rebels to them and will not be judged by them, and the counts have besought the king to do justice to them when they come within his lordship; and the king has several times written by writs under the privy seal to the scabini and other men of the said towns to do justice to the merchants, but they have not done so, as the king has learned by trustworthy testimony. The king does not wish the goods and merchandise of men of other towns and places of the said lordships to be arrested by virtue of this order. By p.s.

Like order to the mayor and bailiffs of Great Yarmouth for 100*l.*; the mayor and bailiffs of Lynn for 200*l.*; the bailiffs of Boston for 200*l.*; the mayor and bailiffs of Kyngeston-upon-Hull for 100*l.* the bailiffs of Ravenesere for 50*l.*; the bailiffs of Scardeburgh for 30*l.*, and the mayor and bailiffs of Newcastle-upon-Tyne for 80*l.* By the same writ.

[Monasticon vi. p. 392.]

March 13. Winchester. To John de Wyndesore, the king's clerk, appointed to pay wages to the men at arms and archers in garrison at the isle of Wight. Feb. 20. Westminster. To H. bishop of Lincoln or to his vicar general in his absence. The prior and convent of Ramesye have besought the king to provide a remedy, as certain manors, benefices and lands separated from the abbot's portion, are assigned to them for their maintenance, and although they hold them in voidances of the abbey by the licence of the king's progenitors, and have paid tenths and other quotas imposed upon them, and they are ready to pay the triennial tenth granted by the clergy for the second year at the second term of anticipation as well as the residue thereof and also the tenth granted by the clergy in their convocation at the church of St Bride's, London, on the morrow of St Jerome last, yet the collectors appointed by the bishop to take wool in his diocese, according to the grant made at Westminster, compel them to pay such wool, the king therefore orders the bishop to direct the collectors to supersede this exaction, levying from the prior and convent the tenth granted by the clergy of the second year of the triennial tenth of the second term of anticipation, as well as the residue of that tenth and also the tenth granted in the said convocation, provided that the abbot be bound to pay wool according to the aforesaid grant.

Kent, Somerset, Dorset, Cornwall, Devon, Warwick, Hereford, Bedford, Buckingham, Cambridge, and Essex, received by the sheriffs and other receivers and delivered at the exchequer, and the money for the wool was received by Robert and none of it has been delivered to the merchants, wherefore they have besought the king to cause them to be satisfied. April 20. Berkhampstead. To the collectors of customs in the port of Bristol. Order to permit John Ryoun, and his fellows, merchants of Bayonne, to take 51 sacks 2 cloves of wool from that port to Bayonne without paying custom and subsidy, as the king ordered the collectors of customs in the port of London to deliver to the merchants sacks of the king's wool of co. April 27. Berkhampstead. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Nicholas son of William son of Henry de Sandiacr [a] has shown the king that although it was returned by the inquisition post mortem of William his father, taken by John Moryn, escheator beyond Trent, that William held at his death in his demesne as of fee, in chief, a messuage, a toft, and 4 bovates of land in Sandiacre, by fealty and the service of rendering 13*s.* 4*d.* yearly at the exchequer, and that he held no other lands in chief as of the crown, and that Nicholas is his next heir, and was aged fourteen years on 24 September in the 10th year of the reign, and the king took his fealty and ordered the escheator to cause him to have seisin of the messuage and land, receiving security for his reasonable relief; and Nicholas, who was not then fifteen years of age, acknowledged before the escheator that he held the premises of the king by the aforesaid services, yet he asserts before the king in chancery that William his father held a messuage, two bovates, and 4 acres of land in Sandiacre, at his death, by the service of rendering 6*s.* 8*d.* yearly at the exchequer, and Nicholas ought to pay relief therefor, and Nicholas has besought the king not to charge him with relief beyond the quantity of the lands which are held of the king; and because Nicholas was a minor at the time of his fealty, the king orders the treasurer and barons to view the rolls and memoranda of the exchequer, and if they find that William held the messuage, 2 bovates, 4 acres of land, by the service of rendering 6*s.* 8*d.* yearly, and no more, then they shall receive his reasonable relief and supersede the demand made upon him for a greater relief of other lands which he does not hold of the king. April 18. Berkhampstead. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to supersede the demand made on Richard de Walden for rendering his account from 18 August last, as although the king appointed him and Nicholas atte Hawe to receive the tenth and fifteenth in co. Order to deliver to John de Broghton, to whom the late king committed the custody of the gate of Wyndesore park and of the manor there, for life, receiving as much as Laurence de Bagshote received in the same, the arrears of what John was wont to receive, and to pay what he received henceforth, so long as he is keeper and Thomas is constable.

April 26. Berkhampstead. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Whereas the king ordered Roger de Grey and others, appointed justices of oyer and terminer in co. By p.s.

May 10. Berkhampstead. To the collectors of customs in the port of Bristol. Order to permit John de Rioun and his fellows, merchants of Bayonne, to take 51 sacks 2 cloves of wool from that port to Bayonne without paying custom and subsidy thereon, in accordance with a former order [as at page 69 above], which the collectors have neglected to obey by reason of the grant of those customs to William de la Pole, the king's merchant, but the said wool is of the king's own wool on which no custom or subsidy is due. To the attorney in the port of Newcastle upon Tyne of William de la Pole, the king's merchant. Whereas the king lately ordered the collectors of customs there, by writ of privy seal, to permit Hugh de Appelby of Newcastle to take 12 sacks of wool from that port to the staple at Andewerp, paying the custom and subsidy to William de Northwell, keeper of the wardrobe, and although Hugh paid these in parts beyond the sea and has shown the attorney William's letters patent testifying this, yet the attorney does not permit him to take the sacks, by reason of the grant of the custom and subsidy made afterwards to William de la Pole, unless he pay 24*l.* for custom and subsidy to the said William, the king therefore orders the attorney to view the writ to the collectors and if he find that it was before the date of the commission to William de la Pole, then to restore to Hugh, without delay, the letters obligatory for 24*l.* made to William by Hugh. March 2. Kennington. To Thomas bishop of Hereford. Because the king is informed that the lands and liberties which ought to pertain to the king [in Ireland] and for which answer was made to the king for no small sum of money, are granted for life, in fee and otherwise by untrue suggestions and procurations made in the king's court, to divers men of those parts, so that too little is retained in the king's hands for supporting the charges of the land, the king therefore orders the bishop to inform the king upon the premises and to give his advice with that of others of the council, under the seal used in those parts, without delay. Jan. 25. Berkhampstead. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Whereas previous kings granted by charter to the church of St. Etheldreda, Ely, and to Hugh, then bishop there and his successors and to the prior and monks there, that they should have a return of all writs of the king within the hundred and half of Midford, and in the five hundreds and a half of Wykkelawe, the Thredling (Trillyng) of Wyneston, and in all their lands and fees without those hundreds so that neither the earl nor any minister at Somersham should intermeddle therewith without the licence of Simon, the present bishop, or the other bishops there and the king confirmed this by charter and further granted to John de Hothum then bishop and to the prior and convent, that although they had not used those liberties yet they should enjoy them without hindrance; and the bishop has informed the king that although they had summons of the exchequer and executions of the same in the bishop's soke of Somersham, which is in the hundred of Hirstyngstan in the said (sic) county, by virtue of the said charters, yet the abbot of Rameseye, under colour of a charter to the abbot and convent of Rameseye of returns of writs and summons of the exchequer in the said hundred, impedes the bishop from exercising the said liberty there, whereupon he has besought the king to provide a remedy, and the king ordered the sheriff of Huntingdon to direct the abbot to be in chancery with his charters three weeks after Easter, which day the king has given to the bishop to be there with his charters, and hearing the reasons, to cause those things which were granted to the abbot and convent to the prejudice of the bishop, to be taken out of the abbot's charter, and a new charter to be made for him if he desires it, and further to do and receive what the king's court shall decide; and now the king has learned that certain pleas upon the said liberties have been moved at the exchequer at the suit both of the bishop and of the abbot, and are pending there undecided, the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to supersede holding such processes, certifying the king in chancery of all the process thereupon which has been held before them, because it is not right that the matters should be pleaded at the exchequer which are in chancery by the king's order, for information and discussion. March 5. Kennington. To the bailiffs of Great Yarmouth. James Dartevelde of Flanders, to whom the king is especially bound for his good services and for his assistance given to the king's affairs in parts beyond the sea, has shown the king, complaining, that Stephen de Drayton and several men of Great Yarmouth attacked by armed force a ship called 'la Seinte Katherine' of Seville, whereof Walter Periz of Castile was master, upon the sea between the town of St. Matthieu and le Ras de Seyn, on Saturday after St. Giles last, and took 94 tuns and a pipe of wine de Sancto Johanne of Lambert Gayd and his fellows, merchants of Poperynges in Flanders, found in that ship, which were destined for James both for his affairs and the king's; and James beseeching the king to cause speedy satisfaction to be made to the merchants for the wine or the reasonable price thereof and for the damages done, which are extended at 85*l.* 12*d.* gros Tournois (grossis turonen); the king considering that if he does not satisfy the merchants speedily, James, who is one of the principal leaders of the men of Flanders, and the said men, who are now friendly to him, may readily rise against him in aid of his enemies, the king therefore wishing to avoid such dangers orders the bailiffs to take an inquisition upon the matter and cause the wine to be arrested without delay, or the price thereof, if it no longer exists, and the damages to the aforesaid sum to be levied of the goods and chattels of Stephen and others who shall be found guilty and delivered to the merchants or their attorney by indenture; knowing that if they delay to execute the premises, the king will cause the price of the wine and the damages to be levied of their goods and chattels and of those of the other burgesses of that town. May 9. Berkhampstead. To the keepers of the maritime land in co. Norfolk. Order to supersede the exaction made upon Thomas Chaumberleyn for finding a man at arms for that custody by reason of his lands in the county, while he is staying in the company of Hugh le Despenser, whom the king appointed with other lieges to array men at arms and others in certain counties of the realm, and to the said custody, as Hugh has certified by his letters in chancery.

May 7. Berkhampstead. To Richard earl of Arundel and his fellows, keepers of the maritime land in co. Southampton. Order to compel all those of cos. Wilts and Southampton, who assert that they are of the retinue of Robert bishop of Salisbury, and are not, to make the said custody with the others of the county, at their own cost, as the king appointed Robert and other lieges to array all men in co. Wilts to set out with Edward duke of Cornwall and earl of Chester and other magnates against the king's enemies if they should presume to invade the realm, and to do certain other things, and the king has learned that divers men of the said counties assert themselves to be of the bishop's retinue and therefore that they ought not to be bound for that custody, so that the maritime land there is not guarded as is fitting. By C.

To Robert bishop of Salisbury. Order not to claim (advocet) as his own any men who are not of his retinue. By C.

April 29. Berkhampstead. To John de Warenna, earl of Surrey, and his fellows, arrayers of men at arms and others in co. Surrey. Order to supersede the distraint made on John de Hedersham to stay in that county upon the safe custody of those parts while he is in the company of the abbot of Battle upon the safe custody of the maritime land in co. Kent, as the abbot has besought the king to order the distraint to be superseded, as John is of the abbot's retinue and is staying in his company in co. Kent as aforesaid, and John is distrained by the earl's deputies to stay in co. Surrey for its safe custody, and the abbot cannot make the custody in co. Kent unless he have the men of his retinue with him. By C.

May 15. Berkhampstead. To John Bardolf and his fellows, keepers of the maritime land in co. Norfolk. Order to supersede the distraint made upon the prior of Okebourn, for finding men for that custody by reason of his lands in the county, as the prior has shown that the priory was taken into the king's hands as an alien priory, and he holds it by the king's commission, at will, rendering a certain ferm yearly at the exchequer, yet those deputed by the keepers distrain him to find men for that custody, pretending that the priors of that place and other alien men of religion at the time when the priories were in the king's hands by reason of war, underwent such charges, wherefore the prior has asserted that he pays a greater sum for his ferm for that custody than was wont to be paid in times past, and has besought the king to discharge him of the said custody and such charges, on account of the small price, at the present time of the things from which the ferm ought to be levied. By C.

The like to the following for the same prior:—

John Bardolf and his fellows, keepers of the maritime land in co. Suffolk.

The keepers of the maritime land in co. Dorset.

May 8. Berkhampstead. To Roger de Northwod. Order to direct those deputed with him by William de Clynton, earl of Huntyngdon, keeper of the maritime land in co. Kent, to stay in the island of Shepeye upon its safe custody against hostile invasions, to be attendant upon that custody and to guard the island from danger, and if they refuse to do this, then to inform the king in chancery of their names, so that he may punish them for their rebellion and disobedience, as the king has learned that they refuse to make that custody. By C.

May 18. Berkhampstead. Nicholas de Ledred, citizen of London, acknowledges that he owes to John de Watenhull, clerk, 100*s.*; to be levied, in default of payment, of his lands and chattels in the city of London.

May 3. Berkhampstead. To Robert de Morle, admiral of the fleet from the mouth of the Thames towards the North. Order to supersede the demand made on the prior of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem in England to find a man at arms or other to set out to sea with the admiral, by reason of his lands in co. Suffolk, while the prior is finding thirty men at arms and other armed men and archers for the custody of Southampton by the king's order with the advice of the council, as the prior has besought the king to supply a remedy, as the admiral distrains him for this cause, and has arrested and imprisoned Richard de Bachesworth, a brother of the Hospital. By C.

April 29. Berkhampstead. To the arrayers of men at arms and others in co. Rutland. Order not to compel Benedict de Fulsham to find any men to set out against the king's enemies outside the island of Shephey, in the hundred of Midelton, which belongs to Queen Philippa, while he is staying in the island with the men of his power, for its safe custody, as he has the custody of that hundred by the queen's grant and the arrayers distrain him by reason of his lands in co. Rutland. By C.

May 7. Berkhampstead. To the sheriff of Wilts. Order to compel all the men of that bailiwick who ought to pay wages to the men at arms and archers staying at Porchester for the safe custody of the maritime land there, to pay such wages so that the men may not withdraw as the king has learned from the men that their wages are in arrear for a great time and that those who ought to pay them refuse to do so, wherefore it will behove them to depart from that place unless their wages are quickly paid.

April 28. Berkhampstead. To the keepers of the maritime land and arrayers of men in co. Sussex. Order not to compel John, bishop of Exeter, to find men for that custody by reason of his lands in the county, while he is attendant upon the arraying of men at arms and others in co. Devon with Hugh de Courteneye, earl of Devon. By C.

April 7. Berkhampstead. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Whereas the late king on 10 April in the 19th year of his reign, granted to John de Pulteneye, citizen of London, that he should be quit for life of all tallages, aids and other contributions, the king orders them to discharge him of the sums exacted of him by reason of such grants since the said 10th day, which sums are exacted of him by reason of an ordinance made on 12 July last to revoke such grants and quittances, and to charge John with such contributions from the said 12 July. May 7. Berkhampstead. To the justices of the Bench. Whereas John, son of Lambert, de Algerkyrk impleads Walter de Byrmyngham and Elizabeth his wife before them that they shall permit him to present a fit parson to the church of Algerkyrk, and the king bore another writ returnable before the justices on the octaves of Trinity next, against Walter and Elizabeth, that they should permit the king to present a fit and proper person to that church, and the king has learned that John, Walter and Elizabeth on the morrow of the Ascension, are pleading in that affair by common consent, sue that the affair may be finally discussed on the said day, and judgment rendered thereon, so that they may defraud the king of his right in this respect, or cunningly prorogue the suit of the king's right to his prejudice; the king therefore orders the justices to take such mature and diligent deliberation upon the process of the affair between John and Walter and Elizabeth and so to act that no harm shall be done to the king by such cunning suits, nor the prosecution of his rights deferred. By C.

May 3. Berkhampstead. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to supersede the demand made on Alan la Zousche son and heir of William la Zousche of Mortimer and Eleanor his wife, for 5,000*l.* in the lands of the inheritance of William which are not of the lands of Eleanor by reason of a recognisance; as William and Eleanor, on 19 January in the 4th year of the reign, acknowledged that they owed to the king 10,000*l.* to be paid at will, for the land of Glamorgan and Morgannou in Wales, the manor of Hanle co. Worcester and the manor of Teukesbury co. Gloucester, which they lately rendered to the king by a fine levied in his court before the justices of the Bench; and because the land and manors were of Eleanor's inheritance, the king granted that the execution of the recognisance should be made in this wise, to wit: that during the life and wedlock of William and Eleanor the execution should be made of all their lands, goods and chattels and if Eleanor should die first or a divorce take place the execution should be made of Eleanor's lands, goods and chattels only, and that William and his heirs should be discharged of the 10,000*l.*; and if William should die and Eleanor survive, the execution should be made of her lands, goods and chattels, and that William's heirs should be discharged as aforesaid; and afterwards on 22 January following the king pardoned William and Eleanor 5,000*l.* of the said 10,000*l.* at the request of the parliament assembled at Westminster on Monday after St. Katherine in the 4th year of the reign, and that the remaining 5,000*l.* should be paid to the king, as appears by inspection of the rolls of chancery.

May 8. Berkhampstead. To John Bardolf and his fellows, keepers of the maritime land in co. Norfolk. Order to supersede the distraint made on John Strech for finding two men at arms for that custody by reason of his lands in the county, while he is staying with the men at arms and others of his power with the king in parts beyond the sea, as he was staying there when the king arrived, at great expense, and he lately came to parts of the realm to seek victuals and other necessaries for the maintenance of his said men, and is now about to return to the king. By C.

May 12. Berkhampstead. To the arrayers of men at arms in co. Somerset. Dorset, by reason of the lands of the prior of that

Hospital in that county, from which the sisters are maintained, while the prior finds thirty men at arms for the custody of Southampton, as the sisters are found by alms and the distribution of the prior and brethren of the Hospital and have nothing wherewith to live except by the ministration of the prior and brethren. By C.

May 14. Berkhampstead. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer, Dublin. Order to cause Henry de Ferar[iis], who is staying with the king in parts beyond the sea, to have respite until Michaelmas next for all the debts which he owes at the exchequer, his own, those of his wife, one of the daughters and heirs of Theobald de Verdon, and those of their ancestors. By C.

May 29. Berkhampstead. William de Mundene, clerk, acknowledges that he owes to Henry Wymond and Alan de Chikewell, executors of the will of John de Abbodeston, 100*s.*; to be levied, in default of payment, of his lands and chattels in co. Hertford.

MEMBRANE 1d.

May 20. Berkhampstead. To the sheriff of Somerset. Order to supersede the execution of a writ directing him to take John Randulf of Colleshull, as lately at the request of R. bishop of Bath and Wells showing that John, his parishioner, was excommunicated for contempt of the bishop's authority and would not be judged by ecclesiastical censure, the king ordered the sheriff to judge John according to the custom of England, until he should satisfy holy church for his contempt; and because John appealed to the Roman court from the sentence passed upon him by the bishop and for the protection of the court of Canterbury, and pursues his appeals with effect, as will fully appear by the public instruments made thereupon and the process held in the court of Canterbury, shown to the king in chancery under the seal of the official of that court, the king not wishing to prevent John from pursuing his appeal ordered the sheriff to direct the bishop to be in chancery on the morrow of St. Thomas last, to show cause why the taking of John should not be superseded pending the appeal, and the sheriff returned that he made the return of the writ to John atte Pulle, bailiff of the bishop's liberty, who made no answer thereto, wherefore the king ordered the sheriff not to omit to enter that liberty, and to direct the bishop to be in chancery on the morrow of the Ascension last, in the form aforesaid; and the bishop having appeared in chancery on the morrow of the Ascension by Walter Power and Henry de Ingelby, clerks, his attorneys, has said nothing why the taking of John should not be superseded.

The like of the sheriff of Gloucester.

May 20. Berkhampstead. To Richard de Wylughby and his fellows, justices appointed to hold pleas before the king. Whereas John Payn impleads John Alwy and others contained in the original writ, before the king, of a trespass committed on him by John and the others in reaping and carrying away his corn at Haveryng atte Boure, and although John Payn alleged that the land where the corn was growing was parcel of the manor of Haveryng atte Boure which is of the ancient demesne of the crown of England, and which Queen Philippa holds for life by the king's grant, and all the tenants of the manor who wish to demise their lands, ought by the custom of the manor to come to the queen's court there and render those lands by a rod into the queen's hands, and if any tenant demised his land there by enfeoffment or otherwise, the queen and her bailiffs should enter the land, retain it and dispose thereof at will; and that John de Chiltebourn held the land where the corn was sowed, and alienated it without any surrender in the queen's court, so that the queen caused it to be seized by Robert de Hogham, her steward there, who delivered it in the queen's court by a rod to John Alwy, to hold at will, rendering 4*s.* yearly; and John sowed the land and reaped the corn as his own, yet the justices proceeded in the plea and intend to take an inquisition thereon; the king therefore orders them to view the record and process held upon the premises, considering the prejudice that would be done to the king and queen if John Payn recovered against John Alwy, and not to attempt anything which would prejudice the king, without consulting him. By C.

May 24. Berkhampstead. To the taxers and collectors in co. Sussex of the triennial tenth and fifteenth granted by the laity. The men and tenants of R. bishop of Chichester of the hundred of Buxle near Hastyng have shown the king that whereas they were assessed, with the men of the Cinque Ports, who have lands, goods and chattels in that hundred at 112*s.* 1½*d.* for the second year of payment, and although the portion of the men of the Cinque Ports amounts to 42*s.* 3*d.* of that sum, and the other men of that hundred are prepared to pay the remaining 69*s.* 9½*d.* yet the collectors intend to levy the 112*s.* 1½*d.* of them entire, omitting the men of the Cinque Ports, because they pretend that they ought to be quit of such taxation by charters of the king's progenitors, wherefore the bishop's men have besought the king to provide a remedy; the king therefore orders the collectors to receive the 69*s.* 9½*d.* from the said men and to discharge them of the remaining 42*s.* 3*d.* provided that this sum be levied of the men of the Cinque Ports, unless they can show by charters that they ought to be quit thereof.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to discharge the bishop's men and the taxers and collectors of the said 42*s.* 3*d.* if they find that the premises are correct, provided that the men and collectors answer for the remaining 69*s.* 9½*d.*

Witnesses: Sir Thomas Ussecarle, William Jurdan, Henry Pyntkenay, John atte Bere, Thomas de Tocchewyk. [Dated as above.]

Order to allow to Simon de Brunsford 6*l.* 16*s.* in the custom and subsidy on his tin and other merchandise sent from that port to parts beyond the sea, as on 20 June in the 12th year of the reign, the king received from him on loan 13*l.* 12*s.* of 13 'miliare' 600 pounds of tin, to be taken in three ships to parts beyond, to wit, in the ship of Henry But 4 'miliare,' in that of Henry Claysson 4 'miliare' and in that of Nicholas Johanesson 5 'miliare' 600 pounds, for which loan the king promised to satisfy Simon at Easter last, as is contained in the letters patent under the 'coket' seal.

May 8. Berkhampstead. Adam Toter, imprisoned at Nottingham for trespass of vert and venison in Shirwode forest, has a writ to Ralph de Nevill, keeper of the Forest beyond Trent, or to him who supplies his place in Shirwod forest, to bail him.

May 10. Berkhampstead. To William Trussel, escheater this side Trent. Order to cause Queen Isabella to have seisin of a toft and a virgate of land in Geytyngton, which Richard Bule held, who was hanged for felony, as the king learned by inquisition taken by the sheriff of Northampton that the premises were in the king's hands for a year and a day and that Richard held them of the queen, and they are in the escheator's hands as a custody, and Gilbert de Ledred, late escheator in co. Northampton had the year day and waste thereof, and ought to answer for them to the king, and the king ordered the sheriff to cause the queen to have seisin or show cause why he should not, and the sheriff has shown that the premises are in the custody of the escheator, wherefore he could not deliver seisin to the queen.

May 12. Berkhampstead. To Thomas de Castro Goderici, chamberlain of South Wales. Order to pay to Rhys (Reso) ap Griffith ap Howel the arrears of his wages and fees as keeper of the castle of Droslan and the forest of Glyncothi and the steward of Cantref Maure in South Wales, from the time of the chamberlain's appointment, and to pay such wages henceforth so long as he is chamberlain and as Rhys has the custody and stewardship, which the king lately committed to him to hold at will, and the king has granted that he shall hold them for life, receiving the accustomed wages and fees, by reason of his good service to the king and his father.

May 6. Berkhampstead. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Whereas the king lately ordered Robert de Tughale and Thomas de Frisco Marisco, then collectors of customs in the port of Newcastle upon Tyne, to pay to Roger Mauduyt, whom the king was sending to Scotland, for the lands which the king holds there by the grant of Edward de Balliolo, king of Scotland, 20 marks upon his expenses, and now Roger Mauduyt, Roger's son and heir, has besought the king, that as the 20 marks are exacted of him, the king will cause account to be made with him therefor and wages allowed for his father's estate, the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to cause such account and allowance to be made, and if any sum is found to be due to the king, to cause answer to be made for it, and if anything is found to be owing to Roger beyond the 20 marks, to cause it to be paid to Roger the son, or allowance therefor to be made to him in the debts in which the father is bound to the king.

May 10. Berkhampstead. To the same. Order to allow 20 marks to Henry de Stratford, the king's clerk in his ferm of 10*l.* yearly for the custody of all the lands of the abbot of Beaubec (de Bello Becco) an alien, in co. Gloucester, in accordance with the king's grant to him of such allowance by reason of his services in accelerating the sending of the king's wool collected in divers counties, to the places where it was to be carried, and in divers other affairs. By the keeper and C.

May 18. Berkhampstead. To Henry de Elmham and Nicholas Bonde, keepers of the lands pertaining to the priory of Eye, in the king's hands, in co. Suffolk. Order to deliver to William de Lound, parson of the church of Stoke near Eye, all tenths, both greater and lesser, for the past year, of the said lands in that parish, provided that answer is made for them after the lapse of the year, as he has besought the king to order those tenths to be paid to him, as certain of those lands are within the bounds of his parish, whereof he ought to have the tenths, and he received those tenths in the 18th year of the late king's reign, and his predecessors had received them every time the said lands were taken into the king's hands with the other possessions of aliens in the realm, by reason of war with the king of France; and the king has granted the supplication because William has found security before him in chancery by Elias de Grymesby, parson of Bradenham church, and John de Sutton of co. Nottingham, to answer to the king at will for the price of the tenths for the present year if they ought to pertain to the king. By C.

May 10. Berkhampstead. To Thomas de Castro Goderici, chamberlain of South Wales. Order to pay to William ap Lethyn the arrears of 60*s.* yearly, from the time of the chamberlain's appointment, and to pay the 60*s.* henceforth so long as he is chamberlain, as the late king granted William 60*s.* yearly for his maintenance at the exchequer of Kaernarvan by the hands of the chamberlain there, of the issues of the bailiwick of Penthyn Ismelogh, for life, because he was maimed in the king's service.

May 10. Berkhampstead. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to allow to Ralph de Middelneye, to whom on 1 October in the 7th year of the reign, the king committed the office of the escheatry in cos. Cornwall, Devon, Somerset and Dorset, to hold during good behaviour, receiving 10*l.* yearly in that office, 10*l.* yearly from the said 1 October, in his account, if he has not hitherto had allowance therefor.

May 12. Berkhampstead. To Thomas de Metham, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with a parcel of meadow and pasture in Syglynghale, containing 10 acres, as the king lately sent a writ of certiorari upon the taking of 12 acres of meadow there, to John Moryn, then escheator beyond Trent, who returned that he had not taken them but that William de Clapham, sometime escheator in cos. York, Northumberland, Cumberland and Westmorland, at the time of John's substitution in the office, delivered to him by indenture a parcel of meadow and pasture in the said town, containing 10 acres, which the Templars held for a term not then past, asserting that the parcel was in the king's hands as the goods and chattels of the Templars; and afterwards at the suit of Henry le Vavasour, showing that the Templars had no other estate therein except for a term of years, by the demise of William de Ros of Ingmanthorp, who held them by knight's service of William le Vavasour, Henry's father, whose heir he is, and that the custody thereof ought to pertain to him until the heir of Peter de Middelton should come of age, to whom the premises descended by hereditary right after the death of Adam de Middelton, to whom William de Ros granted them after the lapse of the term aforesaid, and beseeching the king to order his hand to be amoved therefrom so that Henry should enter them to hold them as a custody, the king ordered John to take an inquisition upon the matter, by which it is found that William de Ros demised the said parcel to the master and brethren of the Temple in England, to hold from Whitsuntide 1305 for fourteen years, and neither William nor any other made any release of their right in the premises to the master and brethren, and William held them of William le Vavasour, and Peter held them of Henry by the service of rendering 1*d.* at Martinmas and that the premises are in the king's hands as the goods and chattels of the Templars, and Thomas de Middleton, Peter's son and heir, as is said, has besought the king to cause his hand to be amoved therefrom.

MEMBRANE 44.

May 2. Berkhampstead.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause 20*l.* 14*s.* 4*d.* to be allowed to Richard de Denton, sometime sheriff of Cumberland, in his account, if they find that he satisfied the men from whom he bought 214 quarters of oats at that price, and that he delivered the oats to John de Glanton, keeper of the king's victuals at Carlisle, in accordance with the king's order, by writ of the exchequer, directing him to buy 1,000 quarters of oats and cause them to be taken to Carlisle and delivered to John.

To the same. Order to cause 20*l.* to be allowed to the sheriff of Cumberland on his account if he shall be found to have expended that sum in repairing the houses in Carlisle castle, by the view and testimony of the prior of St. Mary's, Carlisle, in accordance with the king's order.

To the same. Like order for allowance of 20 marks to the sheriff for repairing the house, wall, turrets and other buildings in Carlisle castle, by the view and testimony of the same prior.

To the same. Order to allow to Anthony de Lucy, constable of Carlisle castle and sheriff of Cumberland, such wages and fees for the office of constable from the time of his appointment as have been allowed to other constables there.

To the same. Order to allow 71*l.* 19*d.* to the sheriff of Cumberland in his account if they shall find him to have spent that sum in buying canvas for packing the king's wool, in paying men to pack the wool, and for the expenses of the carriage of the wool to the port where the king ordered it to be taken, in accordance with the king's order.

To the same. Order to allow 30*s.* to the sheriff of Cumberland if they shall find that he spent that sum in purveying tuns and in the carriage of fat in the forests of the king and of Queen Isabella to the town of Kyngeston-upon-Hull, by the advice of Ralph de Nevill, justice of the Forest beyond Trent, whom Edward, duke of cornwall and earl of Chester, the king's son, lately appointed with the assent of the council to take such fat, in accordance with the duke's order to the sheriff.

To the same. Order to allow to Roland de Vaux, sometime sheriff of Cumberland, 30*s.* 6*d.* in his account, if they find that he spent that sum on the carriage of certain wool and the packing thereof, in accordance with the king's order, as the king lately appointed Peter Tyliol and William de Dunolm to take the moiety of wool in co. Cornwall granted in the parliament held at Westminster on the morrow of the Purification in the 11th year of the reign, and to carry it to Newcastle upon Tyne, to be there on or before Easter then following, to be placed in ships there and taken to parts as the king should ordain, and to do certain other things contained in the king's letters patent, and the king ordered Roland to deliver the costs of carrying the wool to the said port and canvas for sacking it, to Peter and William, and Roland expended 30*s.* 6*d.* thereupon, as he says.

To the same. Order to cause allowance to be made to the same Roland for what they shall find him to have expended on the custody of 38 tuns of the king's wine, in accordance with the king's order, as the king ordered Richard de la Pole, sometime his butler, to buy 100 tuns of wine and cause them to be taken with all speed to Carlisle, to be delivered to John de Glanton, the keeper of his victuals there, and learning afterwards that although Richard had caused the greater part of the wine to be placed in Carlisle castle, yet John's executors did not take heed to receive the wine from him, John being dead before the arrival of the wine, the king ordered Roland, then sheriff of Cumberland, to receive the wine by indenture, and he received 38 tuns and expended certain moneys for its good keeping, as he says.

To the same. Order to allow 20 marks to Anthony de Lucy, constable of Carlisle castle, if they find that he paid that sum, for Michaelmas term last, to Robert Parvyng, the king's serjeant, in accordance with the king's order to the sheriff and grant to Robert on 25th February, in the 12th year of the reign, of 40 marks yearly of the ferm of the king's demesne lands of Carlisle castle, to be received during pleasure by the hands of the constable, by reason of his good service and the damage suffered by him by the frequent inroads of the Scots into the parts of Carlisle.

To the same. Order to discharge John de Stonore, of 40*l.* from 10 October, in the 5th year of the reign, as on 24 February in that year the king committed to him the custody of the manor of Watlyngton, co. Oxford, to hold for ten years, rendering 40*l.* yearly at the exchequer, and on 10 October following the king granted the manor among others to John de Eltham, earl of Cornwall, and ordered John to deliver it to the earl, as appears by inspection of the chancery rolls.

To John de Denton. Whereas the king ordered the sheriff of Cumberland and other receivers of the wool of that county to cause all his wool collected there to be taken to the port of Newcastle-upon-Tyne and delivered to the collectors of customs there, to be taken to the king to parts beyond the sea; and now the king has learned that although the receivers caused 4 sacks 22 stones of that wool to be taken to the said town and wished to deliver them to the collectors, yet John took possession thereof and detains them at that town; the king therefore orders John to cause that wool to be restored to the receivers without delay, or to be delivered to the collectors in the presence of the receivers or their attorneys, in discharge of the receivers, to be taken thence to the king, as aforesaid, knowing that unless he causes the wool to be restored to the receivers or collectors the king will cause a like quantity of his wool to be taken or the price thereof to be levied of his goods and chattels, and the king will punish him so severely that others shall be fearful of doing the like. April 28. Berkhampstead. To Thomas de Metham, escheator beyond Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with a messuage and 9 acres of land of William de Melton, archbishop of York, in Austwode, near Wystowe, restoring the issues thereof, as the escheator returned that he had not taken into the king's hands any of the archbishop's lands in Austwode, but that John Moryn, late escheator beyond Trent, at the time of Thomas's substitution in the office, delivered to him by indenture the said messuage and land, asserting that they were in his hands by reason of the trespass of Thomas de Corbrig, sometime archbishop of York, who held them of Edward I, in chief, in alienating them in fee to Richard de Wystowe without licence, which said messuage and land Thomas, Richard's son, held; and afterwards the present archbishop informed the king that Thomas his predecessor granted the premises to Richard, his bondman, to hold at will and not in fee, and Thomas, Richard's son, held them at will by the archbishop's demise, wherefore the archbishop besought the king to order his hand to be amoved, and the king ordered the escheator to take an inquisition upon the matter, by which it is found that Thomas de Corbrig granted the premises to Richard, his bondman, in the time of Edward I, to hold at will, and Thomas, Richard's son, has no estate in the premises except at the will of William de Melton, archbishop of York, of whom Thomas is bondman, and the premises are held in chief as parcel of the archbishop's barony of Shirburn, and are worth 5*s*. yearly.

Whereas the king ordered Thomas de Foxle, constable of Wyndesore castle, to place ten men at arms and twenty archers in the castle for its safe custody, and ordered the treasurer and chamberlains to pay reasonable wages to the men for the time they should remain there, and now the king has learned from Thomas that although the men have remained in the castle from 18 August last, yet no payment or satisfaction has been made to them hitherto, wherefore the men intend to depart from the castle, the king orders the treasurer and barons to view the said orders, and after taking information upon the stay of the men in the castle and accounting with Thomas for the wages of these men, to cause allowance to be made to Thomas in the debts which he owes at the exchequer, for what they shall find to be in arrear to the said men for their wages.

Southampton, and by the inquisition taken by Edmund and Robert it is found that on Monday after Michaelmas last Michael had 194 tuns of red wine at that town, purveyed for the king's use by Peter Pageham, supplying his place, whereof 152 tuns were loaded in a ship called 'la Nicholas' of Great Yarmouth, to be taken to the king, and that 42 tuns were in divers houses of the town and that the said wine was plundered by the king's enemies who invaded the town on that day and burned it on the following Tuesday, except two tuns of the wine, which remained in the town after their departure and came into the hands of Robert Rypon, Peter's serjeant; and now Michael has besought the king to order the lost tuns to be allowed to him. June 14. Berkhampstead. To the taxers and collectors in co. Northumberland of the triennial tenth and fifteenth granted by the community of the realm. William archbishop of York has shown the king that whereas he holds the liberty of Hextildesham and has royal rights therein as his predecessors have from time out of mind, without the king or his predecessors or their ministers intermeddling therein, except in default of the archbishop, and although the archbishops were wont to assess tenths and fifteenths and other quotas on the men of the liberty by their own bailiffs and ministers, and deliver the money when levied to the collectors appointed to levy the same in co. Northumberland, so that taxers and collectors never entered the liberty, yet these taxers and collectors intend to do so, to assess the men there afresh, wherefore the archbishop has besought the king to provide a remedy; the king therefore orders the collectors to permit the archbishop to assess and collect the tenth and fifteenth by his own ministers, and to receive the money when collected from the archbishop or his bailiffs.

Order to supersede the exaction made upon John de Sapy, the king's yeoman, to account for the issues of the manor of Caldecote, co. Hereford, from 21 March in the 4th year of the late king's reign, permitting him to hold the manor in accordance with the late king's grants, as on the said 21 March the late king granted to John that manor, which belonged to John son of Reginald, tenant in chief, and came into his hands at his death, to hold for life, and afterwards he granted that John should hold the manor for himself and his heirs, with the dowers when they should fall in, which grant the present king confirmed on 11 February in the 12th year of the reign, and subsequently the treasurer and barons returned to the king's writ of certiorari that it was found in the account of Roger de Wellesworth, escheator in the 5th year of the late king's reign, that he did not answer for the issues of the manor from 11 October in that year, on which day the escheator resumed the manor into the king's hands from the hands of John de Sapy until 15 November following, before the manor was delivered to Thomas le Blount, to whom the late king committed the custody thereof to hold during pleasure because there were no issues for that time; and it was also found in a process against Thomas to render account for the issues, that he asserted that he never had the custody, whereupon he placed himself in an inquisition by which it was found that he never had the custody nor received the issues, but that John held the manor from the said 15 November; and although John has always

To the sheriff of Norfolk. Whereas the king caused certain ships of ports in that bailiwick and other places to be prepared for war for the defence of the realm, and provided with victuals, at the cost of the towns and ports whence they came, to be sent to a certain place, to set out in the company of Robert de Morle, admiral of the fleet from the mouth of the Thames towards the North, and because the setting out of the ships might be retarded by the provision of victuals if aid were not otherwise given to the men of the said towns, the king ordered the sheriff to cause victuals to be purveyed by the advice of the admiral or of those deputed by him, by indenture made with those from whom the victuals were taken, paying the men for the victuals with the first issues of his bailiwick, if the sheriff had no money ready, and to deliver the victuals to the admiral or his deputy, to be distributed among the men of the ships in aid of their maintenance; and the admiral took a ship of war with forty mariners and victuals for three months of John Irpe of Ipswich, beyond the ships ordained to set out with the fleet, as may appear by the admiral's letters patent in John's possession, he says, wherefore John has besought the king to satisfy him for the victuals; the king therefore orders the sheriff to pay John the price of those victuals, having made an indenture with John thereupon, after viewing the admiral's letter. To Henry de Elmham and Nicholas Bond. Order to pay to Richard le Coillour of Hexum chaplain, Denis le Eyr of Eye and Roger le Breuster of Eye chaplain, their corrody and maintenance, or the reasonable value thereof, from the Annunciation henceforth, so long as the custody of the priory of Eye is in the hands of Henry and Nicholas, as the king lately committed that custody to the prior, and because the prior surrendered the priory and its possessions to the king, before the council, the king committed the custody thereof to Henry and Nicholas, to hold during pleasure, answering to the king for the issues thereof, saving to the prior and monks their wages; and afterwards at the suit of Richard, Denis and Roger showing that the prior and convent had granted them certain corrodies for life, before the priory was taken into the king's hands and beseeching the king to order the corrodies to be delivered to them, the king appointed Hugh de Saxham, Walter Faucoun and Robert de Brundissh to take an inquisition upon the matter by men of co. Suffolk, by which it is found that the prior and convent granted to Richard a chamber in the priory befitting his estate within the cloister of the priory, and that he should sit at the prior's table, unless he wished to retire on account of reverence for magnates, and that he should receive in meat and drink at two repasts daily as much as a monk receives at the prior's table, and if he should dine in his chamber, he should receive every day from the cellarer, two white loaves, one of the prior's hall and one called 'coket,' and 1½ gallons of conventual ale, and of the cooking of the serjeants in flesh and fish according to the exigences of the day, as one monk at the prior's table received them, at two repasts, and should receive from All Saints until the Purification, yearly for life, 2 candles a month for the night for his chamber for which twenty should make a pound, and fuel for burning in his chamber, according to the exigence of the time, for life, and if he did not stay in the priory, he should receive daily for life from the cellarer, two white conventual loaves of greater weight and two gallons of conventual ale, wherever he should be; and that Robert was seised of this corrody from Friday before the Conversion of St. Paul in the 6th year of the reign, until the Annunciation last; and that the prior and convent granted that Denis should receive two conventual loaves of greater weight and two gallons of conventual ale a day without the priory, and a robe with fur of the suit and colour of the robes of the prior's esquires, yearly at Christmas, for life, and that he was seised of this corrody from Monday the feast of St. Margaret in the 6th year of the reign until the Annunciation last; and that brother Durand, a former prior and the convent granted that Roger should receive for life in the priory from the cellarer daily, a monk's loaf, of greater weight, another loaf of lesser weight and 1½ gallons of the better ale of the convent, and on Sunday, Tuesday and Thursday, every week, an entire mess of raw meat, and on the other days a mess of fish or ½*d.* in lieu thereof, as he or his attorney shall choose, and a clerk's robe yearly, of the price of 1 mark or a mark at Christmas, and he was seised of that corrody from 6 Ides October, in the 7th year of the late king's reign, until the Annunciation last, and that Henry and Nicholas withdrew those corrodies from the said feast until now. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Whereas the king appointed lieges in divers counties of the realm to collect what was wanting of the 20,000 sacks of wool granted in the parliament at Westminster of the moiety of wool, both old and new, to be collected according to the ordinance made in the great council at Northampton, so that the wool of the moiety taken from certain persons should be allowed to them in the taking of wool according to the rate of the fifteenth, or that restitution of the surplus should be made to them after the whole sum had been collected, and by the certificate of the treasurer and barons it is found that William But, Thomas de Melcheburn and Thomas Rokele, takers of the moiety in co. Norfolk, took of John Burghard of Lenn, 10 sacks of wool, of Ralph Wake of Lenn, 3 sacks; of John Elys of Great Yarmouth, 2 sacks; of Edmund Cosyn of Norwich, 7 sacks, 22 stones; of John de Olveston of Norwich 1 sack 1 stone; of William Berte of Norwich, 2 sacks 7 stones; of Richard de Beteryng of Norwich, 1 sack 6 stones; of John But of Norwich, 1 sack 1 stone; of William Stormere of Norwich, 1 sack; of Robert de Bumstede of Norwich, 1 sack; of William But and Thomas Rokele, 4 sacks 2 stones; of Adam de Walsokene 5 sacks; of Alice de Doune, 9 sacks; of William Gocelyn, 3 sacks; of Bricius de Marham, 1 sack 7 stones, and of William de Esthalle 1 sack, of the moiety; and now John Burghard and the others have besought the king to cause the wool assessed upon them according to the rate of the fifteenth to be allowed to them in the aforesaid wool and to order letters obligatory to be made to them for the residue of that wool, as they are assessed at a certain sum of wool according to the rate of the fifteenth and the said ordinance at Northampton, which wool hitherto remains to be levied; and because the king has learned by certificate of John de Holveston and Robert Curzon, appointed to supervise the assessment of wool in that county according to the rate of the fifteenth, that John Burghard is assessed at 20 stones of wool in Lynn, at 5 stones in Geyton at 4½ stones in Bukton, at 2 stones in North Rungeton, at 3½ stones in Wirmegeye and at 3 stones in Tyryngton; Ralph Wake at 12 stones in Lynn; John Elys at 4 stones in Norwich and Halveryate; Edmund Cosyn at 3 stones 3 quarters 2 pounds in Norwich, and 4 stones in Heynford; John de Holveston at 11½ stones 4½ pounds in Norwich and at 3½ stones 5½ pounds in Heverynglond, and at 10 stones in Hardyngham and at 1½ stones 6 pounds in Whytelyngham, and a moiety of a stone in Surlyngham; William Berte at 6½ stones 1 pound in Norwich, and 1 stone in Cryngilford; Richard Byteryng at 11½ stones 4½ pounds in Norwich, 9 stones in Byteryng, 4½ stones in Griston, 4¼ stones in North Tudenham, and 2 stones in Braknedele; John But at 8 stones 1 pound in Norwich and 5 stones in Habeton; William Sturmer at 7½ stones 4 pounds in Norwich, and 3½ stones in Shymplyng; Robert de Bumstede at 3 stones 3 quarters 2 pounds in Norwich; William But at 3 stones 1 quarter in Norwich and 2 stones in Calton; Thomas Rokele at 3 stones in Norwich, 8 stones in Watton, 5 stones in Apeton and 3½ stones 1 pound in Rokelond; Adam de Walsokne at 20 stones in Lynn; Alice de Doune at 4 stones in Norwich, 16½ stones 2 pounds in Snetesham, 8 stones in Grymeston, 4½ stones in Congham, 2½ stones in Rugham, 10 stones in Suth Lenne, and 5 stones in Wygenhale; William Gacelyn at 3 stones in Norwich, 5 stones in Suth Lenne, 10 stones in Snetesham, 2½ stones in Sharnebourn, and 1½ stones in Ingaldesthorp; Bricius de Marham at 2 stones in Norwich, and 3 stones in Marham; and William de Esthalle at 2 stones in Norwich and 10 stones in Sporle and Palgrave; and that the wool is not yet levied of them, the king orders the treasurer and barons to cause the said sums assessed upon John and the others to be allowed to each of them in the wool taken from them, discharging them thereof as well as the takers of wool in that county. By C.

July 6. Berkhampstead. To the sheriff of Salop. Order to cause a verderer for the king's forest in that county to be elected in place of Ralph de Wylyleye, who is so weak and broken by age that he cannot travail to execute the duties of the office.

July 9. Berkhampstead. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order to deliver to Thomas son of Geoffrey de Besyles and Beatrice daughter of Percival Symeon the manor of Reccote, co. Oxford, together with the issues thereof, because the king has learned by inquisition taken by the escheator that Geoffrey at his death held no lands in his demesne as of fee, but that he held the said manor for life of the gift and enfeoffment of Robert Walle and John de Erlestok, by a fine levied in the late king's court, by his licence, with reversion to Thomas and Beatrice, and to the heirs of their bodies, and in default, to the right heirs of Geoffrey; and the manor is held in chief by the service of a fourth part of a knight's fee, and the king has taken Thomas's fealty for the same and given him respite for his homage until Michaelmas next.

July 26. Kennington. To the keeper of the Flete prison, or to him who supplies his place. Order to deliver the person of John Petit, sometime sheriff of Cornwall and the king's steward there, to Nicholas de la Beche, constable of the Tower of London, or to him who supplies his place, without delay, to be detained in the Tower until he has satisfied the king, as John was judged to the Flete prison because he was bound to the king in divers sums for the arrears of his account, and because he did not answer to the king for the wool collected by him in that county and for the money of the tenth and fifteenth received by him there; and the king has learned that John does not care to satisfy the king because he is not so strictly guarded in the prison as is fitting, and the king wishes him to be detained in stricter custody because he needs money speedily for his affairs in parts beyond the sea. The king has ordered the constable and him who supplies his place to receive John and keep him as aforesaid. By the keeper and C.

July 16. Kennington. To the treasurer and chamberlains of the exchequer, Dublin. he had not so taken it, but that Walter de Hungerford, sometime escheator in cos. July 11. Westminster. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to allow to the collectors of customs in the port of London 105 sacks 48 cloves of wool delivered by them to Anthony Bache, attorney of Nicholas Usus Maris, constable of Bordeaux, in accordance with the king's order [as at page 146 above].

July 10. Berkhampstead. To the same. Order to supersede the demand made on John de Blounvyll, sometime escheator in cos. Norfolk, Suffolk, Cambridge, Huntingdon, Essex and Hertford, to account for the issues of the manors of Great Waldyngfeld, co. Suffolk, Chilton in the same county and Neuton near Sudbery and certain lands called 'Grenecroft,' 'Poppesmede' and 'Goreslond' in the towns of Waldyngfeld and Aketon in that county, as the king ordered William Trussel, escheator this side Trent, not to intermeddle further with the said lands [as in this Calendar 10 Edward III, page 572].

July 11. Westminster. To the same. Order to cause Simon, bishop of Ely, to have allowance in his account of 51 sacks 7 stones 5 pounds of wool which he was bound to pay by reason of the grant made in the parliament at Westminster and the ordinance afterwards made at Northampton, if they find that he delivered that wool by indenture to the sheriff of Cambridge, in accordance with the king's order.

July 10. Kennington. To the keeper of the land of Ireland, the chancellor there and the treasurer, barons and chamberlains of the exchequer, Dublin. Order to permit Hugh de Audele, earl of Gloucester and Margaret his wife, Hugh le Despenser and Elizabeth de Burgo to hold the custody of the fees of the land of Lagen in Ireland which King John granted to William Mareschal, earl of Pembroke, ancestor of Margaret, Hugh le Despenser and Elizabeth, whose heirs they are, although the tenants of those fees held in chief of that king at another place, saving to the king the marriages of the heirs of the fees, as the keeper and others prevent the earl and others from holding the custody of such fees after the death of tenants who hold of the king at another place, whereupon they have besought the king to cause justice to be done to them.

July 22. Kennington. To the sheriff of Hereford. Order to deliver 1 sack 5 stones 9 pounds of the king's wool to the collectors of the custom of wool, hides and wool-fells in the port of London, by indenture, for the king's use, without delay.

By C.

July 10. Berkhampstead. To Richard de Aldeburgh and William Basset. Whereas the king ordered them to attempt nothing to his prejudice in the aforesaid matter, and being afterwards informed that they ordered inquisitions to be taken by writs of nisi prius, the king ordered them to cause such inquisitions to be taken before them in the Bench, and he has now learned that before the order was delivered writs of nisi prius for such inquisitions had been granted and sealed by them, by which they intend to take those inquisitions; the king therefore orders them to supersede taking such inquisitions and not to take them except before themselves and their fellows in the Bench, and not to attempt to do anything to the king's prejudice in the matter.

July 22. Kennington. To the treasurer and chamberlains. Order to pay to Robert de Denton 558*l.* 4*s.* 0½*d.* for wool bought of him by Henry de Tiddeswell for the king's use, and 1,000 marks lent by him to the king for his urgent affairs, or to give him an assignment upon the triennial tenth and fifteenth of the third year as he besought the king to cause such payment or assignment to be made to him, as the king was bound to Henry in 1,558*l.* 4*s.* 0½d. for his wool received in parts beyond the sea by Reginald de Conductu and John de la Pole; and Henry surrendered the king's letters to chancery to be cancelled, acknowledging that 558*l.* 4*s.* 0½*d.* of that sum were due to Robert, and the king promised to pay that sum to Robert at Michaelmas next. By the keeper and C.

July 15. Kennington. To the same. Order to supersede the distraint made on Thomas, bishop of Hereford, sometime chancellor of Ireland, for 1 sack, 3 stones, 5 pounds of his wool, and to discharge both him and the abbot of Cirencester, collector of wool in the diocese of Worcester, thereof, in accordance with the king's grant, as the king wishing to show favour to the bishop who was then about to set out to Ireland by the king's order to exercise the office of chancellor there granted that his wool wherever it might be, should not be taken upon any pretext whatsoever against the will of himself or his serjeants, but that he should do his pleasure therewith; and afterwards the king learned from the bishop that although he was not asked to be present at the last parliament at Westminster, because he was then in Ireland in the king's service, and was not present there in person or by his proctor, wherefore he could not then grant any wool to the king, yet the takers and purveyors of wool in co. Hereford caused him to be distrained to supply such wool, and the king wishing to do justice to the bishop ordered the said takers and purveyors to supersede taking the said wool, and although they did so, yet the treasurer and barons charged the abbot with 1 sack 3 stones 5 pounds of the bishop's wool, in his account, and required that the said wool should be levied of the bishop by the sheriff of Gloucester.

June 25. Berkhampstead. To Ralph de Middelnye, escheator in cos. Devon, Cornwall, Somerset, and Dorset. Order to do what pertains to his office, because the king is informed that Richard de Cogan has alienated the manor of Ufcolmp, which is held in chief, to William Cogan and William Bastyan, without licence, and the escheator has not yet taken it into the king's hand.

MEMBRANE 21.

July 15. Berkhampstead. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to supersede the exaction made upon the prior of Toftes for 40 marks for his apportum to the abbot of Préaux and the arrears thereof, during the custody of the priory, as the prior has informed the king that the treasurer and barons distrain him to render those 40 marks from the first year of the reign, thereby delaying the payment of the ferm which he owes for the custody of the priory. By C.

July 25. Berkhampstead. To the same. Order to cause allowance or other satisfaction to be made to Edmund de Duresme and his fellows, collectors of wool in co. July 26. Kennington. To Richard le Aldeburgh and William Basset. Whereas the king lately ordered Simon de Grymesby, then keeper of the manor of Brustwyk, by writ of privy seal, to cause the king's demesne lands and pastures there and those of the king's tenants in the manor which were inundated, to be drained, and to make a trench for the water to pass out and take its right course, as was wont to be done before these times, and Simon with the free tenants and bondsmen of the manor made a drain and trench way there in a place where it was wont to be; and now the king has learned that

Margery late the wife of Robert de Botheby of Rihull, scheming to cunningly amove the king from his right, has caused the trench to be blocked up and impleads the tenants of the manor who took part in the making thereof [as at page 171 above], wherefore the king orders Richard and William to supersede the taking of inquisitions on the matter before them by writs of nisi prius, and not to attempt to do anything in the matter until the king is fully informed and without his special order. By C.

July 22. Kennington. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to supersede the demand for 100*l.* made on the heirs of Henry de Leyburn, and on the tenants of the lands which belonged to him, in accordance with the late king's pardon to him of 100*l.* of the 200*l.* by which he made fine with Edward I for divers trespasses of which he was convicted before the justices of oyer and terminer of that king in divers counties of the realm, if they find on inspecting the rolls of the fines made before that king and such justices that Henry made the said fine for the aforesaid causes and no other, and provided that he answer for the remaining 100*l.* if he have not yet done so, as the king ordered the treasurer and barons to supersede the said demand, and they returned that they had not proceeded to the discharge because the 100*l.* are exacted by extract of the roll of fines made before Edward I in the 34th year of his reign and not before the justices of oyer and terminer.

July 26. Berkhampstead. To the sheriff of Salop. Order to cause a regardor for the forest of Wreken in that county to be elected in place of Richard Paternoster of Drayton, who has no lands in that county to qualify him.

By C.

Aug. 17. Windsor. To the collectors of customs in the port of London. Order to deliver the forfeited wool, etc. taken by Walter de Kent, John Pope the younger and John Gyne, lately appointed to take non-coketted wool laded in ships on either side of the Thames, taken in a ship of Nicholas de Burnham, the custom and subsidy thereon not having been paid, except 19 sarplars, 5 pockets, which certain ministers of John fitz Water laded in his name in that ship in the port of Ipswich, as is said, and which the king ordered to be delivered by the ministers by a certain mainprise, to Thomas de Baddeby, who is about to take certain of the king's wool to him to parts beyond the seas, to be taken to the said parts, as has been fully enjoined upon him.

Aug. 20. Windsor. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with two parts of the manor of Westthurrok and the advowson of the church there, restoring the issues thereof to William de Wauton, knight, son and heir of William de Wauton, the younger, as the king has learned by inquisition taken by the escheator, that the two parts and advowson are in the king's hands by reason of the minority of Joan, daughter and heir of John de Breaunzoun, tenant in chief, who died a minor, in the king's wardship, and that the manor and advowson ought to remain to William, by a fine levied in the late king's court between John de Breaunzoun and Elizabeth his wife, demandants and Nicholas Frimbaud, deforciant, for John and Elizabeth and the heirs of their bodies, with remainder in default, to William the younger, and there is no heir of their bodies, and the manor and advowson are not held of the king.

Norfolk, Suffolk, Essex, Hertford, Cambridge and Huntingdon, delivered it to him by indenture, asserting that it was in the king's hands by reason of the trespass of John and the others in acquiring it of John la Veyllie, who held it in chief, without licence; and afterwards at the suit of John Nebbyngg and the others showing that the land is not held of the king but of the prior of Bromholm by the service of 5*s.* 4½*d.* yearly, and beseeching the king to order his hand to be amoved therefrom, the king ordered the escheator to take an inquisition upon the matter, by which it is found that the land is held of the prior as parcel of the manor of Witton by the service of 5*s.* 4½*d.* yearly, and not of the king, and the manor is held of the prior by the service of paying 40*s.* yearly to him.

Aug. 5. Kennington. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to supersede the exaction of 20*s.* yearly from the citizens of London beyond 10*l.* yearly at which the town of Suthwerk was demised at ferm, receiving 10*l.* from them for every year from 6 March in the 1st year of the reign, as at the suit of the citizens by their petition before the king and his council in the parliament held at Westminster in the 1st year of the reign, showing that felons and other malefactors escaped secretly, after committing crimes, to the town of Suthwerk, where they could not be attached by the ministers of the city, and for lack of punishment they became more bold, and the citizens beseeching the king to grant the town to them for a yearly ferm, on the said 6 March the king granted the town to them, with the assent of parliament, for rendering the accustomed ferm; and afterwards the king learned from the citizens that although the town was demised at ferm for 10*l.* only before the said grant, and answer was wont to be made for that sum, except that John de Lincoln, citizen of London, to whom the late king was bound in a great sum of money, procured that the town should be committed to him for the value of 11*l.* yearly so that he might be more speedily satisfied, yet the treasurer and barons compel the citizens to render 11*l.* yearly; and the king ordered them to inspect the rolls of the exchequer, and view the accounts of the sheriff of Surrey before the said grant, and inform the king of what they should find; and they returned that it was found that the said bailiwick was of the body of co. Surrey and answer was made in the sum of the county with the other bailwicks and profits of the county until 7 Edward I when it was first separated from the body of the county and committed to Hugh de Jernemuth for rendering 10*l.* yearly to the king, and in the 1st year of Edward II the bailiwick was committed to Hugh, in the 3rd year to Adam le Chaundeler and afterwards to James de Putham and then to Nicholas de Tunstall, to hold at will for rendering 10*l.* yearly at the exchequer, and that the sheriff of Surrey had allowance from the said 7th year, of 10*l.* yearly; and that Nicholas held the bailiwick until 4 February in the 1st year of the king's reign, on which day the king committed it to John de Lincoln, citizen of London, to hold during pleasure, rendering 11*l.* yearly, no mention being made in the commission or elsewhere as to why it was committed to him for more than before. Sept. 6. Windsor. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order not to intermeddle further with the manors of Blatherwyk, co. Northampton, and Dillyngton, co. Northampton, together with the issues thereof, and not to intermeddle further with the manor of Grafham, co. Huntingdon, restoring the issues thereof, as the king has learned by inquisition taken by the escheator that Elena, late the wife of John Engayne, held at her death no lands in her demesne as of fee, but that she held the said manor and parts in dower, after John's death, and the manors of Geddyng, Laxton and Pyghtesle, are held in chief by the service of hunting the cat, wolf and badger in certain counties; and the manor of Grafham is held of the earl of Gloucester by knight's service, and that John son of Nicholas Engayne, kinsman of John, is his next heir and of full age; and by inspection of the late king's chancery rolls, it is found that that king took John's homage, who proved his age before Master John Walewayn, then escheator this side Trent, and rendered his uncle's lands to him.

Sept. 22. Windsor. To the same. Order not to intermeddle further with a third part of the manor of Runham, co. Whereas the king ordered them to cause all goods and merchandise of men of the towns of Hardenwyk, Swoll, Stavere, Campe, Lubike, Rostok and Strallesond, to be arrested to the sum of 300*l.* [as at page 42 above]; by reason of that order they arrested 30 tuns of oil at 10 marks the tun, whereof 10 belonged to John Rede of Lubike, 10 to Henry Swart of Rostok and 10 to Tidemannus de Bogh of Strallesond; and afterwards because John, Henry and Tidemannus asserted by their proctors and fellows before the council that they were merchants of the German Hanse, and they had a charter of the late king, confirmed by the king, that they should not be arrested or their goods for any debt for which they were not sureties or principal debtors or for any trespass committed by others; and that the towns of Lubik, Rostok and Strallesond are subject to the Roman empire and emperor, and they are not bound to obey the counts of Guelders and Hainault, the king gave to John de Nesbit, John Lambe and the said merchants, a day upon the premises until the quinzaine of Michaelmas next, so that justice might be done after the affair had been examined by the king and council, and the king ordered the bailiffs to dearrest the tuns and deliver them to the merchants if they should find security with which John and John should be satisfied, to have the tuns or the price thereof on the said day, unless they could show that they ought of right to be dearrested; and because the said towns are of the Roman Empire the king orders the bailiffs to cause the tuns to be dearrested and delivered to the merchants if they are of the said towns and not of Hardenwyk, Swoll, Stavere and Campe. By p.s. [12000.]

By C.

Sept. 25. Windsor. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. The prior and brethren of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem in England have besought the king to order them to be discharged of wool for certain of their churches, as they have churches which are not taxed by reason of their poverty, and others which do not exceed a taxation of 6 marks, and they have not been wont to pay any subsidies thereon, and the treasurer and barons exact wool from the prior and brethren for such churches, by reason of the grant made at Westminster according to the ordinance made at Northampton, the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to supersede the [exaction of] wool from such churches until the Purification, so that in the meantime the king may cause what is right to be done.

Order to cause the victuals which the king ordered to be purveyed in aid of the maintenance of the mariners and other men in ships and escomariis of that bailiwick, about to set out in the company of William Trussel, admiral of the fleet from the mouth of the Thames towards the west, to be purveyed with all speed and distributed among the said mariners and men by the advice of the admiral, in aid of their maintenance in the said service. By C.

The like to the sheriff of Surrey and Sussex.

Oct. 10. Windsor. To the taxers and collectors in co. Surrey of the triennial tenth and fifteenth granted by the laity. The men of Hertindonescombe have besought the king to have consideration for their estate, as the town was lately burned by certain malefactors and all the goods and chattels there were plundered and destroyed, and the inhabitants have for the most part withdrawn, so that the men do not suffice to pay so great a sum for their portion of the fifteenth as all the inhabitants were wont to pay before the burning; the king therefore orders the collectors to go to the town and to cause the men to be assessed for the fifteenth, considering both the king's advantage and the estate of the men, and to collect the fifteenth of them according to that assessment. By C.

Oct. 19. Kennington. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order to cause William son and heir of John de Northgrove, tenant in chief, to have seisin of all the lands of which his father, at his death, was seised in his demesne as of fee, as he has proved his age before the escheator and the king has taken his fealty for those lands and given him respite for his homage until the Purification next, unless he return from parts beyond the sea in the meantime.

Oct. 17. Kennington. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer and to the chamberlains. Order to account with William le Gyvour for the time when he was in the king's service at Southampton for making engines and springalds there for the defence of the town, by the king's order, and to pay him what they find to be due to him beyond the 40*s.* which the king lately ordered the treasurer and chamberlains to pay to him. By C.

Oct. 22. Kennington. To the same. Order to account with Robert de Morle, admiral of the fleet from the mouth of the Thames towards the north, for the time when he was in the king's service as admiral and to pay him what is due to him beyond the money received by him upon wages or his fee in that office. By C.

Oct. 24. Kennington. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order to supersede the order directing him to deliver to Laurence son and heir of John de Hastynges, tenant in chief, the manors and lands of his inheritance committed to A. bishop of Worcester on 22 April in the 5th year of the reign [see at page 66 above] and to cause those lands to be restored to the bishop, to hold until Laurence shall come of age; as the bishop has complained in the present parliament at Westminster that the escheator demanded those lands of him to be delivered to Laurence against the form of the said commission, and the matter being brought before the council in the said parliament, it seemed that the bishop ought not to be amoved from that custody against his will before Laurence is come of age.

By the keeper and C.

Oct. 25. Kennington. To the same. Order not to intermeddle further with the lands which Alice late the wife of John de Multon of Egremound, tenant in chief, held in dower of John's inheritance, restoring the issues thereof to Joan late the wife of Robert son of Walter eldest sister and heir of John, to Elizabeth second sister and heir and to Walter de Bermyngham her husband, and to Margaret, third sister and heir and to Thomas de Lucy her husband, as on 29 April in the 12th year of the reign the king took the homage of Joan, Walter and Thomas for the purparties of Joan, Elizabeth and Margaret, and ordered the purparties to be delivered to them, as appears by inspection of the chancery rolls.

The like order to Thomas de Metham, escheator beyond Trent.

Oct. 20. Kennington. To the sheriff of Gloucester. Order to pay to Hugh de Audeleye, earl of Gloucester, 10*l.* for Michaelmas term last, in accordance with the king's grant to him of 20*l.* yearly of the issues of that county.

MEMBRANE 6.

Oct. 6. Windsor. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to supersede the exaction made upon John de Ripariis of Lovershale for 12 marks, as he, Laurence de Coupemanthorp of co. York, and William de Hirthyngton of co. Cambridge, on 20 July in the 1st year of the reign, acknowledged in chancery that they owed 12 marks to the king, for the marriage of Elizabeth, Eleanor, Isabella and Alice, daughters and heirs of Robert de Welerynton, tenant in chief of the late king, and of Margery, Robert's wife, and although John, to whom the king committed the custody of two parts of Robert's manor of Eton, to hold until the heirs should come of age, with their marriage, paid the 12 marks to Henry Fauconberge, late sheriff of York, who answered therefor in his account, yet the treasurer and barons distrain John for 12 marks, because in the extracts of the chancery rolls of that year, the title upon the enrolment of the king's letters is 'per finem duodecim marcarum unde finem fecit in cancellaria,' although the 12 marks are the same as those by which the aforesaid recognisance was made. By C.

Oct. 13. Windsor. To the collectors of the new custom of 3*d.* in the pound in the port of London. Oct. 16. Kennington. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to allow the abbot and convent of St. Augustine's, Canterbury, 50 marks due by them to the king for Michaelmas term last in part payment of 600 marks in which they were bound to the king for the custody of the temporalities of the abbey during the last voidance, in recompence for 50 marks which the king received from them on loan by the hands of Robert de Wodehous, his clerk, and of his chamberlains for his passage to parts beyond the sea and which he promised to pay to them at All Saints last. By C.

Oct. 16. Kennington. To the treasurer and chamberlains. Order to pay to John, parson of Stybyngton church, 50*s*. which the king promised on 10 July last to pay to him at Michaelmas last, as John de Ravele and his fellows, lately appointed to collect the moiety of wool in co. Huntingdon, charged themselves with a moiety of a sack of wool of the price of 50*s*., taken from the parson, as is found by the certificate of the treasurer and barons of the exchequer.

Oct. 20. Kennington. To the sheriff of Essex. Order to cause a verderer for the forest of Blakholhey to be elected in place of Thomas de Helpiston, who is insufficiently qualified.

Order to deliver to Joan de Carrue, 6 tuns of wine of the right prise in that port, in accordance with the king's grant to her of 6 tuns yearly, to be received in that port by the hands of the butler, during pleasure. By letter of the keeper.

Oct. 23. Kennington. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order to cause the manor of Yerdele, co. Northampton, to be resumed into the king's hand and delivered to William de Herle, together with the rents and issues thereof, to hold until Laurence, son and heir of John de Hastyng, tenant in chief, shall come of age; as the king granted the custody of the manor to William, for his good service to the late king, to hold as aforesaid, without rendering anything therefor, and afterwards, because the escheator amoved William therefrom and delivered the manor to Laurence, in accordance with the king's order, at the suit of William showing that prejudice had been done to him thereby, the king ordered the escheator to retain the rents of the tenants of the manor for Michaelmas term last, and other issues, until it had been determined by the council whether they ought to pertain to William or to Laurence; and the king's letters and order being examined before the council in the present parliament, it seemed to the council that the king is bound to maintain the grant to William.

By the duke [of Cornwall] and the whole council in parliament.

Oct. 20. Kennington. To the same. Order not to intermeddle further with the manor of Leek, co. Stafford, restoring the isssues thereof to the abbot of Deulacres, as the escheator returned that he had taken the manor into the king's hands because he had found by inquisition of office that Richard, a former abbot acquired it of Ranulph, earl of Chester, after the publication of the statute of mortmain, without licence; and afterwards at the abbot's suit showing that Richard acquired the manor of the earl after the publication of the statute and beseeching the king to amove his hand therefrom, the king ordered the escheator to take an inquisition upon the matter, by which it is found that the earl founded the abbey 60 years before the statute and in his charter of foundation conferred the manor on the abbot and monks, to hold in frankalmoin, and Richard, who was the first abbot, and his successors were in peaceful seisin thereof, and that the earl held the manor of the king's progenitors as parcel of co. Chester; and Henry III and the late king confirmed the grant of the manor by letters which the present king has confirmed by his charter.

Oct. 28. Westminster. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to receive 299 indentures concerning the quantity of wool taken from divers merchants of the realm, made between the merchants and Reginald de Conductu and John de la Pole, supplying the place of William de la Pole, deputed to receive the wool in parts beyond the sea, which indentures the king is sending to them in a hanaper under the seal of R. bishop of London, the chancellor, and further to do what the affairs require, as the merchants are prosecuting certain affairs touching the taking of their wool and the accounts which they and others are about to render, and without view of the indentures these things cannot be duly done. By C.

Oct. 15. Kennington. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer and to the chamberlains. Order to supersede the demand made upon Stephen le Blound, the king's clerk, to pay 126*l.* 1 mark for the king's use, if they find that those sums were delivered to him and to Henry de Chesterton, clerk, and that they did not receive any such sum in the late king's wardrobe or exchequer, as Stephen has shown the king that whereas Ingelard de Warle, sometime keeper of the late king's wardrobe is charged in 8,665*l.* 15*s.* 11*d.* delivered to him by a writ of liberate containing 10,000*l.*, of 126*l.* 1 mark delivered to Stephen and Henry on the last day of October in the 6th year of that reign, to wit 60*l.* upon the expenses of the household in Wyndesore park and 100 marks upon the same in Wyndesore castle, and although Henry delivered that sum in the wardrobe on that day, as may appear by a book of Ingelard called the journal of the wardrobe for that year, which is in the exchequer, yet the treasurer and barons exact that money from Stephen because it is found before them that he and Henry received those sums as a prest of the wardrobe upon the late king's expenses in the said park and castle and because there was no mention in the prest that the money was delivered to them as aforesaid. Oct. 18. Westminster. To Richard de Wylughby and his fellows, justices appointed to hold pleas before the king. Whereas the king ordered them to proceed to the final discussion of a plea between the king and Griffin de Cauntyton, archdeacon of Kermerdyn, concerning 22 acres of land called 'Lercedekeneslond' in Kermerdyn [as at page 148 above], and although an inquisition thereupon was taken before Robert de Scardeburgh, one of the justices, and Griffin has several times requested them to proceed to the final discussion of the affair, and render judgment thereon, they have delayed to do so, wherefore the king orders them to view his order and the inquisition and the record and process held in that plea, and to proceed to render judgment without delay, notwithstanding that the land is in the king's hands and that the plea touches him. Oct. 22. Kennington. To William de Shareshull and his fellows, justices of assize in co. Salop. Whereas the king ordered them to continue all assizes of novel disseisin arramed against John son of John de Cherleton, on the king's service in parts beyond the sea in the same state in which they then were, while he was staying in the said parts [as in this Calendar, 12 Edward III, page 389], they delayed to take an assize of novel disseisin arramed against him and John de Cherleton and Hawisia his wife and others contained in the original writ concerning tenements in Great Meleneok, Thledroth, Kithleveno, Straderernoy, Thlanershemeris, Bodenwal, Thlannegheyn, Dolwaur, Codwynnayn, Roulas, Garthboulgh and Pennyrth, by Thomas Retheryk, knight, the king orders the justices to examine the record and process of the assize, and if they find that Hawisia placed herself therein as tenant of the manor of Dynas and that the assize against John son of John and the others was considered by their default, and if they find by the assize that John son of John had nothing in the manor on the day of the impetration of the assize, and that he set out to parts beyond the sea after the assize against him and the others was considered, then to proceed to take the assize with all speed, notwithstanding the previous order.

Oct. 18. Windsor. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order to supersede the distraint made upon John de Segrave of Folkestan and the taking into the king's hands of the manor of Lodenehalle, co. Norfolk, as John, acquired the manor of John de Segrave his father who acquired it in fee of Roger Bigod earl of Norfolk and marshal of England who held it in chief of Edward I, without the licence of the king his father or grandfather, and the king pardoned the said trespasses by a fine which John the son made with him, and granted that he should hold the manor without let or hindrance, and he has informed the king that the escheator distrains him for his homage and fealty and intends to take the manor into the king's hands, whereupon he has besought the king to provide a remedy, and the king has now taken John's fealty and has given him respite for his homage until the king's return to England. Whereas the king lately sent certain inquisitions taken at the suit of William Baldewyne and the prioress of Aumbresbury respectively, by the king's order, by which it appears that the lands contained therein, if of free tenure ought to be forfeit by the statute of mortmain, to Geoffrey le Scrop and his fellows, justices appointed to hold pleas before the king, under the half seal, ordering them to inspect them, calling before them the king's serjeants, William and the prioress, and to do what is right and customary therein; and the king learning afterwards that process had been so far taken that a certain inquisition upon articles touching the affair between him and the prioress remained to be taken, and wishing to hasten the affair, he ordered the justices to view the inquisition and the record and process held before them and if they found that the said inquisition was not of great examination, to take it before a justice and a knight or other, and if of great examination, before two justices in the country, according to the statute of York, notwithstanding that the affair touches the king; and the prioress has informed the king that, although the justices caused the inquisition to be taken, they have hitherto delayed to proceed to render judgment in the plea, whereupon she has besought the king to provide a remedy; the king therefore orders the justices to inspect the inquisitions sent to Geoffrey and his fellows and the inquisition taken by themselves, viewing the record and process held before them, and to proceed to render judgment in the suit with all lawful speed and do justice, notwithstanding that the affair touches the king and that the lands are in his hand. To Edmund de la Beche, keeper of the town of Southampton. Order to supersede the exaction made on the prior of Styveton to find a man at arms for the custody of that town by reason of his lands in the county, as the prior has shown that although the priory was taken into the king's hands as alien, and the custody thereof delivered to him for rendering a certain ferm yearly, yet the treasurer and barons distrain the prior to find a man at arms for that custody, by reason of his lands in the county, pretending that the priors of the place and other alien men of religion underwent such charges in time of war, wherefore the prior has asserted before the council that he now pays a greater sum for the custody than was paid in times past, and the matter being brought before the council, it is considered that it would be to the king's hurt if the priory and its possessions were surrendered to the king's hand. To the sheriff of Lincoln. Order to supersede the taking of Robert Clerk of Kyngeston upon Hull, by a certain mainprise, as he has besought the king to order this to be done, as William Fraunk delivered to him 3 sacks of the wool of Robert son of John Darcy to be taken by him to parts beyond the sea with other wool provided by certain merchants of the realm for the king's use, to be sold there, and the wool was taken for the king's use in parts beyond the sea, so that the merchants did not intermeddle further therewith, and although the king caused letters obligatory for the price of the three sacks to be made at Robert's request for Robert son of John and delivered to Robert, and Robert Clerk obtained those letters in his discharge, yet Robert son of John, scheming to aggrieve him, has refused to admit the letters, and caused Robert to be impetrated asserting that he was his bailiff in Southferyby and receiver of his money there; wherefore by process before the justices of the Bench, Robert Clerk being ignorant thereof, the king ordered the sheriff to take him, by writ de judicio; and Robert Clerk has found the following mainpernors in

Kent, has besought the king to order those goods and chattels to be allowed to him in his account, as Simon sent the order to Nicholas to execute, and Nicholas caused the goods to be appraised and delivered them by indenture to John Launvare, attorney of Bartholomew, for the bishop's use; the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to view the king's writ and the indenture, and to allow the goods and chattels to Nicholas, charging the bishop, Bartholomew and John with the price of the goods.

Order to supersede the exaction made upon John le Mareschal of Bovyndon to find a man at arms or another for that custody, by reason of his lands in the county, as he has shown the king that all his said lands are taken into the king's hands for divers debts in which he is bound to the king, and are committed to him for rendering 25 marks yearly which exceed the true value of the lands. July 20. Kennington. To Edward duke of Cornwall and earl of Chester, keeper of England, or to his justice of co. Chester or to him who supplies the justice's place. Oxford, while he is in the company of Richard Talebot, keeper of the town of Berwick-upon-Tweed, in the king's service, for its safe custody. By C.

Aug. 22. Windsor. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Although it is found by an inquisition taken by him that Joan daughter and heir of John de Briaunzoun, tenant in chief, died a minor in the king's wardship, and that two parts of the manor of Alvythele and other lands came into the king's hands by reason of her minority, and that the manor is held in chief as of the crown by knight's service, and William son of Swetmannus de Alvythele is her heir and aged 40 years; yet because certain persons have informed the king in chancery that John son of Giles de Briaunzoun is Joan's next heir and has not yet attained the age of four years, wherefore the wardship of all the lands which are of Joan's inheritance together with the marriage of John ought to pertain to the king, the king orders the escheator to take an inquisition upon the premises, in the presence of William, if he choose to attend, and to inform the king without delay of what he finds. By C.

Order to supersede until the quinzaine of Michaelmas next the demand made on the prior of Shireburn for the ferm of 80*l.* yearly which he owes for the custody of his priory, taken into the king's hand as alien, and the arrears thereof, so that the king may cause what is reasonable to be done for the prior and monks after deliberation upon the matter, as the prior has besought the king to grant him a mitigation of his ferm, or to cause the priory to be resumed into his hands and wages to be delivered to the prior and monks of the issues thereof, as the possessions of the priory, after the wages of the monks are deducted, do not extend to 60*l.*, as is found by the extent thereof made by the king's order and returned into chancery. By C.

Order to deliver to Richard bishop of Ossory (Effornen') in Ireland or to his attorney, the temporalities of the bishopric together with the issues thereof from 5 July last, knowing that if he neglect to do this, the king will cause him to be amoved from his office, and will not permit him to hold that or any other office, and the king will cause him to be punished for his disobedience, as on the said 5 July the king committed the custody of those temporalities to the bishop, by security found in the chancery in England, to hold during pleasure, answering for the issues thereof at that exchequer, if they ought to pertain to the king, and the king ordered the sheriff by writ under the great seal used in England, to deliver those temporalities to the bishop or his attorney; and now the king is informed that although the writ was delivered to the sheriff, he has refused to receive or execute it, asserting that he will not execute it unless it comes from the chancery of Ireland under the seal used there, at which the king is much angered, chiefly because all his subjects are bound by their allegiance to obey his orders under the great seal of England. By the keeper and C.

Sept. 7. Windsor. To Th. bishop of Hereford, keeper of Ireland. Order to permit the said escheator to deliver the said temporalities and issues to the bishop according to the preceding order or to deliver them, if they have been delivered to the keeper, as the king has learned, because the custody of those temporalities is committed to the bishop to hold at will rendering the yearly extent thereof at the exchequer, Dublin, by letters patent under the seal used in Ireland. By the keeper and C.

Aug. 20. Windsor. To the sheriff of Berks. Order to supersede the demand made upon Edmund de Bohun for 500 marks until Michaelmas next, so that the king may cause justice to be done after fuller information has been taken, as Edmund has besought the king to discharge him of that sum, as he was taken and imprisoned because he is of the quarrel of Thomas earl of Lancaster and made fine by 500 marks with the late king to save his life, by force and duress, and although he ought to be quit of that sum according to the statute made in the parliament at Westminster in the 1st year of the reign for those who were of that quarrel, yet the sheriff exacts the 500 marks of him. By C.

Sept. 3. Windsor. To Richard de Wylughby and his fellows, justices of assize in co. Warwick. Order to continue in the same state in which it now is the assize of novel disseisin which John Basevile and Joan his wife arrame before them against John de Harddeshull, who is in the king's service in parts beyond the sea, concerning tenements in Monewode, while he is in the said service, according to the ordinance providing for the indemnity of those who are in the said service. By general writ of privy seal.

Sept. 1. Windsor. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to admit the attorneys appointed by Thomas de Berkele of Cuberle, sheriff of Gloucester, to make his proffer on the morrow of Michaelmas next, as he is attendant upon the purveyance of victuals, which the king ordered to be purveyed in that county and sent to the duchy [of Aquitaine] for the maintenance of the king's lieges there, with Stephen le Blount, appointed for this, and upon receiving the king's wool in the county and carrying it to the port of Bristol, to be sent to parts beyond the sea, and also upon divers other affairs with which the king has specially charged him. By C.

Order to continue in the same state in which it now is the assize of novel disseisin which Roger de Leukenore arrames before them against William Trussel, the elder, whom the king appointed admiral of his fleet from the mouth of the Thames towards the West, and who is about to set out to sea out of the realm, by the king's order, concerning tenements in Flore, while he is on the said service, in accordance with the ordinance providing for the idemnity of those who are in such service.

By general writ of privy seal.

Aug. 30. Windsor. To Robert de Morle, admiral of the fleet from the mouth of the Thames towards the North. Order to deliver a ship freighted by Alcetus son of Lisgery, merchant of the duke of Guelders with its rigging and tackle, and the goods and chattels therein, to Alcetus or his attorney without delay, as the duke has shown the king that Alcetus freighted the ship in that duchy

By C.

Sept. 3. Windsor. To John Perbroun. Order to restore all the goods taken by his serjeants from a ship of Alcetus son of Liskery, to Alcetus and other merchants of the duchy of Guelders, without delay, as the duke of Guelders has shown the king that the master and mariners of a ship of John, entered that ship by armed force at the port of Blakeneye, and took Alcetus's goods therein to the value of 166*l.* and carried them away, and although they have been prosecuted to restore them, at the suit of Alcetus and the other merchants, they have made certain untruthful excuses, and the goods are detained by them; wherefore the duke has besought the king to cause restitution to be made, and the king has considered that unless the goods are restored speedily it will behove him to answer for them. The king has ordered the bailiffs of Great Yarmouth to compel John to make restitution if he renders himself difficult in this matter. By the keeper and C.

Sept. 6. Windsor. To Robert de Morle, admiral of the fleet from the mouth of the Thames towards the North. Sept. 16. Windsor. To the mayor and bailiffs of Bishop's Lynn. Sept. 6. Windsor. To Richard de Wylughby and his fellows, appointed to hold pleas before the king. Although at the suit of Gilbert de Arundell showing that he had been in peaceful possession of the church of Heyden for eighteen years and more, and he feared that he might be questioned upon his right under colour of right in the king's name and by false suggestion, the king ratified his estate in the church by letters patent, yet now the king has learned that Gilbert was presented to the church by Richard de Kelleshull not one year since and that a plea is pending in the king's court between the king and Richard upon the advowson of the church and that John de Burton, the king's clerk, is presented by the king and sues for the recovery of the king's right in this matter, the king annuls the letters to Gilbert so that the justices may proceed to render judgment in the plea notwithstanding such letters, and orders the justices to proceed to render judgment as aforesaid. By C.

Sept. 20. Windsor. To the same. Sept. 25. Windsor. To William de Rosteleye. 13 EDWARD III.—Part III.

MEMBRANE 28.

1339.
Nov. 3.
Westminster.

To the mayor, bailiffs and men of the city of Waterford. Order to permit all merchants and others who wish to go with their ships, boats, goods and merchandise to the town of Rosponte, to do so, unlade their things there, and do their pleasure therewith, as they have done in times past, as the late king at the suit of Thomas earl of Norfolk and marshal of England, showing that he held the town by the king's gift, and in the time of Roger le Bygod, late earl of Norfolk and lord of that town, and of other earls marshal, lords of the town, his ancestors, merchants and others had come to the town with their goods by the water of Randona, to unlade their goods there and do their pleasure therewith, without hindrance, and Stephen de Fulburn, while he was a justice of Edward I, at the procuration of the bishop of Waterford, Stephen's brother and of certain burgesses of that city, to cause the merchants to withdraw from that town and go to Waterford, caused divers hindrances to be placed in the way of merchants going to the town, wherefore the merchants have withdrawn from that town, and the earl beseeching the late king to grant that such impediments should be removed, that king ordered Roger de Mortuo Mari, then justiciary of Ireland, to cause an inquisition to be taken on the matter in the presence of the citizens of Waterford and of the burgesses of Rosponte, and by the inquisition taken before the mayor and certain citizens of Waterford and certain burgesses of Rosponte by the said justiciary, it is found that it is not to the king's prejudice nor harmful to the city of Waterford if the king grants that merchants shall go as aforesaid to the said town, but rather to the benefit of the king and the city, because if merchants from beyond go there freely, more ships will go to the city, and that merchants used to go to the town in the time of Roger le Bygod, as aforesaid, until the time when Stephen hindered all except merchants of Lagen; and now the king has been besought by William de Monte Acuto, earl of Salisbury and marshal of England, lord of Rosponte, to cause such impediments to be amoved. Oct. 29. Kennington. To the mayor and bailiffs of Newcastle upon Tyne and to the collectors of customs there. Order to make diligent scrutiny in places from that port towards the sea, where ships can ply, and elsewhere as they see fit, that wool, hides or wool-fells or any merchandise be not laded without paying custom and subsidy to the king thereon, and if they find any laded and not coketted, to cause them to be seised into the king's hands as forfeit with the ships and persons of the masters and mariners thereof, to be detained in prison until further orders, not making any letters of coket for wool, hides or wool-fells without the presence of Robert de Shilvyngton, John Flemmyng, Peter Fauellore, John de Halywell, Thomas de Ebor[aco] and John de Bury, merchants of Newcastle, so long as the custom in that port remains in their hands, as the king ordered them to deliver all the customs in that town to those merchants, until they were satisfied for 2,500*l.* of the 4,000*l.* which they lent to the king, and to permit the merchants to lade wool in that port and take it to Flanders, Brabant and Seland [as at page 134 above]; and now the king is informed that several merchants and others lade wool, hides and fells in places without that port, because the customs and subsidies are granted to the merchants, and cause them to be taken to parts beyond the sea without paying the custom and subsidy thereon and without having letters therefor under the coket seal. Sept. 28. Windsor. To the collectors of the custom of wool, hides and wool-fells in the port of London. To the treasurer and chamberlains. Order to deliver to Reginald de Cobham, 1,440*l.* 12*s.* or to give him an assignment therefor, if they find that the king is bound to him in that sum, as the king was bound to him in 1,799*l.* 5*s.* 4*d.* for his wages and those of his men at arms with him in the king's service in Brabant and for his winter robe in the 12th year of the reign and his summer robe in the 13th year of the reign, and for replacing his horses, and for crossing and recrossing between Brabant and England, and Reginald afterwards received 358*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* of that sum, as may appear he says by bills in his possession under the seal of William de Northwell, keeper of the wardrobe, and the king wishes him to be satisfied for the residue. To the chancellor of Ireland. Order to supersede the livery to Laurence de Hastynges, a minor in the king's wardship, of all his manors and lands in co. Weys and the liberty of that county which were in the king's hands by reason of Laurence's minority, and the custody of which the king committed to John de Ellerker, his clerk, to the value of 84*l.* yearly at which the custody and liberty were extended, to hold until Laurence should come of age, in part satisfaction of certain debts in which the king was bound to John, so that John being satisfied for the debts should answer for the said value at the exchequer of Dublin; and on 3 March in the 10th year of the reign the king confirmed the grant, and afterwards at John's suit showing that whereas he caused victuals and money to the sum of 2,000*l.* to be provided for the passage and maintenance of the king's lieges whom the king sent from Ireland to Scotland to bridle the malice of the Scots, at the time when he was treasurer of Ireland, obliging himself and his friends therefor to his creditors, and he was amoved from his

Nov. 8. Kennington. To the mayor and sheriffs of London. Nov. 6. Kennington. To John de Ellerker, chamberlain of North Wales. Order to pay to Richard, earl of Arundel, 400 marks, as he lately granted to the king what pertained to him of the stewardship of Scotland, which belonged to him of hereditary right, which grant Edward king of Scotland confirmed, and the king granted the earl in recompence 1,000 marks of the issues of North Wales, and ordered Robert de Hambury, then chamberlain there, to pay the 1,000 marks to the earl; and afterwards the king ordered Robert, after he had ceased from that office, to certify the king of what he had paid to the earl, and Robert acknowledged in chancery that he had paid 600 marks, and that 400 marks remained to be paid. To the keeper and C.

Nov. 16. Langley. To William de Percy. Whereas on 4 February in the 5th year of the reign at the suit of the dean and chapter of the free chapel in the castle of Hastyng, by their petition before the king and his council in parliament beseeching the king to cause the castle to be enclosed with door and gates, and houses for their dwellings to be constructed within the castle and to cause them to have herbage pertaining to the castle in the town of Hastyng, for which no answer was made before these times to the king or his progenitors, in aid of the enclosure, repairing and maintenance, and to grant that they should have the custody in time of peace, as for lack of such enclosure the chapel is ruined by frequent inundations of the sea, and is held as derelict, and has been often broken by malefactors, and the relics, ornaments and treasure there plundered, and the ministers of the chapel beaten and wounded; and because it was found by inquisition taken by Simon de Bereford, late escheator this side Trent, that the king could do this without prejudice to himself, he granted their request, and now he has learned from their plaint that William hinders them from inhabiting the houses built in the castle, as well as their vicars and ministers of the chapel for performing divine service there, and from receiving the herbage, by reason of his commission for the custody of the castle, and that he does not permit pilgrims going to the chapel to enter it and do oblations, in which the maintenance of the dean and chapter consists, wherefore they have besought the king to provide a remedy: the king orders William to permit the dean and chapter and the ministers and vicars to inhabit their houses in the castle, and receive the herbage, and to allow pilgrims free access to the chapel, so that the complaint may not be repeated to the king, provided always that the castle be safely guarded against the attacks of the king's enemies. Nov. 22. Langley. To the prior of Langeneth. Order to pay to John Gogh, the king's clerk, 10*l.* of the ferm which he owes for the custody of his priory, which was taken into the king's hands as alien, as the king appointed John and others so to take the possessions of aliens of the power of the king of France in South Wales, and to keep them until farther orders, answering for the issues thereof, and John has besought the king to order wages to be paid to him, as he took the priories of Langeneth, St. Clare, Pembrok, Menemuth and Bergeveny, and kept them until the king committed the custodies to the priors, and was attendant upon the premises from 7 November in the 11th year of the reign until 28 October last, without receiving anything; and in accordance with the agreement made with John by some of the council, the king has granted him 30*l.* for his wages, to wit 10*l.* from the ferm of each of the priories of Langeneth, Pembrok and Bergeveny. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order to deliver a messuage and carucate of land in Heygham, co. Essex, with the issues thereof from 14 March in the 12th year of the reign, to Walter de Mauny, to hold until the heir shall come of age, as the king ordered the escheator to take the fealty of Matilda late the wife of Ed[mund] son of John de Benstede and deliver to her a messuage, 45 acres of land and 30*s.* rent in Welcomstowe, co. Essex, together with the issues thereof [as in this Calendar 11 Edward III, page 18] and afterwards at the suit of Walter, to whom the king committed the custody of the lands which belonged to Ed[mund], on 14 March in the 12th year of the reign, to hold until the heir should come of age, beseeching the king to cause the messuage and land in Heygham to be delivered to him with the other lands of the inheritance, because it was shown to the king by John de Caly, knight, and by the said Matilda now his wife, that the messuage and land are the same as the lands which the king ordered to be delivered to Matilda, the king ordered the sheriff of Essex to cause John and Matilda to be in chancery on the quinzaine of Michaelmas last, which day the king gave to Walter, to show cause why the said lands should not be delivered to Walter and further to do and receive what the king's court should determine, and the sheriff returned that he directed John and Matilda to appear as aforesaid and they did not come, and John appearing in chancery after that day said nothing to impede the livery of the lands to Walter. To Thomas de Metham, escheator beyond Trent. Order to deliver to John son of John son of Andrew de Parva Bampton, 7 acres of land in Starchwaytrig near Thoresby, together with the issues thereof, as John Moryn, late escheator beyond Trent returned that he had not taken that land into the king's hand, but that William de Clapham, sometime escheator there, delivered to John by indenture a messuage and 12 acres of land in Starchwaytrig, co. Cumberland, asserting that they were in the king's hands by reason of the trespass of John son of Andrew in acquiring them of Hugh le Clerk of Crofton without licence, who held them in chief; and afterwards at the suit of John son of John, beseeching the king to amove his hand from the 7 acres and from a messuage built in a part thereof, as the messuage and 12 acres are only 7 acres which William de Vescy, justice in eyre for pleas of the Forest in co. Cumberland of Edward I, in the 15th year of that reign, arented to Hugh for rendering 5*s.* yearly at the exchequer of Carlisle, which land, John son of Andrew, John's father whose heir he is, afterwards acquired of Michael de Ulneton and Adam le Brewester, who acquired them of Robert, Hugh's son and heir, without the licence of Edward I or the late king, and which were afterwards taken into the king's hands by reason of this trespass, and the king rendered them to John son of Andrew by a fine, for rendering the aforesaid ferm yearly; and the king ordered Thomas to take an inquisition upon the matter by men of the county, by which it is found that the 7 acres which William de Clapham delivered to John Moryn as a messuage and 12 acres, were only 7 acres which William de Vescy arented to Hugh for rendering 5*s.* as aforesaid and which the king rendered to John as aforesaid.

Nov. 1. Kennington. To the taxers and collectors in co. Southampton of the triennial tenth and fifteenth granted by the laity. Order to go to Southampton, and cause the men there to be assessed according to the quantity of the goods which they now have, and to cause the tenth to be levied of them according to that assessment, for the third year, as the men of the town have besought the king to have consideration for their estate, as the town and goods therein were burned by certain enemies attacking it in galleys, so that several men there who were wont to dwell there and support the charges of the town with their fellow-burgesses, have not wherewith to live or where to dwell and have withdrawn from the town, wherefore the burgesses now staying there do not suffice to pay so much as they were wont to pay.

Nov. 12. Kennington. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer and to the chamberlains. Order to cause payment or assignment for 15*l.* to be made to Ralph de Nevill if they find that sum to be owing to him, as at their request Ralph delivered on loan to Thomas Ughtred, then keeper of St. John of Perth in Scotland, 100 marks upon his wages and those of the men in garrison there in his company, and the treasurer wishing to satisfy Ralph and pretending that he was bound in 100 marks to the king for the custody of the land and heir of Roger de Huntyngfeld, committed to him for rendering a certain sum of money to the king, caused a tally of the receipt for 100 marks to be levied in Ralph's name and delivered to him although he only owed 51*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* for the custody, wherefore the treasurer and barons caused 51*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* to be allowed in the 100 marks, and adjudged that 15*l.* were due to Ralph by the king.

Nov. 22. Langley. To the same. Whereas the king ordered A. bishop of Norwich and his deputy receivers of wool granted by the clergy in that diocese, to deliver 47 sacks 15 stones 17 pounds of the remainder of that wool from the last account to Master Paul de Monte Florum, the king's clerk, or to William Potente, chaplain, his attorney, and Paul has besought the king to cause 45*l.* 2*s.* 3*d.* to be delivered to him, as the abbot of St. Benet, Hulme, of that diocese, paid that sum at the exchequer for 11 sacks 7 stones 3½ pounds of his portion of wool in that diocese, according to the rate of the fifteenth, which are included in the quantity of wool aforesaid, the king therefore orders the treasurer and others to cause the money to be restored to Paul or his said attorney, or an assignment therefor to be made to him, if they find that the 11 sacks 7 stones 3½ pounds are part of the said greater number, and that 45*l.* 2*s.* 3*d.* were paid as aforesaid.

Nov. 10. Kennington. To the same. Order to audit the account of Robert son of Roger de Swynnerton for the custody of the Tower of London, and cause victuals appraised at 97*l.* 6*s.* 6*d.* to be allowed in the sums which are found to be owing by the account, informing the king of the sums which are found to be owing to Roger, provided that Robert shall satisfy the king for what is found to be owing for the price of the victuals beyond his fee, as the late king on 30 August in the 15th year of the reign committed that custody to

Roger to hold during pleasure, receiving the accustomed fee yearly; and although keepers of the Tower have usually received 100*l.* yearly for that fee, and Roger only received 57*l.* 3*s.* by divers writs of liberate from 13 August to 16 October in the 17th year, when he was amoved from the custody, and he received as recompence for the residue of the fee from Robert de Burghton, rector of the Tower chapel, then receiver of the late king's victuals in the Tower, certain victuals appraised at 97*l.* 6*s.* 6*d.* as appears by rolls and memoranda of the exchequer, yet the treasurer and others distrain Robert for that sum, because Roger acknowledged before the treasurer and barons of the exchequer that he received the said victuals as aforesaid and ought to answer therefor for Robert, whereupon Robert, Roger's son, has besought the king to order account to be made with him as aforesaid. By C.

Nov. 1. Langley. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to admit the deputy appointed by Ralph de Midelneye, escheator in cos. Somerset, Dorset, Cornwall and Devon, to render his account and make his proffer, and to allow Ralph his fee in that office, as the king committed the escheatry to him to hold for life, answering for the issues thereof, and now the king has granted, for his good service in parts beyond the sea, that Ralph may exercise the office by a deputy, for whom he will answer, and Ralph is now staying in the king's service in parts beyond the sea.

Dec. 1. Langley. To Hugh de Ulseby, the king's butler. Order to deliver to Richard, bishop of London, the chancellor, the arrears of his fee of wine, which he ought to receive by reason of his office, from the time of the butler's appointment, by indenture.

Dec. 2. Langley. To John de Warenna, earl of Surrey, keeper of the maritime land in co. Sussex. Order to direct William de Percy to permit the dean and chapter of the free chapel in Hastyng castle and the vicars and ministers there, to enter their houses in the castle and receive herbage in the town of Hastyng and to permit pilgrims to enter the castle and depart thence, so that complaint thereupon may not be repeated to the king, provided that the castle be safely guarded against the attacks of the king's enemies, as on 4 February in the 5th year of the reign at the suit of the dean and chapter, by their petition before the king and his council in parliament beseeching the king to permit them to enclose the castle, build places for their abode therein and repair and maintain the herbage pertaining thereto in the town of Hastyng, for which no answer had previously been made to the king or his progenitors, in aid of the said enclosing, because the chapel for lack of such enclosure was mostly ruined by the frequent inundations of the sea, and has several times been broken into by day and night by malefactors, and the relics, ornaments and treasure plundered and the ministers beaten, wounded and ill-treated, and because it was found by inquisition taken by Simon de Bereford, sometime escheator this side Trent, that the king might grant this without injury or prejudice to himself, he granted that permission to the dean and chapter, and now the king has learned from the plaint of the canons that William prevents the canons and others from living in their said houses and does not permit the entrance of pilgrims resorting thither, in whose oblations the maintenance of the said vicars and ministers consists, whereupon the king has been besought to provide a remedy. Oct. 3. Kennington. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to discharge Richard de Peplesham of the ferm or issues of the hundred of Flitte, co. Bedford, from 4 May in the 2nd year of the reign, as on 10 April in the 1st year of the reign the king committed to him the bailiwick of the said hundred to hold for life as John Meryet, deceased, held it by the late king's commission, so that he should keep it in accordance with the statute of Lincoln, and afterwards on its being found by inquisition taken by William Trussel, then escheator this side Trent, that John held certain lands in Luyton by the service of the sixth part of a knight's fee, the said hundred, a fourth part of the manor of Magor, co. Gloucester, by the service of a fourth part of a sixth part of a knight's fee and certain lands in Sturmenstre Marchal, co. Dorset, by knight's service in chief by the law of England of the inheritance of Mary his wife, deceased, and that John de Bello Campo of Somerset, Henry son of Roger son of Peter son of Reginald, then a minor in the king's wardship, the kinsmen of Matilda de Kymes, John de Bohun of co. Essex, John de Mohun of Dunsterre and Hugh de Mortuo Mari of Cheilmersh were Mary's next heirs, and that Henry was then aged eight years, the others being of full age, on 11 July in the second year of the reign, the king took Hugh's homage for his purparty of the said lands and gave John, John and John respite for their homage until a certain time, and rendered their purparties to John, John, John and Hugh, ordering William to take security from them for rendering their reliefs at the exchequer, and after making a legal partition of all the said lands in the presence of the heirs and parceners into four equal parts to cause John de Bohun, John de Mohun and Hugh to have seisin of their purparties, and dividing the fourth part between John de Bello Campo and Henry to cause John to have seisin of his purparty, retaining the purparty of Henry in the king's hand until further order, informing the king if there was any reason why he should not do so; and subsequently because William returned that a partition of the hundred could not be made, because before the said writ he had delivered the bailiwick thereof to Richard to hold for life, the king ordered the sheriff of Bedford to direct Richard to be in chancery on a certain day now long past, which day the king gave to the heirs and parceners, to show cause why the hundred should not be resumed into the king's hand and divided among the heirs and parceners; and on that day both Richard and John, John, John and Hugh came into chancery, and the process being continued with the assent of the parties to three weeks from Easter following, because Richard said nothing why the hundred should not be resumed and partitioned as aforesaid, it was decided that this should be done, wherefore on the said 4th May the king ordered Simon de Bereford, then escheator this side Trent, to resume the hundred into the king's hand and make a legal partition thereof in the manner aforesaid.

Nov. 6. Kennington. To the same. Repetition of an order to discharge Master Henry de Cantuar[ia], the king's clerk, of 20*l.* taking his oath that 100 livres Tournois noted in the account of Richard de Ellesfeld are the same as the 100 livres Tournois for which the 20*l.* are exacted of him, if they find by Richard's account that Henry accounted for the 100 livres Tournois and that they were allowed to him, as he has shown the king that whereas the late king sent him to ports beyond the sea on his affairs, and he received 100 livres Tournois to the value of 20*l.* sterling, of Gaillardus de Casa, then constable of Bordeaux, by the hands of Anthony de Peysseyn, upon his expenses, and although he accounted for this before Richard, late constable of Bordeaux, and charged himself with that sum in the account and the said sum was allowed to him for his expenses, as may appear by letters testimonial of John Travers late constable of Bordeaux and of John Guitard, late controller there, which are in Henry's possession, as he says, yet the treasurer and barons intend to charge Henry with the 20*l.* because the account of Roger, bishop of Coventry and Lichfield, keeper of the late king's wardrobe, contains that Anthony, who rendered his account in the wardrobe for divers sums received by him as a prest, asserted that he delivered 20*l.* to Henry upon his said expenses, whereupon Henry has besought the king to provide a remedy.

Nov. 6. Kennington. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer and to the chamberlains. Order not to intermeddle further with the lands of Thomas de Tyryngham, parson of Stokegoldyngton church and of John de Tyryngham, parson of Clifton church, in Stokegoldyngton, restoring the issues thereof to them, as the escheator returned that John de Nodariis, who held the lands in chief as of the honour of Peverel, alienated them in fee to Thomas and John without licence, wherefore he took them into the king's hand, and Thomas and John have besought the king to cause his hand to be amoved, and among the articles granted in the late parliament at Westminster it is contained that no one should be aggrieved for such acquisitions of lands which are so held of honours.

Oct. 25. Kennington. To Ralph de Middelneye, escheator in cos. Somerset, Dorset, Devon and Cornwall. Order to cause dower to be assigned to Matilda late the wife of Nicholas le Walissh of Podynton, tenant in chief, receiving her oath not to marry without the king's licence.

Oct. 16. Kennington. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to supersede the demand made upon the abbot and convent of Rameseye for their ferm of 50*s*. yearly which they were wont to render to the king for the residue of the fairs of St. Ives, which were assigned to Edmund, earl of Kent, and escheated to the king by his forfeiture, from 4 May in the 4th year of the reign, on which day the king committed that custody to Edward de Bohoun, now deceased, to hold for life, and because it was agreed in a parliament subsequently held at Westminster that the earl's heirs should be admitted to his inheritance, and that Margaret late the earl's wife should have her dower of the lands which belonged to the earl, notwithstanding the judgment against him, the king assigned to her the said ferm, among other things to hold in dower, and ordered the abbot and convent and Edward to be attendant upon her for the same, wherefore the king ordered the treasurer and barons to supersede the demand made upon the abbot and convent for that ferm from the said 4 May, and the treasurer and barons returned that they delayed to do this because the abbot and any one on his part did not show before them any letters of acquittance of Edward or of Margaret wife of Edmund earl of Kent, to whom the ferm was assigned, and those to whom such ferms and rents are granted in fee simple, tallaged and for life, have to sue against the detainers of the same at the common law, and they are not obliged to have letters of acquittance in such case and yet they are discharged of such ferms and rents paid, so that the king considers the certificate of the treasurer and barons to be insufficient. By C.

Nov. 10. Kennington. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer and to the chamberlains. Robert de Swynnerton son and heir of Roger de Swynnerton the elder, has besought the king, that whereas 92*l.* 6*s.* 4*d.* are exacted of Roger, to wit 100 marks delivered to him upon retaining men at arms in the king's company and 25*l.* of the arrears of his fee and robes in accounts rendered by him in the wardrobe, and divers sums are owing to Roger for the same beyond that sum, and Robert is distrained for that sum in the lands which belonged to Roger, the king will cause account to be made with him and cause that sum to be allowed to him in the sums which are found to be owing to Roger; the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons and chamberlains to inspect the rolls and memoranda of the exchequer upon the premises, to audit Robert's account and cause allowance to be made to him as aforesaid, informing the king of the sums which are found to be due to him beyond the said 92*l.* 6*s.* 4*d.* By C.

Nov. 6. Langley. To William de Wauton, sheriff of Essex. Order to pay to Giles de Matryngham, the king's falconer, whom the king sent to stay in that bailiwick with two falcons, the arrears of his wages of 12*d.* a day for himself and 2*d.* a day for the puture of the falcons, from 1 May in the 12th year of the reign, and to pay those wages henceforth, so long as he is sheriff and as Giles remains in that bailiwick for the said cause, or until further orders as the king sent a like order to the sheriff of that county, and William has not hitherto cared to pay the said 14*d.* daily to Giles because the said writ is in the possession of the sheriff.

[Fœdera.]

Dec. 9. Langley. To the mayor and bailiffs of the port of Sandwich. The merchants, masters and mariners of certain ships of Bayonne, lately come to the realm, charged with iron and other merchandise of weight have besought the king to allow them to replace the iron in boats and small ships and take it to London and Great Yarmouth or elsewhere in the realm, to do what they please therewith, paying the custom due thereon at the places whither it is brought, as they unloaded their ships at the port of Sandwich at the request of William de Clynton, earl of Huntingdon, constable of Dover castle and warden of the Cinque Ports and of William Trussel, admiral of the fleet from the mouth of the Thames towards the west, to set out with the said ships in the king's service for the defence of the realm, and the masters and mariners have now granted they will so set out before Hilary next or immediately after; the king considering the services of the men of Bayonne to himself and his predecessors and the damage suffered by these men in unlading their merchandise, orders the mayor and bailiffs to take security from them that they will take the said merchandise to places where the custom is collected and the coket seal kept, and that they will pay custom and return before the setting out of the fleet, and to permit them to take their merchandise as aforesaid. By C.

Dec. 20. Langley. To the collectors or collector of customs in the port of Sandwich. The like order, mutatis mutandis, as the king has learned that they will not permit those men to relade the said iron because the preceding order was not directed to them. By C.

Order to cause Thomas son and heir of Gilbert de Borhunt, tenant in chief, to have seisin of all the lands of which his father was seised, at his death, in his demesne as of fee, because he has proved his age before the escheator and the king has taken his homage for the said lands and has given him respite for his homage until the Purification next, unless the king return from parts beyond the sea in the mean time. By the keeper and C.

Dec. 15. Langley. To the same. By letter of the keeper.

Dec. 17. Langley. To the collectors of the custom of wool, hides and wool-fells in the port of London. Whereas the king ordered them to permit Baudinus de Bonacourse, Marinus Baldewynet, merchants of Florence, and Arnald de Aldyngham, merchant of Malyns, to take 300 sacks of wool of 650 sacks to Brabant and Flanders, allowing them the custom and subsidy due thereon in part payment of 1,300 florins [as at page 198 above], the king, considering that the merchants lent that sum to him of their free will in his great necessity, orders the collectors to permit those merchants to take the remaining 350 sacks in the same manner in ships not ordained for the king's service. By p.s. [12486.]

Dec. 20. Langley. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer and to the chamberlains. MEMBRANE 9.

Oct. 10. Windsor. To the collectors of the custom of wool, hides and wool-fells in the port of Kyngeston upon Hull. Order to permit John de Wolde, Constantine Smythuson, John Clippyng, Wessellus de Losynghen, Hildebrand Etholt, John Sterrenbergh, Walter de Isplyngrode and Henry Gronopape, merchants of Almain, or their attorneys, to lade 160 sacks of wool in that port and take them to parts beyond the sea without paying the custom and subsidy, in accordance with the king's order to permit those merchants so to take 170 sacks and by another writ the king ordered the collectors of customs in the port of Boston to permit them so to take 230 sacks from that port because they paid 2 marks a sack to William de la Pole, the king's merchant, for the king's use in parts beyond the sea, so that the king pardoned them the residue of the custom and subsidy, and they have besought the king that they may take 240 sacks from the port of Boston and 160 from the port of Kyngeston. By p.s.

To the collectors in the port of Boston. Like order 'mutatis mutandis' for 230 sacks. By the same writ.

Nov. 20. Langley. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Whereas the king ordered them to proceed in pleas of the abbesses of Elnestowe against the mayors and bailiffs of Bedeford concerning the free tenement of the abbesses in that town [as in this Calendar 10 Edward III, page 726] and although processes were made before them from time to time and discontinued by reason of the death of the abbesses, and the present abbess has sued for the same, yet they have delayed to proceed to the final discussion of the affair, whereupon she has besought the king to provide a remedy; and because the affair being examined before the king and his council in parliament at Westminster on the morrow of the Purification in the 12th year of the reign it was ordained that the plea and affair upon the premises should be held in the exchequer and determined there, because the exactions made by the abbesses for the third penny of the town are uncertain because the third penny is extended now at a greater now at a lesser ferm according to the annual profits in the town, wherefore the process thereupon naturally demands a process or way of account which cannot be determined at common law by writ de libero tenemento, and for other reasons; the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to hear the plaint of the abbess, calling before them the mayor and bailiffs of Bedeford, hearing their reasons upon the detention of the said rent and to cause speedy justice to be done, proceeding to the final discussion of the affair. By pet. of Parliament.

1340. Jan. 3. Langley. To the chamberlain of South Wales. Order to cause 8*l.* to be allowed to Reymund Peregrini in accordance with the tenor of a previous order, as the king is bound to Reymund in 24*l.* 11*s.* 5½*d.* for wool bought of him by the takers and purveyors of the moiety of wool in cos. Gloucester and Huntingdon and he has besought the king to order the 8*l.* to be allowed to him, as he is bound to pay 8*l.* of the church of Boxle which he holds at ferm in that diocese and 16*l.* 11*s.* 5½*d.* of the prebends of Leghton manor upon Brouneswold and Langestowe, which he also holds at ferm in the archdeaconry of Huntingdon, for the tenth of the third year of the triennial tenth and for the said tenth beyond the triennial tenth, in full satisfaction of the said 24*l.* 11*s.* 5½*d.*; and because Reymund surrendered the king's letters patent to chancery to be cancelled, the king ordered the abbot of Faversham and the abbot of Eynesham, collectors of the said tenths in that archdeaconry, to cause the said 8*l.* and the 16*l.* 11*s.* 5½*d.* respectively to be allowed to Reymund as aforesaid, and now the king has learned from Reymund that the abbot has delayed to make such allowance because the money of the tenths in that diocese is assigned to the merchants of the society of the Bardi in part payment of certain sums in which the king is bound to them, and tallies therefor are levied at the exchequer under the abbot's name, and the merchant has granted the 8*l.* shall be allowed to Reymund so that he shall satisfy them therefore at another time. By C.

1340. Jan. 5. Langley. To the collectors of the custom of wool, hides and wool-fells in the port of London. By p.s. and by C.

Jan. 3. Langley. To the merchants of the societies of the Bardi and Peruzzi. Order to cause the part of the coket seal in their custody to be affixed to the letters made to Baudinus de Bonacourse Marinus Baldewynet, merchants, of Florence, and Arnald de Aldyngham, merchant of Malyns, to take 350 sacks and what remained to be taken of 300 sacks of 650 sacks to Brabant and Flanders, together with the part in the custody of the collectors of the custom of wool, hides and wool-fells in the port of London, and to permit those merchants to take the said wool to those parts, in accordance with the king's grant to them and his order to the collectors of the custom of wool, hides, and wool-fells in the port of London [as at page 313 above] so that it may not behove the king to provide those merchants with another remedy, as the collectors have shown the king that they caused 333 sacks 26 cloves of the 350 sacks to be weighed, laded in ships of Flanders and Seland and letters of coket to be made therefore, and the merchants of the said societies refused to affix the part of the coket seal in their custody. By p.s.

Jan. 2. Langley. To the collectors of the custom of wool, hides and wool-fells in the port of Boston. Order to permit the merchants of the societies of the Bardi and Peruzzi to lade what remains to be laded of 1,450 sacks of wool in that port and take them to the staple at Andewerp, without paying the custom and subsidy thereon, as the king granted that the Bardi should take 5,000 sacks and the Peruzzi 3,000 sacks to parts beyond the sea, and he ordered the collectors to permit the Bardi and Peruzzi to take 600 sacks thereof and the Bardi 700 sacks and the Peruzzi 150 sacks in addition to the said parts, without paying the custom and subsidy, and now the king has learned from the merchants that they are hindered from taking the said wool, and they have besought the king to cause his order to be executed.

Order to permit Thomas Gra, John Goldbetere, Thomas de Lyndeseye, John de Rypoun, Thomas de Menythorp, John Shaklok and William de Skelton, merchants of that city, to lade 400 sacks of wool in that port and take them to the staple at Andewerp in ships not ordained for the king's service, without paying custom and subsidy, in accordance with the king's licence to them, as they paid 400*l.* to William de Northwell, keeper of the wardrobe, for the king's use, as may appear by an indenture made between the king and the merchants. By p.s. [12470.]

MEMBRANE 7.

Dec. 8. Langley. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent, or to his sub-escheator in co. Essex. Order not to intermeddle further with the custody of the bishopric of London, its manors or other possessions by reason of the death of Richard, the late bishop, but to permit the dean and chapter of St. Paul's London to have that custody, having first taken a simple seisin in the name of the king's royal lordship in one of the manors, without taking fealty from any tenant to the bishopric or taking anything therefrom, restoring the issues thereof the dean and chapter, saving the knights' fees and advowsons when they fall in and the custody of the lands and rents acquired after 19 December in the 11th year of the late king's reign, as on that day this late king granted to the dean and chapter by a fine that they should have that custody during voidances of the bishopric, with full administration of the temporalities and goods of the bishopric, saving the said fees and advowsons and escheats which should fall in, rendering 1,000*l.* for every entire year of a voidance and pro rata for parts of a year, so that no minister of the crown should intermeddle with that custody except to take a simple seisen as aforesaid.

Dec. 8. Langley. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to discharge Hugh Tyrel of the issues of the lands, forests and chases pertaining to the castles of Bulkedynas and Blenkeleveny from 2 October in the 7th year of the reign, notwithstanding that the commisssion of the custody of the castles to Gilbert Talbot makes no direct mention of the said lands, forests and chaces, as the king lately committed to Hugh the custody of the said castles, forests and chaces, to hold during pleasure, rendering yearly therefore as much as others who have held that custody, and afterwards the king granted those castles to Gilbert with the knights' fees and other appurtenances, to hold for life without rendering anything to the king, and on the said 2 October the king ordered Hugh to deliver those castles with all the things therein to Gilbert and subsequently at Hugh's suit showing that although the said lands etc. pertain to the castles and have done from time out of mind and he delivered them to Gilbert with the castles, yet the treasurer and barons intend to charge him with the said issues because express mention of these lands etc. is not contained in the order to Hugh, wherefore he besought the king to provide a remedy, and the king appointed Peter de Grandisono, Philip de Clanevowe, Adam Lucas and John de Mershton to take an inquisition upon the matter, by which it is found that the said lands, forests and chaces are appurtenant to those castles and have been from time out of mind, and that Hugh delivered them to Gilbert as appurtenant to the castles. By p.s. [12462.]

Order to release John Maz, Walter Mount, John Standard, Giles Stace, John Bast, Peter Ryquard, John Ryquard and Henry Ryquard, merchants of the town of Lombaerdzyde (Lumbardia) in Flanders to be released from prison without delay, as the king ordered the bailiffs to inform him upon the matter, and they returned that on Thursday after the Conception last a dispute arose at Lenn between Peter Levyn of Serice in Seland and John Maz and the others, on account of which Peter raised the hue upon them asserting that they were of Calais and the king's enemies, wherefore the bailiffs imprisoned them at Lenn; and afterwards at the suit of the merchants showing that they are of Lombaerdzyde and not of Calais, and beseeching the king to order their release, the king appointed John de Cokesford, mayor of Lenn, Geoffrey de Buseyerd and Thomas de Melcheburn, to take an inquisition upon the matter by the oath of Somerset, who have undertaken that Thomas and the others will pursue the attaint, and when it is determined they will render themselves to the Flete prison and satisfy the king and Peter for what pertains to them in the premises, and will further do and receive what the king's court shall determine, the king ordered the sheriff of Gloucester to supersede the taking of Thomas and the others by the said mainprise, pending the attaint, and now the king has learned from Thomas and the others that the justices do not permit that taking to be superseded because the record and process of the inquisition taken upon the matter and the mainprise were not received before them, wherefore Thomas and the others have besought the king to provide a remedy, the king orders the justices to take a new mainprise if necessary and cause the taking of Thomas and the others to be superseded according to the form of the order sent to the sheriff. Dec. 9. Langley. To the masters and mariners of ships of Bayonne at Sandwich and elsewhere in those parts. Request to prepare their ships for the king's service to be ready to set out with the ships of the Cinque Ports before Hilary next, or when they are warned by the admiral of the fleet towards the west, as William de Clynton, earl of Huntingdon, constable of Dover castle and warden of the Cinque Ports, has shown the king, that a conference being held with the barons of those ports according to the order of the keeper of the realm to prepare ships and to attack the king's enemies of France, it seemed that ships of the realm suitable for war should be made ready and assembled in a certain place, and that it would be dangerous if any ships went to any parts beyond for traffic before, and the king wishes the masters and mariners to be informed of the premises, although he has caused his intention in the matter to be shown before certain of their fellows at London, who appeared before the council.

Jan. 30. Kennington. To the treasurer and chamberlains. Whereas the king ordered John de Thyngden, receiver of his money and victuals at Perth, to account with Thomas Ughtred, late keeper of that town, for certain expenses incurred by him there, and to certify the king concerning such expenses [as at page 213 above], John has accounted with Thomas and has sent the rolls of that account in a little bag under his seal to chancery, as he has certified by his letters, the king sends the bag to the treasurer and chamberlains, ordering them to supervise and diligently examine the account, and if the account has been rightly rendered to pay Thomas what is found to be due to him.

alienated it without licence to one Reginald le Moigne in the time of Henry I for rendering 100*s.* yearly to the abbot, and because he found by inquisition of office that William de Gumecestr[ia], afterwards abbot there, re-acquired the manor of Berengar le Moigne, kinsman and heir of Reginald, who held it in chief of Henry III, without licence; and it has seemed to the council, before whom the certificate was seen and examined, that the aforesaid cause is insufficient.

Order to account with Geoffrey de Say for the time when he was admiral of the fleet from the mouth of the Thames towards the west, for his wages and those of ten men at arms, himself a banneret, and one knight, who went with him to array ships on the sea coast for that fleet, and the wages of himself and for twenty men at arms, himself a banneret and four knights and thirty archers, who remained at sea with the said fleet for the destruction of the king's enemies, at the customary wages of war, and to give him payment or an assignment for what they find to be due to him beyond the sums and victuals which have been delivered to him, provided that if the said sums and victuals exceed the wages, he shall answer for the excess.

Feb. 6. Kennington. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to account with Thomas de Bello Campo earl of Warwick or his deputy concerning sums received by William de Bello Campo, earl of Warwick, his grandfather, and Guy de Bello Campo, earl of Warwick his father, and to do what pertains to the final issue of that account, as lately at the suit of Thomas beseeching the king to order account to be made with him, as William and Guy, whose heir he is received divers sums of money as a prest of the wardrobe of Edward I and the late king and for divers other causes, upon their wages and expenses and for replacing their horses for the time when they were in the service of those kings, in Flanders, Gascony, Wales, Scotland, and elsewhere, which are now exacted of the earl by summons of the exchequer, the king ordered the treasurer and barons to audit that account after viewing the rolls and memoranda of the exchequer and the books of accounts and other evidences of John de Drokenesford, sometime keeper of the wardrobe of those kings and of other keepers, and further to do what pertained to the final issue of that account, and now the king is informed by the earl that they have delayed to proceed to do this because it did not appear at what times William and Guy were in the army of Edward I in Scotland or elsewhere, and the king has learned by the testimony of William de Beauchamp, John de Swyford and others in the present

By letter of the keeper.

Feb. 5. Kennington. To the same. Order to cause the arrears of the triennial tenth granted by the clergy, and the tenth last granted by them to be levied of John, bishop of Exeter, and to discharge him of wool touching him by reason of the grant of wool made at Westminster according to the ordinance made at Northampton in accordance with the grant of the clergy of the province of Canterbury in their convocation at St. Bride's church, London, on the morrow of St. Jerome in the 12th year of the reign, if they find upon viewing the rolls of account of the collectors of the tenth in that bishopric that the bishop paid the tenth for the second year at the terms of anticipation as the bishop has besought the king to grant him such discharge, as he was not present at Westminster or Northampton, and he has paid the triennial tenth at the terms of anticipation and is ready to pay the other tenth, and the king has considered that the wool of the bishopric is coarse and of small value. Feb. 6. Kennington. To the same. Order to account with Hugh Tyrel for the wages of forty archers on horse whom he was appointed to bring from co. Feb. 5. Kennington. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to go to the cemetery of the cathedral church of St. Peter, Exeter, survey the gates, posterns, doors and windows, by which men and women may enter the cemetery, and cause them to be blocked up and narrowed, in accordance with the grants made to them; as Edward I granted to the dean and chapter there that they should enclose the cemetery and its precinct with a stone wall, and should maintain it, making gates and posterns in necessary places, and that these should be open every day from dawn till night, and should be closed at night, because homicide, fornication and other evil deeds were frequently perpetrated at night in the cemetery and its precinct by the nocturnal incursion of robbers and other malefactors, and the community of the city and Edmund son of Richard king of Almain and earl of Cornwall, granted to the bishop, dean and chapter licence to enclose the cemetery and to make narrow windows towards the cemetery so that no one could enter or go out by them; and now the king is informed by the bishop, dean and chapter that several men of the city make walls, houses and buildings contiguous to the cemetery, having gates, posterns, doors and windows therein towards the cemetery so broad that both men and women frequently enter the cemetery thereby at night and perpetrate divers crimes to the disgrace of their church, whereupon they have besought the king to provide a remedy.

The king also granted that if the money of the petty custom did not amount to 891 marks 5*s.* 9¾*d.* yearly, then satisfaction should be made to the earl for what was lacking from the issues of the great custom in the port of London by the hands of the collectors there, and if the issues exceeded that sum, then answer should be made to the exchequer for the surplus as aforesaid, and now the earl has besought the king to order payment to be made to him of the said sum from the petty custom as it is levied, as he is incurring very heavy costs in the king's service. Order to cause what remains to be levied of that tenth and fifteenth to be levied of the rich and powerful men of that island as well as of the mean people there, according to the quantity of their goods, as the community of the island have shown the king that the collectors have assessed the tenth and fifteenth upon the mean and poor people who have little or nothing, sparing the rich and powerful, against the form of their commission directing them to levy the money of all the men of those parts according to the quantity of their moveable goods, sparing no one. Order to supersede the demand made upon Stephen Power for his account for the tenth and fifteenth from 7 October last, provided that he answer for the same before that date, if they find that he did not intermeddle with the levying thereof after that day, as the king lately appointed Stephen and William de Northo to receive the subsidy in co. Order to receive the account of Henry Gysors and Roger Maryns, collectors of the second year of the triennial tenth and fifteenth in co. Kent, by lathes and hundreds and not by towns, if they find upon examination of the rolls and memoranda of the exchequer that answer has been made in this manner previously from time out of mind, provided that the money for each year be not less than that levied according to the grant made at Nottingham, as the collectors have besought the king to provide a remedy, as answer is made in the county in all contributions in eyres of the justices and in other places and courts by lathes and hundreds and not by towns; and although the collectors are ready to render their account by lathes and hundreds, yet the treasurer and barons refuse to receive it unless they will account for the same touching each city, town and burgh in the county, because in the commission to them to collect the money it is provided that as much shall be levied for each year of the cities, boroughs and towns of the county as was levied in accordance with the grant made at Nottingham in the 10th year of the reign.

Whereas it was considered in a plea pending before the king in his court between him and Griffin de Cauntiton, archdeacon of Kermerdyn, concerning 22 acres of land called 'Lercedekeneslond' in Kermerdyn which Griffin claimed as the right of his archdeaconry, and which Mereduc ap Gourwared, sometime archdeacon of that place, demised to Owen ap Griffith then archdeacon of Cardigan for a term of fifteen years, which afterwards came into the hands of Edward I. by Owen's forfeiture, which plea was continued until the quinzaine of Michaelmas last, that the archdeacon should recover his seisin against the king, as appears by the tenor of the record and process of the suit, which the king caused to come before him in chancery, the king orders the chamberlain to discharge the prior and canons of Kermerdyn, to whom the king lately granted the said land with other 10 acres of land in the town of Kermerdyn, to hold for 20 years rendering 30*s.* yearly at the exchequer of Kermerdyn, of so much of the said 30*s.* as concerns the 22 acres aforesaid, from the said quinzaine of Michaelmas and henceforth, provided that they answer for the remainder of that sum from the said quinzaine until the end of the 20 years.

Feb. 20. Kennington. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Roger Corbet son and heir of Thomas Corbet, sometime sheriff of Salop and Stafford, has informed the king that whereas Thomas, when sheriff of Edward I in those counties, paid divers sums by writs under the great and privy seals to certain persons for wages and expenses, and although he showed the writs and indentures testifying payment of those sums before the treasurer and barons, to have allowance thereof, as may appear it is said by view of his account, which remains before the treasurer and barons in the exchequer, it is said, yet they have delayed to proceed to make allowance to Roger, because he did not show the writs and indentures, which are lost by mishap as he is prepared to prove before them in the exchequer, whereupon he has besought the king to provide a remedy: the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to cause Roger to have allowance for the said sums in his account if they find after viewing the rolls and memoranda touching the account that the writs and indentures viewed in the exchequer at another time have been amoved. April 30. Westminster. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to receive from the taxers and collectors of the triennial tenth and fifteenth in co. Southampton, the sums assessed by them upon the men of the community of the island of Haylyng for the second and third years, in accordance with the king's order, discharging the men and the collectors of any surplus, as at the suit of those men beseeching the king to have respect for their indigence, as they have incurred great labours and expenses for the defence of that island against the incursions of hostile galleys, beyond the sufficiency of their estate without receiving any subsidy from co. Southampton or elsewhere, during the whole time of the present war with France, and a great part of the island is entirely destroyed by an inundation of the sea, and several men who used to dwell there and support the charges with other men have withdrawn by reason of the said want and devastation, wherefore the men have not sufficient to pay their portion of the said tenth and fifteenth, the king ordered the said taxers and collectors to go to the island, to cause them to be assessed according to the quantity of their moveable goods in the said years, and to levy the tenth and fifteenth of them in accordance with that assessment.

Order to deliver to Thomas de Metham, William Malbys and William de Lound of Holdernesse the temporalities beyond Trent of the archbishopric of York, except those in the liberty of Exhamshire, together with the issues thereof, without delay, as although the king committed to the dean the custody of the temporalities of the archbishopric, void by the death of William de Melton, the late archbishop, to hold so long as they should remain in the king's hand, answering for the issues thereof at the exchequer, yet the king has committed the custody of the aforesaid temporalities beyond Trent to Thomas and the others by other letters patent, so that they shall answer for the issues thereof, and the king ordered the dean to deliver the said temporalities and issues to them, which he has not hitherto cared to do, but retains them in his custody. May 1. Westminster. To Nicholas Shirlok, keeper of the alnage. Order to permit merchants of Brabant to sell all their cloth now brought to the realm, without affixing the seal of his office because the king has granted with the assent of the council in the present parliament in consideration of the good deeds of those merchants and other men of Brabant to him, and for their assistance in his affairs in parts beyond the sea, that they shall so sell all their cloth, as they see fit. By K.

April 20. Westminster. To William de Ros. Order to attorn himself to William de la Pole as the lord of the manor of Skipse, if he be tenant thereof, and to answer to him for his services, as the king lately granted that manor and the bailiwick and hamlet of Newehithe to William de la Pole, and although William de Ros is tenant of the manor he has not cared to attorn himself to William or answer to him for the said services.

April 27. Westminster. To the abbot of St Mary's, York, collector in the archbishopric of York of the triennial tenth granted by the clergy. Order, upon sight of these presents, to deliver 200*l.* to Robert Tughale, chamberlain of Berwick in accordance with a previous order, so that for lack thereof the king may not have cause to cause the temporalities of the abbey to be taken into his hands, knowing that the king will impute to him any danger arising from the non-payment of that sum, and will punish him, as the king lately ordered him by writ of the exchequer to pay 200*l.* to Robert upon the wages of the men at arms staying in garrison at Berwick, receiving from Robert the tallies of the exchequer levied in the abbot's name, containing that sum, and although Robert has diligently sued for payment because several men in garrison at Berwick have withdrawn to other parts for lack of payment of their wages, and others propose to go shortly, yet the abbot has not hitherto cared to pay that sum to Robert.

May 1. Westminster. To the treasurer and chamberlains. Whereas the king is bound to Thomas Ughtred, late keeper of the town of St. John of Perth, Scotland, for the surplus of his account for receipts and expenses made by him until 16 August last, and for his own wages and those of knights, men at arms, hobelers, archers, fletchers, carpenters, smiths, and other workmen and for victuals bought by him of divers merchants for the munition of the town and for the wages of mariners in a galley and a barge of war for the custody of the town and the safe conduct of the victuals, in 2,258*l.* 13*s.* 1¼*d.* whereof 734*l.* 17*s.* 3¼*d.* are owing to divers merchants for victuals bought of them and to men at arms, hobelers and archers, by bills under Thomas's seal, 367*l.* 14*s.* 6*d.*, the names of whom Thomas has delivered at the receipt of the exchequer, and 1,156*l.* 0*s.* 11*d.* remain due to him, as appears by the certificate of the treasurer, barons and chamberlains sent into chancery, the king orders the treasurer and chamberlains to treat with the merchants and others when they come for payment concerning the sums due to them and the payment thereof, receiving bills or letters from them for the sums paid, and to inform the king in chancery of the names of those to whom sums are due, so that the king may cause letters obligatory to be made for them in due form. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to supersede the demand made upon Edmund de la Beche, clerk, for 200 marks, for which he made a recognisance in the late king's chancery, to the said king, to save his life, because he is of the quarrel of Thomas earl of Lancaster, and the late king sent the tenor of the recognisance to the exchequer, so that the 200 marks are now levied of Edmund for the king's use, and the king has caused the recognisance to be cancelled because it was agreed in parliament, at Westminster in the first year of the reign, that all fines, obligations, redemptions and recognisances made by those who were of the said quarrel, to save their lives or lands, by reason of the prosecution of Hugh le Despenser the elder and Hugh le Despenser the younger, should be annulled, because the quarrel was adjudged good and just and the judgments rendered against it were annulled as altogether erroneous.

May 23. The Tower. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Thomas de Castro Goderici, chamberlain of South Wales, has shown the king that whereas the king and the justice of South Wales and he who supplies his place by divers commissions, at the time when Thomas was chamberlain, made divers ministers and fermors of commotes and cantreds and other places in South Wales pertaining to the office of the chamber, and although several of these, of whose names Thomas has informed them, as he says, do not answer to him because they do not hold their commissions by him or with his assent, and he cannot levy issues of them or ferms, although he has applied all diligence to this, yet the treasurer and barons exact those issues and ferms of him; the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to call before them those named by Thomas, and if they find from them or by inquisition or otherwise that the said custodies are held as he says and that those who hold such commissions have received the issues and ferms and have not answered to him therefor, and that he has not levied them of them for the causes aforesaid, then to discharge Thomas of the said issues and ferms provided that those who ought to be charged therewith answer for the same. By p.s. [13106.]

May 18. Westminster. To John de Stonore and his fellows, justices of the Bench. Whereas, as the king has learned, a former abbot of Woburn impleaded in the court of Edward I, before Thomas de Weyland and his fellows, justices of the Bench, in the 7th year of the reign, one John de Braybrok to acquit the abbot of a service which Edward I exacted of him of the free tenement which he held of John in Swanbourn, whereof John, who was mean between the king and abbot, ought to acquit the abbot as he said, and John acknowledged in the court that he ought to acquit the abbot of a boll of honey yearly, of 5 hides of land in Swanebourn which the abbot held of him in frank almoin, but by default of John's acquittance he was never distrained and he is ready to verify this by the country, and by inquisition of the country in which John placed himself it was found that the abbot was distrained for default of John's acquittance to damage of 20 marks, wherefore it was considered that the abbot should recover his damages against John, and that John should be distrained to acquit the abbot of the said honey towards the king; and lately at the suit of the present abbot showing that he was distrained for the said service by John de Molyns, to whom the king granted the manor of Brehull, to which the service pertains, for default of Gerard son of Gerard de Braybrok, John's kinsman and heir, the king caused the record and process held upon the premises to come before him in chancery and sent them to the justices for execution, and ordered the sheriff of Buckingham by writ de judicio to cause Gerard to be before the justices on a certain day now past to show cause why he, as John's heir, should not acquit the abbot of that service; and now the abbot has shown the king that Gerard, contriving to impede the process before the justices, has procured a writ of error concerning the said record and process, so that the king should send them before the justices to be corrected, pending the suit of the abbot for executing the judgment rendered before Thomas and his fellows, to impede the abbot from that suit, wherefore the justices have delayed to proceed in the suit begun before them upon the said writ of scire facias; and because it is neither just nor reasonable that the plea by writ of scire facias should be delayed by reason of the writ for correcting an error before the said plea has been discussed or determined before the justices, having consideration that judgment was rendered before Thomas and his fellows in the time of Edward II and that errors were not claimed by John, Gerard and Gerard before the impetration of the writ of scire facias was pursued, to impede the suit, by Gerard's cunning; the king orders the justices to view the record and process held before Thomas and his fellows and those held before themselves and the writ for correcting an error, and if they find that the writ was impetrated pending the abbot's suit, then to proceed in the plea begun before them until the final discussion of the same and to render justice to the parties according to the law and custom of the realm, notwithstanding the order to send the record and process before the king. May 20. Westminster. To the justices of the Bench. John bishop of Exeter has shown the king that whereas Adam de Helygan impleads him, Thomas de Stapeldon and others contained in the writ of quare impedit, that they shall permit him to present a parson to Malynyet church, and the bishop has asserted that he claims nothing in the advowson except as ordinary of the place, wherefore he is not bound to answer the writ, and the justices, because Adam pretended that the bishop prevented him from presenting and was ready to verify this, adjudged the bishop to the verification although he alleged that he ought not to answer to such general verification without Adam showing in special in what he was to answer; and although the bishop requested them to cause his plea to be enrolled or a bill thereon to be sealed according to the statute and delivered to him, yet they refused this but ordered the continuation of the process upon the premises by writ de judicio to the sheriff of Cornwall to cause the jurors of the county to come before them for such verification, which is taken contrary to the law and custom of the realm, wherefore the bishop has besought the king by his petition before the king and his council in parliament to provide a remedy; and because it was declared in the parliament held at Westminster on the octaves of Hilary last, by the justices and other lieges, in the presence of the prelates, earls, barons and other magnates of the realm, that no bishop is bound to answer to a general impediment in a writ of quare impedit in any case when he claims nothing in an advowson except as ordinary of the place, the king orders the justices to view the record and process held upon the premises and if they contain that the bishop claims nothing in the advowson except as ordinary of the place and was placed to answer and plead to a general impediment, or that no certain or special impediment is imposed upon him in the matter, then to supersede taking further process against him and the taking of the inquisition upon the premises. By pet. of C.

May 12. Westminster. To the sheriff of Essex. Order to cause 20 good oaks fit for timber in the park of Haveryng atte Boure to be cut down and sawn by the supervision of the keeper of that park and according to the ordinance of Master William de Hurle, the king's carpenter, and to cause them to be taken from the park to the Tower of London for the repair of certain buildings there. By p.s. [13053.]

May 15. Westminster. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer and to the chamberlains. Whereas on 20 September in the 12th year of the reign the king ordered the collectors of customs in the part of London to permit Anthony Bache of Lombardy to take 100 sacks of wool to his own parts without paying the custom and subsidy thereon [as in this Calendar 12 Edward III, page 499], and afterwards John archbishop of Canterbury testified before the king that the king, at the request of Nicholas Usus Maris, constable of Bordeaux, granted that Anthony or his attorneys should buy 200 sacks of wool in the realm, lade them in ports where he should choose and take them to parts beyond, paying 40*s*. a sack for the custom and subsidy, the king, not wishing Anthony to be charged with the said 200*l*. beyond the 400*l*. on the said 200 sacks, orders the treasurer, barons and chamberlains to receive the said 400*l*. and to supersede the demand made on Anthony for the 200*l*. of the increment of the custom and subsidy aforesaid, and to discharge him and the said collectors thereof at the exchequer. the other lands which Robert de Scorburgh held in Staynfordbrigg and of 2 bovates of land in Raventhorp near Northburton, and of a messuge and 2 bovates of land in Etton near Northburton, as it was lately found by inquisition taken by Robert de Scardeburgh and William Basset that Robert de Scorburgh gave by divers charters, to William and Roger, his sons, the said manor and all his other lands in Staynfordbrigg and the bovates and messuage; and afterwards the king learned by inquisition of office taken by Thomas de Metham, escheator beyond Trent, and by the assertion of certain lieges, that Robert was seised at his death in his demesne as of fee of the said manor and lands, and that Thomas his son and heir is an idiot from birth, wherefore the custody of the manor and lands ought to pertain to the king, and the king sent the inquisition taken before him by Robert and William to be discussed, and committed the custody of the premises to Wolfard at his request, to hold so long as the manor and lands should be in the king's hands, or until the matter had been discussed before the king, so that he should answer for the issues thereof at the exchequer if they ought to pertain to the king. April 28. Westminster. To the prior of St. Swythin's, collector in the diocese of Winchester of the triennial tenth granted by the clergy of the province of Canterbury. Order to cause the rectors of the churches of Holy Rood, St. Michael and All Saints, Southampton, and the prior of St. Denys near Southampton to have respite until the quinzaine of Michaelmas next for the sums touching the tenth of their churches and pensions, as they have besought the king to discharge them of the tenth as the houses and buildings in the bounds of the parishes were burnt with the churches by certain pirates who invaded the town, and the fruits or issues, except obventions and oblations, which were wont to be brought by the parishioners of the churches in the said houses and buildings, do not pertain to them, and the obventions and oblations cannot suffice for the maintenance of the priest of each of the churches or for paying the pensions due thereof or for sustaining other charges, from the time of the said burning. Proviso that they shall satisfy the king for the tenth due before the said burning. By C. in parliament.

April 21. Westminster. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to discharge the master and brethren of the hospital of St. Leonard, York, and the provost and chaplains of the church of St. Andrew, Cotherstok, of the tenth touching them by reason of their ecclesiastical goods, as on 24 June in the 12th year of the reign the king granted to them by a fine which John Giffard, his clerk, made with him, that they should be quit of all tenths imposed on the clergy, and John has besought the king to discharge them of the triennial tenth now granted, and John made fine with the king by 40 marks and 20 sacks of wool in aid of the king's expenses to obtain this immunity, for the master, brethren and others for ever, and delivered 100 quarters of wheat and 100 brace (cas') of sheep to the king on loan, which are appraised at 25 marks, and he has pardoned the king the said 25 marks, so that the king wishes to grant his supplication.

May 16. The Tower To the collectors of customs in the port of Bishops Lynn. Whereas the king ordered them to permit the attorneys of Ralph de Redynghou, John de Calstris, Walter Coveleghe, Walter Rolant and John Tues, merchants of Lovayn to take 56 sarplars of wool from that port to Andewerp, without paying the custom and subsidy [as at page 394 above], and now the king has learned that the collectors do not permit the attorneys to take the wool without paying the custom and subsidy because the king granted all the customs and subsidies in that port and in other ports of the realm to certain merchants of Almain, by agreement with them, until they should be satisfied for certain sums lent by them to the king, saving to the king the passage of 1,000 sacks of wool to parts beyond the sea, without paying the custom and subsidy thereon, as may appear by an indenture made thereupon; the king therefore orders the collectors, that if the 56 sarplars are not yet taken from the port, they shall permit them to be taken according to the tenor of the previous order, receiving from the attorneys their letters patent testifying the passage and the number of sacks and stones of wool, and they shall restore to the attorneys anything which they have taken from them for the custody and subsidy. May 5. Westminster. To the sheriff of Salop. Order to cause a regardor for the forest of Morf and Shirelet to be elected in place of Hugh le Harper, who is so weak that he cannot travail to exercise the duties of the office.

May 18. Westminster. To Ralph de Middelneye, escheator in cos. Somerset, Dorset, Cornwall and Devon. Order not to intermeddle further with a moiety of the manor of Brene, co. Somerset, restoring the issues thereof to Eleanor, late the wife of James le Botiller, earl of Ormound, as the king has learnt by inquisition taken by the escheator that Cicely de la Haye, at her death, held no lands in her demesne as of fee, but that she held the said moiety for life with remainder to James and Eleanor and the heirs of their bodies, and then to the right heirs of James, and that the moiety is held of Peter de Grandissono by the service of rendering ½*d.* at Michaelmas yearly, and by part of a fine levied thereupon in the king's court and shown before him in chancery, it appears that the moiety ought to remain to Eleanor.

May 18. Westminster. To Thomas de Castro Goderici, chamberlain of South Wales. Order to pay to Edmund Hakelut the arrears of his wages for the custody of Dynevor castle and to pay such wages henceforth, as on 4th December in the 4th year of the reign the king committed that custody to him to hold for life, receiving such wages as he who previously held that custody.

May 9. Westminster. To Ralph de Middelneye, escheator in cos. Somerset, Dorset, Cornwall and Devon. Order to deliver to Eleanor late the wife of James le Botiller, earl of Ormound, the manor of Belueton, saving her fealty to the king, as she and James by a fine levied in the king's court, acknowledged that the manor, with others, was the right of James Laules, who granted that the manor, which Cicely de la Haye held for life of the earl's inheritance with reversion to James, should remain to the earl and Eleanor and the heirs of their bodies and in default, to the earl's right heirs, as appears by a part of the said fine shown before the king in chancery; and now Eleanor has besought the king to cause the manor to be restored to her as she and the earl acquired the manor, which is held in chief, as is found by the inquisition post mortem of Cicely, without licence, and the manor is taken into the king's hand, and the king has pardoned the said trespass and granted that Eleanor shall hold the manor for life with remainder to the earl's heirs.

April 24. Westminster. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order to cause John de Wodhull, son and heir of John de Wodhull, tenant in chief, to have seisin of all the lands of which his father was seised at his death in his demesne as of fee, because he has proved his age before the escheator and the king has taken his homage. By p.s. [12984.]

April 29. Westminster. To Thomas de Hethe. Order to permit Richard Spigurnel, the king's serjeant, to have a third part of a third part of the manor of Totenham, which belonged to Robert de Bruge and came into the late king's hands by forfeiture, and not to intermeddle further therewith, restoring the issues thereof to Richard without delay, as lately at Thomas's suit, showing the king granted to him that all the lands which belonged to Robert in Totenham and which escheated to the king by Robert's forfeiture, and which Walter de Shobbedon holds for life by the king's grant, with reversion of the lands held in dower, on 1 March last, to hold for life, yet the king has learned from Richard that Thomas has amoved him by a false suggestion from that third part, which the king granted to Richard on 12 October in the 5th year of the reign, for his good service to the king, his father and grandfather in chancery, to hold for life, and also granted on 7 July in the 9th year of the reign to him to hold for himself and his heirs for ever, whereupon Richard has besought the king to order the third part to be restored to him. By p.s.

May 15. Westminster. To the collectors of the custom of wool, hides and wool-fells in the port of London. Order to permit Robert de Shirbourn to lade 46 sacks of wool in that port and take them to Bruges in Flanders as part of the passage of 1,000 sacks reserved to the king in the grant to certain merchants of Almain of the custom and subsidies in all the ports of England, until they are satisfied for the debts in which the king is bound to them, if they find he has not yet laded them; as before that grant, in allowance for 160*l.* which William de Dalton, the king's clerk and Robert lent to the king in parts beyond the sea, the king ordered the collectors to permit Robert to lade 46 sacks in that port and ordered the collectors of customs in the port of Kyngeston upon Hull to permit William to lade 114 sacks in that port and take them to parts beyond the sea, quit of the custom and subsidy, and William and Robert are prevented from lading that wool by pretext of the said grant. By p.s. [13086.]

May 13. Westminster. The like to the collectors in the port of Kyngeston upon Hull for William de Dalton for 114 sacks of wool. By the same writ.

Whereas the king ordered them to permit Hugh de Gebennis and Arnald de Aldyngham or their attorneys to take 100 and 109 sacks of wool respectively to parts beyond the sea quit of the custom and subsidy and Hugh and Arnald are prevented from lading the wool by pretext of the grant to the merchants of Almain, as the king has learned, the king orders the collectors to permit Hugh and Arnald to take that wool to Bruges in Flanders without paying the custom and subsidy, as part of the passage of 1,000 sacks reserved to the king. May 13. Westminster. To the same. Like order in favour of Anthony Bache, the king's merchant, for 377 sacks as for 450*l.* which he lent to the king in parts beyond the sea, the king ordered the collectors to permit him to lade 450 sacks of wool in that port and take them to parts beyond the sea, quit of the custom and subsidy, and 377 sacks thereof remain to be laded, as he had been impeded from lading them and taking them to Bruges in Flanders by reason of the grant to Conrad Clippyng and certain other merchants of Almain. Southampton, being in the hands of aliens, and of the hundreds of Estmedine and Westmedine, the manors of la Penne, Newenton and Thorueye in that Island and of Cosham, co. May 15. Westminster. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to allow to the abbot and convent of Rameseye 100*l.* in their portion of the tenths granted by the clergy after the triennial tenth and in other subsidies granted in the present parliament, as they lent the king 100*l.* for the sums which he will expend on the war in parts beyond the sea, by the hands of Master William la Zousch, dean of St. Peter's, York, late the treasurer, and the king granted that they should have such allowance.

May 22. Westminster. To William Trussel, escheator this side Trent. Order to deliver to Margaret late the wife of Thomas of Borhunt, the manor of Benham, co. Berks, and a messuage, mill, 78 acres of land, 40 acres of wood and 17*s.* 6*d.* rent in Little Weldon and Rokyngham, together with the issues thereof, as the king has learned by inquisition taken by the escheator that Thomas held the premises at his death as of the right of Margaret, and that the manor is held of the king by the service of finding an armed horseman for war in England for 40 days, at his own cost, and the messuage, mill, lands, wood and rent are held of the king by the service of keeping 15 of the king's buckhounds for 40 days in Lent, at his own cost, to wit ½*d.* a day for each dog and 1½*d.* a day for a berner for keeping the dogs, and after the expiration of the 40 days, at the king's cost, receiving for the dogs as above and for the wages 12*d.* daily and his robes, as the king's other serjeants of the same condition ceceive them, and for a veutrer 2*d.* a day and his robes yearly and for two berners 3*d.* a day and robes and for a 'caceken' 1*d.* a day; and the king has taken Margaret's homage. May 1. Westminster. To the sheriff of Cambridge. Whereas a statute made in the present parliament contains that no commission shall be made to keepers of the king's horses for making provision for the horses, by the king, the sheriff or others, but that the sheriffs shall make these provisions both for horses and dogs by themselves, of the issues of their bailiwick, and that the country shall not be charged with more than one groom for each of the said horses, and if several grooms are found staying with the horses, they shall be taken to the next gaol and shall stay there until further orders, so that the horses, dogs and grooms live of their own certain thing and that the country shall not be not charged beyond this, and if anyone feels himself aggrieved contrary to the statute, he shall have to recover his own against the sheriffs; the king therefore orders the sheriff to cause provision to be made for the Order to pay to William marquis of Juliers, earl of Cambridge, or to his attorneys, all the money of that tenth, by indenture, in part satisfaction of 30,000*l.* in which the king is bound to him for fees and wages, notwithstanding any order to the contrary, as the king granted that the marquis should have all the money of the ninth of wool, lambs and sheaves and the ninth and the fifteenth and the said tenths granted in cos. May 30. Westminster. To the collectors of customs in the port of Sandwich. Whereas the prelates, earls, barons and community of the realm, in consideration of the ninth of sheaves, wool and lambs granted in the last parliament at Westminster, sought from the king the revocation of the subsidy on wool taken out of the realm, beyond the ancient custom, and in consideration of the king's great expenses for the defence of the realm and the recovery of the rights of his crown, they granted the king 40*s.* a sack on wool taken out of the realm until Whitsuntide next and Whitsuntide following, so that the exaction of any thing beyond this should cease from that time; and now the king has learned from John de Kiryel that although he is prepared to pay 40*s.* a sack on his wool laded in that port to be taken across the sea, yet the collectors prevent him from taking it from the port before he has found security to them to pay other 40*s.* to the king in parts beyond the sea, by reason of an order of the king, directing the collectors to take such security; the king therefore orders the collectors to receive the 40*s.* a sack from John on his wool taken out of that port and to supersede the demand made upon him to find security as aforesaid, permitting him to take his wool, on which he has paid the 40*s.* a sack, to the said parts. MEMBRANE 14.

May 22. Westminster. To the justices of the Bench. Whereas Geoffrey son of William de Staunton impleads before them John de Staunton of Eyleston, knight, and Amy his wife concerning 15 bovates of land in Eyleston, and the process being continued before them, Amy appearing after the taking of the land into the king's hand by John's default, on the quinzaine of Michaelmas last, and asserting that the land is her right and seeking to defend her right, is admitted for this by the justices, because she came to be admitted before judgment, and she further called John to warranty against Geoffrey in this plea and to this Geoffrey said that John ought not to be admitted because he is Amy's husband, unless he show the court why she should call her husband to warranty; and Amy alleged that he was alone seised of the land and afterwards a fine was levied in the late king's court on the octaves of Hilary in the 16th year of the reign, between John and Amy, demandants, and Thomas de Crauthorn, deforciant, before William de Bereford and his fellows, then justices of the Bench, by which fine John acknowledged that the tenements were the right of Thomas as those which he had of John's gift, and for that acknowledgment Thomas granted the tenements to John and Amy, showing part of this fine before the justices, asserting that Amy called John to warranty concerning the state which he held before the said fine; and Geoffrey said that Amy ought not to be admitted to call John because Thomas ought to have had the tenements of John's gift before the fine, since Thomas never had any estate in the tenements and he offered to verify this, seeking judgment if she were admitted to call to such warranty, and Amy asserted in reply that she ought not to be excluded from this because she alleged that the seisin of John was not deducted before the levying of the fine for Geoffrey and from which Geoffrey made her tenant of the tenements of his writ together with her husband, which has to be understood as a change of possession from John to Thomas, and Thomas rendered the land to John and Amy in the form aforesaid; and Amy seeks judgment if she ought not to be admitted to call John; and Geoffrey said that there was no cause why Amy ought to have that call, because Thomas ought to have held the land of John's gift before the fine, and he pretended to verify that Thomas never had any thing in the land, which verification Amy refused to admit, seeking judgment to be admitted to that call and she alleged that she ought not to be excluded from the call by the verification against what she alleged above, which is not contravened by Geoffrey and she sought judgment, protesting further that if the court thinks it necessary for her to answer, she is ready to do so; wherefore a day was given to the parties before the justices upon the premises, fifteen days from Hilary last, and further for excuse of Amy to the quinzaine of Trinity next, and Geoffrey besought the king by his petition before him and his council in the last parliament at Westminster, that when the transcript of the record and process of the said plea is read and examined before the council, the king will order justice to be done on the said quinzaine by advice of the council, according to the form of the force and effect of the plea, without further prorogation, and the affair being brought before the council with no small difficulty, it seemed to them that by the law of the land Geoffrey, who is strange to the said fine, should be admitted to the verification which he claims because he is not amoved therefrom by statute or by other law, wherefore the court ought to proceed to render judgment as the parties plead and stay in judgment, and also for the words above in the record where Amy says that if the court thinks it necessary for her to answer she is ready to do so, it is agreed by the council that she cannot come to another answer by the law of the land nor save any answer by her protest from the time when the parties are staying in judgment; the king therefore orders the justices to view the record and process, the transcript of the petition and endorsement thereof and the tenor of the record and process aforesaid which the king caused to come before him in chancery, and which he sends to them under the half seal, and to proceed to render judgment in that plea without delay according to the agreement and advice aforesaid, notwithstanding the said protest.

By pet. of parliament.

May 26. Westminster. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to allow 24*l.* 11*s.* 8*d.* to the executors of the will of Stephen le Blount, the king's clerk, in the account which they are bound to render for him, as the king ordered Stephen to deliver certain victuals to William de Radenor, yeoman of Oliver de Ingham, seneschal of Gascony, by indenture [as at page 187 above] and Stephen delivered 24*l.* 11*s.* 8*d.* for 500 quarters of wheat and 100 quarters of beans and peas, purveyed by him and sold to William, as may appear by part of an indenture under William's seal, which he acknowledged in chancery, which is in the possession of the executors.

June 2. Westminster. To the treasurer and chamberlains. Order to pay to Ralph de Ferariis 49*l.* in which the king is bound to him for his wages of war and those of the men at arms retained by him in the company of William de Monte Acuto, earl of Salisbury, upon the safe custody of the march of Scotland and for the siege of Dunbarre castle between 1 March in the 11th year of the reign and 6 June following, as may appear, he says, by a bill in his possession under the seal of Edmund de la Beche, late keeper of the wardrobe; and the king granted that he should buy 24½ sacks of wool in the realm and take them from the port of Boston to the staple at Andewerp and that 40*s.* a sack for the custom and subsidy should be allowed to him in full payment of the aforesaid debt, and the king ordered the collectors of customs in that port to cause him to have such allowance, and he has surrendered the writ sealed with wax, to chancery to be cancelled, beseeching the king to order payment to be made to him as he cannot have such allowance because there is an assignment of the custom and subsidy to certain merchants of Almain.

Order to amove the king's hand from a place and land of Steynton upon Blakhommor, and not to intermeddle further therewith, restoring the issues thereof to the prior of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem in England, as the escheator returned that he had not taken the prior's manor of Steynton in Blakhoumor into the king's hand, but that John Moryn, late escheator beyond Trent, at the time of his substitution in the office, delivered the manor of Steynton, co. York, to him, asserting that it was in the king's hand because it was found by inquisition of office that Stephen, sometime king of England, gave the manor to the master of the Temple in England, to find a chaplain there to celebrate divine service daily and to receive and entertain poor guests and pilgrims there and to ring and blow the horn (cornand) every night at dusk lest pilgrims and strangers should lose their way there, for the souls of the kings of England, which chantry and alms the master and brethren of the Hospital have withdrawn, wherefore the manor is in the Whereas because William de la Pole lately agreed to lend 300 sacks of wool to the king in parts beyond the sea for his most urgent affairs, which wool the king wishes to be sent as his own from the ports of London, Kyngeston upon Hull and Ipswich, with all possible speed, the king ordered the collectors of customs in those ports by divers writs to permit William to take the wool from those ports quit of the custom and subsidy, to Bruges, to do there what should be ordained between the council and him, and that he should be charged with 40*s.* a sack in part payment of the debts in which the king is bound to him; and now the king has learned that Robert has arrested the said wool, which William caused to be taken to Flanders, for paying 40*s.* a sack for the king's use, by reason of his commission to receive such subsidy on wool taken to the said parts, wherefore William cannot do his pleasure with the wool or pay the king the money which he promised to lend to him; the king therefore orders Robert to dearrest the wool without delay and to supersede the demand made upon William for 40*s.* a sack, and to permit William to do his pleasure with the wool so that he may be able to pay the king the sums which he has promised to lend to him. the wool from the collectors of customs in the said port, took it to the said parts and delivered it to William as may appear, they say, by William's letters patent in their possession, testifying to the livery. By K. and C.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to charge and discharge each of the societies of the Bardi and Peruzzi by itself in the accounts which the merchants of the societies render for sums and things lent by them to the king and delivered to them by the king, as they have agreed among themselves, as they have begun to render their accounts together for such sums. By K. and C.

To the same. Whereas the king granted that the merchants of the said societies should take 5,000 and 3,000 sacks of wool respectively to parts beyond the sea, charged with the custom and subsidy thereon in part satisfaction of the sums lent by them to the king, and the king ordered the collectors of the custom of wool, hides and wool-fells in divers ports of the realm to permit the merchants to take the wool quit of the custom and subsidy, and although certain of the orders contain that the merchants shall be charged with 60*s*. a sack, yet because it is agreed by the king and his council at Ipswich that the merchants shall be charged with 40*s*. a sack and no more, the king orders the treasurer and barons to account with the merchants for the said custom and subsidy at 40*s*. the sack, causing them to be charged as aforesaid, and to supersede the demand made upon them for anything beyond in the name of custom and subsidy, discharging thereof the said merchants and the collectors of customs. By K. and C.

To the same. Like order with respect to 2,000 sacks which the king granted that the merchants should take to parts beyond the sea, 40*s*. a sack being allowed to them for the custom and subsidy, in part satisfaction of the debts in which the king is bound to them. By K. and C.

June 15. Ipswich. To the same. Boniface de Peruch[iis], John Baroncelli and their fellows, merchants of the society of the Peruzzi, coming to the king, have complained that the treasurer and barons delay to allow them the sums which they paid for the king's affairs at divers times, and because the king has caused the particulars of the sums, drawn up in an indented schedule and exhibited before the council, to be fully examined, he wishes such allowance to be made and orders the treasurer and barons to view the said indented schedule, part whereof the king sends to them enclosed with these presents, and to cause the merchants to have allowance for the sums contained therein with all possible speed, so that they may not have cause to withdraw their service, which is most useful in the king's present need.
By K. and C.

The like to the same for Philip Bard, Peter Byne and their fellows, merchants of the society of the Bardi.

Memorandum that the other parts of the indentures are on the files in chancery among the writs of this year.

June 16. Ipswich. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to supersede the demand made on John Baroncelli, Thomas de Peruch[iis] and their fellows, merchants of the society of the Peruzzi for custom and subsidy on 50 sacks of wool, which they paid to the merchants of the society of the Bardi for the king, and to discharge thereof the said merchants and the collectors of customs in the ports of Southampton and Bristol, as the said merchants of the Peruzzi undertook before the council at Westminster, before the king's passage to parts beyond the sea, to pay 1,000*l*. to the merchants of the Bardi for the 1,000*l.* which the Bardi promised to pay as wages to the mariners and others at sea in the king's galleys, so that the Peruzzi might lade 430 sacks of wool in the port of Southampton and 70 sacks in the port of Bristol, taking them thence to their own parts, so that 1,000*l.* should be allowed to them of the custom and subsidy on that wool, and because the merchants of the Peruzzi paid the 1,000*l.* to the merchants of the Bardi, the king ordered the collectors of customs in the port of Southampton to permit the merchants of the Peruzzi to take 430 sacks from that port to parts beyond the sea, quit of the custom and subsidy, and the merchants laded 125 sacks 24 cloves of that wool in that port and caused it to be taken to their own parts, as is found by the certificate of Henry le Flemyng and Robert atte Barre, late collectors there, and the king ordered the collectors of customs in the port of Bristol to permit those merchants to take the remaining 304 sacks 28 cloves of wool from that port, without paying the custom and subsidy thereon. By K. and C.

June 21. Shotley. To the treasurer and chamberlains. Order to pay to Peter Scandaleme or to his attorney 60*l.* which the king received from him on loan by the hands of Master William la Zousch, dean of St. Peter's church, York, late the treasurer, for his affairs, which sum the king promised to pay him at the Purification and Easter last, without further delay. MEMBRANE 9.

May 25. Westminster. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Hugh de Ulseby, late the king's butler, has besought the king to provide a remedy, as he accounted at the exchequer for all the time when he was butler, to wit between 24 February in the 13th year of the reign until 6 January following, and 901*l.* 7*s.* 11*d.* are due to him in the fine of the account, and he owes the king 60 tuns 14 sesters and a pitcher (picheram) of old wine by that account, which were in his custody from 6 January last until 6 May last, when he delivered 42 tuns thereof to Reymund Seguyn the present butler, by the king's order and by indenture, and the residue thereof is still in Hugh's possession, and although he offered before the treasurer and barons to render his account for the said wine and required them to cause due allowance for the 42 tuns and for his costs on the 60 tuns, 14 sesters and the pitcher, to be made to him therein yet they have hitherto delayed to audit his account, the king therefore orders them to view his account and the king's said order, and the indenture, and if they find that 901*l.* 7*s.* 11*d.* are due to Hugh and the said wine is due to the king and that Hugh delivered 42 tuns to Reymund as aforesaid, then to audit Hugh's account for the 60 tuns etc. of wine from 6 January to 6 May and for his costs thereupon and to allow the 42 tuns to him and his costs thereupon, and to cause the remainder of the wine to be sold and the price to be deducted from the 901*l.* 7*s.* 11*d.* and to discharge Hugh thereof, certifying to the king in chancery of what is over of that sum. By C.

June 16. Ipswich. To the collectors of customs in the port of Boston. Order to permit Henry de Muddepenyng, Alvinus de Revele and their fellows, merchants of Almain or their attorneys, to lade 1,186 sacks of wool of 3,386 sacks, in the port of Boston, and to take them to Bruges in Flanders without paying the custom and subsidy thereon, as the king granted those merchants all the customs and subsidies in all the ports of the realm of England, and also granted that they should take 3,386 sacks to parts beyond the sea quit of the custom and subsidy, as is contained in an indenture made between the king and the merchants, because they satisfied the king for the said custom and subsidy in parts beyond the sea, in his great need. By C.

The like to the following, to wit:—

June 21. Shotley. The collectors of customs in the port of Ipswich for 100 sacks. By C.

The collectors of the custom of wool, hides and wool-fells in the port of London for 1,400 sacks. By C.

June 22. Shotley. The collectors of the customs in the port of Kyngeston upon Hull for 700 sacks, in full satisfaction of the 3,386 sacks.*

May 6. Westminster. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Whereas it was agreed between William Trussel and Thomas de Blaston, sent to Great Yarmouth with power to incite the bailiffs and men of that town to treat with them upon the progress of the shipping of the town upon the sea against hostile invasions, and the said bailiffs and men, that if the latter should cause the shipping to set out well prepared for war to stay at sea for a month at their expense, beginning from Thursday after Martinmas last, doing all possible harm to the king's enemies, that henceforth the king would pardon them 200*l.* which they are bound to pay of the triennial tenth and fifteenth lately granted for terms of payment then past, as is contained in an indenture between them and William and Thomas; and although the king was in great need of money for his affairs, he pardoned them the 200*l.* according to the agreement, on 6 November in the 12th year of the reign, and now he has learned from the bailiffs and men that the taxers and collectors of the tenth and fifteenth in that county intend to levy the 200*l.* of them, because the term of payment of that sum was not completed before 6 November, and refuse to allow the king's said letters of pardon, whereupon the bailiffs and men have besought the king to provide a remedy; the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to cause 200*l.* to be allowed to the mayor and bailiffs and to supersede the demand for that sum made upon the taxers and collectors, if the conditions aforesaid have been fulfilled. By C.

July 4. Waltham Holy Cross. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer and to the chamberlains. Order to deliver to Hugh de Ulseby, late the king's butler, an assignment upon the subsidy of the biennial ninth of sheaves, lambs and fleeces of the second year for 838*l.* 2*s.* 4½*d.* in which the king is bound to him for the surplus of his account for the time when he was butler, as is found by the certificate of the treasurer and barons sent into chancery by the king's order, as the king wishes him to be satisfied by reason of his good service in that office on either side of the sea. By p.s.

Vacated because it was surrendered and he has another assignment for that sum of the issues of the customs in the ports of Boston and Kyngeston upon Hull, as appears on the Patent Roll of this year in the month of September.

June 21. Shotley. To the collectors in co. Southampton of the subsidy of the ninth of sheaves, lambs, and fleeces, and of the ninth and fifteenth granted by the community of the realm of England. Order to supersede the demand made upon the countess of Ulster for such subsidy by reason of the lands of the abbess of Caen in Normandy and of the abbess of Fontevrault, in her hands by the king's commission, as the king committed to her the custody of the manor of Grove and of other lands of the abbess of Fontevrault and to her and to Henry de la Dale, clerk, the custody of the possessions of the abbess of Caen, an alien, in England, which are in the king's hand by reason of the war with France to hold for so long as they should remain in the king's hand, to wit the manor and lands of the abbess of Fontrevault to the value of 77*l.* 15*s.* and the lands of the abbess of Caen to the value of 200*l.* yearly, in part payment of 300*l.* in which the king was bound to the countess yearly for certain of her manors and lands in Ireland assigned to her as dower after the death of William de Burgo, earl of Ulster, her husband, and afterwards taken by the king, and for the maintenance of Elizabeth, William's daughter and heir, a minor in the king's wardship and for other causes, and now the king has learned from the countess that the collectors intend to levy the subsidy of the said lands, and it is not just that the countess should be charged by reason of the said lands, as the proctors of the abbesses ought not to be charged therewith while the lands are in the king's hands. By C.

The like to the sheriffs of Norfolk, Essex, Buckingham, Bedford, Gloucester, Wilts and Dorset.

June 10. Ipswich. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to discharge William de Cusanc[ia], the king's clerk, of certain accounts which are exacted of him by reason of the custody of the lands which belonged to John de Eltham, earl of Cornwall, or of the sale of the earl's goods and chattels, as after the earl's death the king committed that custody to William, to hold for a certain time, and appointed him to sell the said goods to pay the earl's debts and his funeral expenses, together with the issues of the lands, and William accounted for the issues and goods before certain persons whom the king appointed to audit his account, as may appear by an indenture made thereon between him and the auditors, and the king caused letters of acquittance to be made for William under the great seal, and now the king has learned from William that he is demanded before the treasurer and barons for divers parcels touching the said account. By p.s. [13178.]

May 29. Westminster. To the mayor and bailiffs of Lenn. Order to direct Robert Rubet, Walter Berd and Roger de Buttele, of Lenn, owners and masters of certain ships of that town, to cause the ships to be prepared without delay, under pain of forfeiture, and to be provided with men, mariners and other victuals, to come to the port of Orewell on the morrow of Trinity next, with other ships for the king's passage to parts beyond the sea, and to compel them to do this, if necessary, so that the king's passage be not impeded by their default whereby he would have cause to punish those men and the mayor and bailiffs, as because the king lately ordered ships of thirty tons burthen, and more, arrested for his passage and that of his lieges, to be taken to the ports of Sandwich and Orewell, and to be provided with mariners, men and victuals, to be there on a certain day now past, to take the king and his lieges to parts beyond the sea, and the ships were not so brought, so that the king was compelled to postpone his passage, the king ordered the mayor and bailiffs to cause all such ships to be arrested and made ready and sent to Orewell to be there on the said morrow at latest, and now the king has learned that Robert, Walter and Roger refuse to provide their ships or take them to the said port. Nottingham and Leicester, and tallies thereof were levied at the exchequer, and the assignments are now revoked, and the merchants lent those sums to the king in parts beyond the sea to pay his debts there and that he might take his passage to England more quickly; and the king wishes those merchants to have prompt payment because they lent those sums to him in his great need. The king wishes William de Northwell to be charged with the said 3,158*l.* 14*s.* 2¾*d.* By p.s.

To the receiver of the ninth in co. Nottingham. Like order to pay to the earl or to his attorney 1,388*l.* 3*s.* 4*d.* of the first year of the subsidy, as the king has granted him that sum of the subsidy, saving to the king 1,000*l.* previously assigned to Thomas de Bello Campo, earl of Warwick, upon that subsidy, for which the king has caused other 1,000*l.* upon that subsidy in co. Order to amove the king's hand without delay from a plot of land of the abbot of Waverlegh in Ogshete, co. Surrey, and not to intermeddle further therewith, restoring the issues thereof to the abbot, as William Trussel, late escheator this side Trent, returned that he had not taken the plot into the king's hand, but that Walter de Hungerford, sometime escheator in that county, had delivered it to him by indenture asserting that it was in the king's hand by reason of the abbot's trespass in appropriating it of his soil without licence, and afterwards learning from the abbot that the plot is of the soil of John Dabernoun and not of the king, and that the abbot and his predecessors have held it from time out of mind as parcel of the abbot's manor of Ogshete, the king ordered the escheator to take an inquisition on the matter, by which it is found that the abbots have held the plot from time out of mind as parcel of that manor, until it was taken by Walter, and that the plot is of the abbot's soil and parcel of his said manor, which is not held of the king, and that the plot is worth 6*d.* yearly.

July 1. Waltham. To the sheriff of Cambridge. Order to deliver to the prior of Swaveseye in that county, without delay, his lands, goods and chattels, together with the issues thereof, as the king lately appointed Henry de Ingelby, his clerk, to take into his hand the possessions of men of religion and others of the power of the king of France in that county, except those of the men of Britanny, and to deliver them to the sheriff, to be kept for the king's use, and afterwards the king, considering the poverty of the priory of Swaveseye, ordered the sheriff to deliver to the prior his lands, goods and chattels, restoring the issues thereof, and now the king has learned from the prior that the sheriff has again taken the said possessions into the king's hand, whereupon the prior has besought the king to provide a remedy.

July 3. Waltham. To the treasurer, barons and chamberlains of the exchequer. Richard de Feriby, late keeper of the wardrobe, has shown the king that whereas he rendered his final account for the wardrobe and delivered at the exchequer the names of those to whom the king was then bound in divers sums, yet because divers writs of liberate to pay sums to him and other writs for payment to divers creditors, whose names are noted in the account, are pending in the exchequer unpaid, they charge him with those sums and distrain him to answer for them at the exchequer, whereupon he has besought the king to provide for his indemnity; the king therefore orders the treasurer and chamberlains to inspect the said writs and payments and to cause the payments of sums contained in the writs to be deducted and the writs endorsed, so that no payment may be made afterwards by virtue thereof, and to observe the following method for the debts still due, to wit: before satisfaction is made to any creditor, the account shall be viewed, and the sum to be paid shall be substracted from the surplus in the account, and his bill or deed received there and delivered at the receipt to be condemned there, and mention of payment shall be made in the exchequer rolls and that Richard rendered account thereof at the exchequer of accounts; and the king wishes that Richard be not charged with any payments or allowances made upon the said surplus of his account, and that no payment, allowance or satisfaction be made without observing this ordinance; and the king therefore orders the treasurer, barons and chamberlains to cause the premises to be observed and enrolled.

July 4. Waltham. To John de Alveton, escheator in cos. Southampton, Wilts, Oxford, Berks, Bedford and Buckingham. Order to amove the king's hand without delay from two cottages in the king's soil of Ottemore and a plot of land called 'le Conynger' in Islep, and not to intermeddle further therewith, restoring the issues thereof to the abbot of Westminster, as the king wishing to ascertain the cause of the taking into his hand of 2 messuages and 5 acres of land called 'le Conynger' in Islep and Morecote, by William Trussel, late escheator this side Trent, ordered William to certify him upon the premises, and William returned that he had not taken any of the abbot's land in Morcote but that he found by inquisition of office that the abbot appropriated to himself and his house the said cottages and plot containing 3½ acres of land after the statute of mortmain, without licence, whereupon he took them into the king's hands and afterwards the abbot besought the king to order his hand to be amoved, as the cottages are in Morecote and not in Ottemore or on the king's soil and they were raised by a former abbot, lord of the towns of Morecote and Islep of the waste of Morecote, and the plot called 'le Conynger' of the abbot's soil in Islep, was raised by him long before the statute as it was lawful for him to do; the king therefore ordered William to take an inquisition upon the matter, in the presence of the abbot if he chose to attend, and by the inquisition it is found that Richard formerly abbot of Westminster, then lord of Morecote and Islep, caused the cottages to be raised in Morecote as is his own waste there and not in the king's soil of Ottemore; and he caused the plot to be enclosed of his own soil there, long before the statute, and that the cottages and plot are held of the abbot, and the cottages are worth 2*s.* yearly and the plot 2*s.* 6*d.* yearly.

July 1. Waltham. To Reymund Seguyn, the king's butler. July 6. Waltham Holy Cross. To the treasurer and chamberlains. Order to pay to Roger, bishop of Coventry and Lichfield without delay, 200*l.* or to give him an assignment therefor, in accordance with the king's grant to him of 200*l.* for his almost continuous labours from Michaelmas last for the benefit of the king and the quiet of the realm, with others of the council.

July 6. Waltham Holy Cross. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to supersede the demand made upon the abbot of Sautre for his yearly ferm of 60 marks and the arrears thereof, as on 1 July in the 11th year of the reign the king ordained that the possessions of all of the power of the king of France should be seized and answer made to him for the issues thereof, and now the abbot of Bonrepos (de Bona Requie) has shown him that although he and his house are of the duchy of Britanny and the abbot of Sautre holds at perpetual ferm of him the churches of All Saints, Fulburn, co. Cambridge, and Hunyngham with a pension in the church of Costeseye, co. Norfolk, for rendering 60 marks yearly, yet the treasurer and barons intend to levy the 60 marks and arrears of the abbot of Sautre, as if he was not of the duchy of Brittany, whereupon the abbot of Bonrepos has besought the king to provide a remedy, and the king has learned from trustworthy testimony that the abbot of Bonrepos and his house are of the duchy of Brittany. MEMBRANE 5.

May 20. Westminster. To Robert de Watford, the king's clerk. Order to cause the wool of the merchants of the society of the Peruzzi, arrested by him, to be dearrested without delay and restored to them, informing the king the number of sacks so delivered, as in accordance with agreements made between the king and the merchants of the society of the Bardi and Peruzzi, the king granted that they should lade a great quantity of wool in the port of Boston and other ports of the realm in his ships, and take them to parts beyond the sea to do their pleasure therewith, without paying the custom; and for certain sums of money to be paid to the king, the merchants of the Bardi laded some of their wool with the king's wool in that port, to be taken to the said parts, and for fear of pirates, the ships took refuge in the port of London, and Robert arrested the said wool in the port of London, because he found it non-coketted, by reason of his commission, and in consideration of the great sums which those merchants have lent to the king for his affairs he ordered Robert to cause the wool of the merchants of the society of the Bardi to be dearrested, and now the merchants of the Peruzzi have besought the king to order the dearresting of certain wool laded by them in the port of Boston with the said wool of the Bardi, to be taken to parts beyond the sea, and which they brought to London from fear of hostile galleys and which Robert arrested there. July 6. Waltham Holy Cross. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. The prioress of Acornebury has shown the king that the collectors of the triennial tenth and fifteenth in co. Cambridge, Huntingdon and Bedford, or in the triennial tenth, if any thing thereof is lacking, if those tenths were not assigned to others, as Simon lent the king 100*l.* in aid of his affairs in parts beyond the sea, touching the war there, by the hands of John de Thorp, the king's clerk, lately supplying the place of Master William la Zousch, dean of St. Peter's church, York, then the treasurer, and the king granted him allowance for the 100*l.* in the portion of the subsidy granted by the clergy, touching him, and the said subsidy of the ninth and tenth in the aforesaid counties is assigned to William marquis of Juliers, so that the bishop cannot be satisfied for the 100*l.* in those counties. July 3. Waltham. To the collectors in the diocese of Lincoln of certain tenths lately granted by the clergy. Order to supersede the demand made on the abbot of Leicester for the tenth beyond the triennial tenth, granted at St. Bride's church, London, in accordance with a previous order [as in this Calendar 12 Edward III, page 574] as the king has learned from the abbot that although he paid wool according to the grant made at Westminster and the ordinance made at Northampton, yet the collectors exact of him the said tenth granted in the convocation at St. Bride's church, London, in the 12th year of the reign, beyond the triennial tenth, by the clergy of the realm on condition that they should be quit of the prestation and taking of wool, and that the clergy who granted wool should be quit of the said tenth.

July 20. Kennington. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. lords of towns and others in divers parts of England strive to defraud the king of the greater part of that subsidy, granted in his urgent need for the defence of the realm and for his expedition of war, so that the prior and others cannot sell the subsidy; the king therefore, with the consent of parliament, orders the prior and others, under pain of forfeiture, to sell the said ninth with all possible speed in accordance with the king's order, and if they are impeded from doing this by such men, so that the subsidy cannot be sold up to the sum of the taxation of churches, then the sheaves etc. shall be committed to the lords and men of the towns for the tax of the churches at the least, without delay, which lords, if they are sufficient, to whom the king wishes the men of the town to be intendant for their portion, are bound to answer the king by the hands of the receivers of the subsidy, and if the lords refuse to admit this, then to commit the sheaves etc. to four lawful men of each town, in the form aforesaid, to whom the men of the towns shall be answerable and who shall answer to the king for the said value by the hands of the receivers, and they shall be charged therewith even if they neglect this, and if any sales below the tax of the churches have been made before the receipt of the present order, the prior and others shall revoke them with speed, and shall ordain thereupon as expressed above; and that answer shall be made to the king for what has been granted to him, and that each one shall be charged with what he is bound to pay, the king will appoint magnates and other lieges to inform him of the value of each church and of the sheaves, fleeces and lambs of the parish churches of the county and to charge each one with what touches him and not beyond, and to see that payment is made to the king of what the lords and four men are charged with, and the prior and others shall show the king the names of the lords and of the four men who are to be charged with the ninth and the sums charged upon them, by their letters to the receiver of the subsidy at the Tower of London and in that county, so that the king may be fully informed of their procedure, and they shall take all who impede them or conspire against them, and imprison them, and if they are of such estate that this cannot be done, then they shall inform the king or his council of their names, without delay, so that the king may cause them to be imprisoned or punished after examining such certificate and the certificates of three or four lawful men, not suspect, and of the sheriff of the county. If the prior and others are remiss in the execution of the premises, whereby the king is in any wise defrauded of the subsidy, or if the payment thereof be unreasonably delayed he will cause them to be punished according to the decision of the council.

York, by reason of the returns of the writ to the bailiffs, which issues are returned before the king by the sheriff of the county and they will be much depressed if the sum is levied of them, as their goods, chattels and possessions, if exposed for sale, do not suffice to pay that sum, wherefore they have besought the king to pardon them out of consideration for this.

Feb. 5. Kennington. To Bartholomew de Insula. Order to stay in the Isle of Wight with the men of his power and with the king's other lieges there, for the defence of that island against hostile incursions, and to defend the island and his own lands there, knowing that the king will have worthy consideration for those who behave well in this, as although the king ordered him and other lieges of the island to prepare themselves and their men in the island when they had great possessions and to stay in the island for its defence against hostile incursions, yet Bartholomew, as the king has learned, withdraws himself from the island with his men, to its great danger, and it is not becoming for belted knights to eloign themselves from places where deeds of war may take place, but rather to go to those places and stay there for their honour's sake. Feb. 10. Kennington. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to supersede the demand made upon the warden and chaplains of the chapel of St. Peter, Kyrkeby upon Wrethek for sums of which they shall be found to have been discharged by reason of the king's letters acquitting them of all subsidies and aids, before the ordinance revoking such letters, and to supersede levying the residue of the fifteenths or other quotas touching them from 12 October in the 13th year of the late king's reign, beyond what is allowed to them, until Michaelmas next, as the late king, on the said 12 October, granted them quittance of tallages, aids, and all contributions, and that their goods should not be taxed, and now the king has learned from them that although they were discharged of all such aids from the said 12 October, before the ordinance to revoke such grants, and the collectors of the tenths and other quotas had allowance for the sums touching them, yet the treasurer and barons have newly demanded from them the sum allowed before the said ordinance, whereupon they have besought the king to provide a remedy.

Feb. 6. Kennington. To the justices of the Bench. Gilbert Talebot has besought the king to provide a remedy as he seeks before them against Ralph de Wylynton and Eleanor his wife, the castle of Keirkenny and the commote of Iskenny, and Ralph and Eleanor have alleged that they hold the castle and commote by the king's charter, which they exhibited before the justices, as is said, of the king's gift, and that they ought not to answer therefor without the king, wherefore the justices have delayed to proceed further in that plea; the king therefore orders them, if this is so, to proceed further in that plea and render justice to the parties according to the law and custom of the realm, notwithstanding the allegation aforesaid, but not to proceed to render judgment without consulting the king. By letter of the keeper.

Feb. 3. Kennington. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Whereas the king committed to the prior of St. Mary, Tifford Monachorum, the custody of all lands, goods and other things pertaining to the priory, which were taken into the king's hands among the possessions of alien men of religion and others of the power of the king of France, to hold during pleasure, rendering a certain ferm yearly, and now the king has learned from the prior's complaint that, although during that custody he ought not to be charged with the debts of the priory due to the king, yet the treasurer and barons cause him to be distrained to pay such debts, thus delaying the payment of his ferm; the king therefore orders them to desist from such distraints so long as the custody of the priory is in his hands as aforesaid, or until otherwise ordered.

Feb. 3. Westminster.

To Richard de Wylughby and his fellows, justices of assize in co. Northampton. Scolastica late the wife of Godfrey de Meaux and John her son have besought the king to provide a remedy, as they arramed an assize of novel disseisin before the justices against John abbot of Pratis near Crek and others contained in the original writ, concerning tenements in Retheresthrop, complaining that they had been disseised of 100*s*. of rent there; and the abbot as tenant of that rent, pleading before the justices, alleged that Henry III, who was seised of 10*l*. rent in Retheresthrop, whereof the 100*s*. now placed in view are parcel, in his demesne as of fee, granted them to God and St. Mary and the prior and canons of Pratis near Crek and Burnham, to hold in frank almoin, until the king should render the rent to the right heirs of the advocate Betun by his peace and will, so that the king should not disseise the prior and convent before he or his heirs had made a reasonable exchange with them to the value of the rent, which charter was confirmed by Edward I and the late king, and the charters and confirmations are shown before the justices; and they further say that the abbot holds the 100*s*. rent as parcel of the 10*l*. rent, in frank almoin, by virtue of the said charters, and that he ought not to come to the assize without consulting the king, wherefore the justices have delayed to proceed to take the assize; the king therefore orders them to view the record and process held before them upon the premises, and if it has proceeded as aforesaid, then to proceed to take the assize provided they do not proceed to render judgment without consulting the king. To William de Shareshull and his fellows, justices of assize in cos. Wilts and Dorset. Whereas the king ordered them to continue in the same state in which they then were all assizes of novel disseisin and attaints arramed against Thomas Cary, the king's yeoman, who was in the king's service in parts beyond the sea, while he was staying in that service, in accordance with the ordinance, and now the king has learned from William de Boys and Elizabeth his wife, that although Thomas has long since returned from the said service to England and has stayed there continuously, yet the justices have delayed to proceed to take an assize of novel disseisin which they arramed against him and others contained in the original writ, concerning tenements in Hulledeverell and Deverellangebrigg, co. Wilts, and to take another assize of novel disseisin which they arramed against him and others by another writ, concerning tenements in Fernham, co. Dorset, whereupon they have besought the king to provide a remedy; the king therefore orders the justices, if they find that Thomas has returned from the said service and is staying in the realm as aforesaid, to proceed to take the assizes with all possible speed, and to do what they see to be in accordance with the law and custom of the realm, notwithstanding the aforesaid writ of the king. ports of England where customs are taken, until the aforesaid sums are fully paid, and that they shall have in their custody one leaf of the coket seal of the great custom and the seal of the petty custom in each port under the seals of the customers; the king grants that no wool shall pass beyond the sea unless the custom be paid to the merchants and that no one shall lade wool anywhere outside the ports where the cokets are in custody, and that no one shall pass with wool or other customable merchandise without both leaves of the coket and that the passage of wool shall not be forbidden before the merchants are fully paid; the king also grants that the merchants, their fellows and serjeants with their goods shall be in safe protection to go and stay where they will in the realm, and that they shall not be molested by reason of any war of the king with any lord, and that Tideman de Lymbergh and John de Wold shall be general attorneys for all the merchants in all the ports, to make acquittances to the customers of the sums which they receive, and that they may depute others in their place to do this in such ports as they wish. The king grants that the merchants shall have writs of chancery every time that they have need without paying anything for the seal, and the king wishes that the lords and others to whom he has assigned certain rents of the customs by his charters or deeds, shall be paid their fees yearly as before, but that the merchants shall not be charged with anything of the arrears of such fees or with any other debts due on the customs; the king also grants that the merchants shall freely ship and carry to parts beyond, 3,386 sacks of wool quit of all manner of custom, subsidy or other exaction, for the custom and subsidy whereof they made payment in parts beyond for the king's need. The merchants have granted that the king may give permission to such people as he pleases to take 1,000 sacks of wool from such ports as they please, without paying anything to them and the king has ordered the archbishop of Canterbury, his chancellor, to put the great seal to the said covenant, and also that the said chancellor, Sir Robert de Sadyngton, the treasurer and Sir William de Kildesby, keeper of the privy seal, shall swear to keep and maintain the covenant and that they will not make writs or letters of the great or of the privy seal contrary to the covenant, and that the archbishop, treasurer and keeper shall put their seals to the covenant. The king also orders all the customers and controllers of customs and tronors in each port to be sworn in the presence of the merchants to loyally observe all the aforesaid covenants, and if any of the customers are contrary to the merchants they shall be amoved from their office and others put in their place by the chancellor and treasurer; if any of the customers suffer any wool to pass of which they are bound to pay custom to the merchants, the customs shall be levied of their goods and paid to the merchants and they shall be amoved from their office and others put in their place as aforesaid. The king grants that if the chancellor, treasurer or keeper of the privy seal die or be changed from his office before the covenant is accomplished, the person put in his place shall be sworn as aforesaid, and when the merchants are fully paid and the covenants accomplished, they shall surrender to the king these letters and all others which they have, and thereafter these shall be null. June 13. Ipswich.

To the justices of the Bench. Whereas the king granted in the last parliament at Westminster that he would not make collation or presentation to a church or other benefice by reason of the voidance of the prelacies or by reason of the lands of heirs, who are minors or of others who are in the king's hand, unless he made them within three years of the time when such benefices became void in fact, and that the king has no action or reason of presenting to such churches or benefices of which clerks are in possession and have been for a year before the making of that statute, and that no one is bound to answer to a writ of quare impedit taken in the king's name in such case, if collation or presentation is not made within three years, and that no collation or presentation shall be made henceforth of such voidances in the time of the king's progenitors and that the king is excluded from taking any action thereon, and although Thomas de Haselhawe, parson of Chiw church, has been in possession of the church, as is said, for a year and much more beyond the making of the statute, and the king ordered the justices, if this were so, to supersede the plea by writ of quare impedit between the king and the bishop of Bath and Wells as to whether the bishop should permit the king to present a fit person to Chiw church, void and pertaining to the king's donation by reason of the bishopric, formerly void and in the hand of Edward I, yet the justices proceed in that plea, because the said writ was impetrated before the making of the statute, and the plea was moved before them, as they asserted that the articles do not extend to writs of quare impedit impetrated before the making of those articles, and the king, considering that Thomas was in possession of the church for a year and much more before the making of the statute, and that the articles contain that no one is bound to answer a writ of quare impedit taken in the king's name by reason of such voidance, unless a collation or presentation has been made within three years from the time of the voidance, orders the justices, if they find that Thomas was in possession for a year before the making of the statute, then to supersede the plea begun before them by writ of quare impedit, and not to aggrieve Thomas in his possession of the church.

May 12. Westminster. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. The prior of Ledes, co. Kent, has shown the king that whereas the prior's temporalities in Renham, Bordenn, Orpynton, Tonge, Shepeye, Cranebrok and Wodnesbergh are parcel of the temporalities of the priory in Ledes, Boxle, Chert, Langele, Gutherst and Lamberherst, and although all those temporalities are annexed to his spiritualities and are taxed at the tenth with the clergy of the realm at 37*l.* 18*s.* and the prior has paid the tenth of his temporalities on the said towns of Renham, Bordon, Orpynton, Tong, Shepeye, Cranebrok and Wodenesbergh and on the towns of Ledes, Boxle, Chert, Langele, Gutherst and Lamberherst, with the clergy of the realm in the 6th, 8th, 10th and other years of the reign and in other time past, yet the collectors of the tenth and fifteenth granted in the 10th year, pretending that the prior's said temporalities had been taxed with the community of the county, assessed them at 35*s.* for the said year and intend to levy that sum pretending that they were taxed at that sum in the 8th and 6th years, whereupon the prior has besought the king to provide a remedy: the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to inspect the rolls and memoranda of the exchequer for the 6th and 8th years, and if they find by this or by inquisition or otherwise that the said temporalities in Renham etc. are parcel of those in Ledes etc. and that all the said temporalities are taxed at the tenth with the clergy at 37*l.* 18*s.* and that the priors have paid the tenth thereof with the clergy in the said years and at other times, and that the temporalities of the prior were not taxed at the tenth and fifteenth in the 6th and 8th years, then to supersede without delay the demand which the collectors make on the prior for 35*s.* as aforesaid.

Bonyng, his yeomen, with wine, victuals and other things, to be taken to the king's fleet gathered at sea to fight the king's enemies who were there in no small numbers, in which fleet the earl then was, in the king's company, for the maintenance of the earl and the men then with him, and the ship was pursued to the port of Dover, while sailing towards the fleet, by certain other enemies, and certain men of Dover pretending that they had afforded aid against the said enemies for the saving of the ship, claim the ship and things therein as sea wreck or at another time a moiety of the said things by reason of that aid, whereupon the earl has besought the king to provide a remedy; and because certain men of the ship escaped alive, as the king has learned, wherefore the ship and goods ought not to be considered as wreck, and it is not reasonable that the earl's ship and goods should be so claimed, the king orders the constable to hear the plaint of the earl or his attorney and to cause the wine and other things to be restored to him without delay, so that he shall not have occasion to complain to the king again, whereby it would behove the king to provide him with another remedy. Kennington.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to discharge Marca, late the wife of Henry Dyne, tenant in chief, of the value of a third part of the lands which belonged to Henry which were in the king's hands by reason of the minority of John, Henry's son and heir, from 18 September in the first year of the reign, as on 9 August in the first year of the reign the king granted that custody to her, to hold until the heir should come of age, rendering the true value thereof yearly at the exchequer, and afterwards on the said 18 September the king ordered William Trussel, then escheator this side Trent, to take Marca's oath that she would not marry without the king's licence, and to cause reasonable dower to be assigned to her from the said lands, according to the extent thereof made by him, and that done to inform the king thereof under his seal; and William assigned dower to her to the value of 18*l.* 10*s.* 6¾*d.* and returned the assignment to chancery before the king on 12 April in the second year of the reign, as is found by inspection of the chancery rolls.

Order to cause the castles in those parts to be munitioned with victuals and the defects therein to be repaired by the view and testimony of Richard earl of Arundel, or of him who supplies his place in those parts or of any deputy whom the earl shall put in his place, because the king is informed that the said castles are not munitioned with victuals and that the turrets, houses and other buildings of those castles threaten to fall. By the keeper and C. [Fœdera.]

To the sheriff of Kent. Order to permit the prior of Horton of that county to have respite until the quinzaine of Michaelmas next for his yearly ferm of 40 marks, so that in the meantime the rolls and memoranda of the exchequer may be inspected and justice done in the matter, as the prior has besought the king to discharge him of that ferm, which is exacted of him as an alien, as he and all the monks of the house are English and not French and the priory is not intendant upon or subject to any religious house in parts beyond the sea, and the priors are not bound and have not been accustomed to make any apportum or tribute to any such house in time past; and the king has given the prior the said respite in consideration of John de Warenna, earl of Surrey, the prior's father, and at the earl's request. July 24. Kennington. To Robert Parvyng. Order to hold pleas before the king in place of Richard de Wylughby, together with the king's other lieges, because the king wishes him to be chief justice for holding those pleas in place of Richard. By the keeper and C.

To Richard de Wylughby. Order to deliver to Robert, by indenture, all the rolls, records, processes, indictments and other things touching that office, which are in his custody, without delay, as the king wishes Robert to be chief justice of those pleas as aforesaid, during pleasure. July 25. Kennington. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause 400 marks to be allowed to John de Ellerker, chamberlain of North Wales in his account, as he paid that sum by the king's order [as at page 293 above] to Richard earl of Arundel, as may fully appear by the earl's letters of acquittance which he exhibited in chancery, yet the treasurer and barons have delayed to make allowance to him because he did not surrender the king's letters patent to the earl at the exchequer, upon his account; and the earl has acknowledged before the king in chancery that he was fully satisfied by John for the 400 marks, and granted that as the said letters patent were lost, they should be of none effect when found and should be surrendered to chancery to be cancelled. By C.

July 25. Kennington. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer and to the chamberlains. Order to account with William de Kekenwych, the king's serjeant at arms, for his wages for the time when he was in the king's service, when he was sent to the Isle of Wight upon the safe custody of the port of Eremuth in that island and of the adjacent parts to stay there against the incursions of the king's alien enemies, and to pay him what they find to be due to him, having consideration of his faithful and strenuous efforts in that service, as William has besought the king to order payment to be made to him. Order to cause 108*l.* 11*s.* 5½*d.* to be allowed to the sheriff of Norfolk and Suffolk if they find that he paid that sum to Robert de Ufford, earl of Suffolk, in accordance with the king's order to him as the king granted to the earl 1000 marks of land and rent yearly, and afterwards in part satisfaction of those 1,000 marks the king granted him the castle, town, manor and honour of Eye and divers other lands, to the value of 413*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* yearly, the remaining 253*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* to be received at the exchequer, 133*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* until he receives the reversion of the manor of Benhale, which Eleanor late the wife of Guy Ferre holds for life with reversion to the earl, and the remaining 125*l.* until he is provided with 125*l.* of land or rent yearly by the king, and subsequently because the earl surrendered the letters for the 253*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* to chancery to be cancelled on 28 June in the 13th year of the reign the king granted him 108*l.* 11*s.* 5½*d.* in arrear to him of the 253*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* to be received of the first issues of cos. Norfolk and Suffolk, and ordered the sheriff to pay that sum to him, and the sheriff paid that sum to the earl, to wit 9*s.* 9½*d.* for Michaelmas term in the 12th year of the reign and 108*l.* 20*d.* for Easter term following, which were then in arrear to the earl for those terms, as may fully appear, he says, by the rolls and memoranda of the exchequer.

issues thereof for their own uses and those of the house, without the king's predecessors or their ministers intermeddling therewith or receiving anything therefrom, and that the lands of the priory and the custody thereof ought not to pertain to the king during a voidance; and the treasurer and barons of the exchequer and the chamberlains have certified in chancery that on inspection of the rolls and memoranda at the exchequer, and at the receipt there in the time of Richard, John, Henry, Edward and Edward, kings of England, no account is found for a time of voidance of the priory, or that any one received issues thereof or intermeddled therewith on the king's behalf. Order herewith not to intermeddle further with the custody of the priory by taking a simple seisin or otherwise, in times of a voidance, permitting the sub-prior and convent to dispose freely of the temporalities during voidances, saving to the king the custody of lands which may be acquired, and those which are held of him in chief.

Order to pay 29*l.* 10*s.* 4*d.* to William de Arenton, if upon viewing his bill they find that sum to be due to him, as he has besought the king to order payment to be made to him, as the king is bound to him in that sum for his wages and robes by account made with him at London on 20 July last, as may appear by a bill in his possession as he says, under the seal of William de Northwell, late keeper of the wardrobe.

July 18. Kennington. To the vendors and assessors in co. Kent of the subsidy of the ninth of sheaves, fleeces and lambs, and to the collectors there of the ninth and fifteenth granted by the community of the realm. Order to supersede the sale, assessing and levying of the said subsidy of the goods of the hospital of the Maison Dieu Dover, permitting the master and brethren there to be quit thereof, as the hospital was founded by king Henry and is so slenderly endowed that the goods pertaining thereto hardly suffice for the maintenance of the master and brethren and of the poor and infirm resorting to the hospital and for other alms, and if the hospital is charged with aids granted to the king it will behove the master and brethren to diminish the said alms.

The like to the following for the following, to wit:

Order to supersede the selling and levying of the subsidy of the ninth of the hospital of St. Margaret without Huntyngdon, as the hospital is founded for lepers and is of the king's patronage, and is so slenderly endowed that its goods do not suffice for the maintenance of the master of the hospital and of the poor and infirm staying there, and if the hospital is charged with the aids granted by the community of the realm it will be necessary to diminish the number of the poor and infirm and to disperse them to seek their food.

Aug. 4. Berkhampstead. To the collectors of customs in the port of Kyngeston upon Hull. Repetition of an order [as at page 421 above] to permit Henry Muddepenyng, Alvinus de Revele and their fellows, merchants of Almain, or their attorneys, to lade in that port what is in arrear to them of 700 sacks of wool, which the king granted they should lade there, and to take them to Bruges in Flanders without paying the custom and subsidy thereon, as the king has learned that the collectors prevent the merchants from taking the wool from that port under pretext of an order of the king directing them not to permit any wool to pass out of the realm. By C.

The like to the following for the same merchants, to wit:—

By C.

Aug. 8. Berkhampstead. To the assessors and vendors in co. Kent of the subsidy of the ninth of sheaves, lambs and fleeces. Order to supersede the selling and levying of the subsidy of the goods of the hospital of poor priests, Canterbury, as the hospital is so slenderly endowed, as the king has learned, that the goods thereof do not suffice for the maintenance of the master there and of the priests serving God there, and that if the hospital is charged with the aids granted to the king by the community of the realm, the master will not be able to sustain the charges incumbent thereon.

July 24. Kennington. To the prior of Wymundham, John de Brunham, John Cailly, Robert de Clere, Ed[mund] Baconesthorp and Roger Breton of Wichyngham. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause 6*l.* 15*s.* to be allowed to John de Causton and Thomas de Swanlond, collectors of customs in the port of London, in their account at the exchequer, as they were lately enjoined by the king's council to pay 6*l.* 15*s.* to twenty-seven mariners, staying in that port with three boats of Flanders for twenty days, until ships laden with the king's wool should be ready to set out across the sea at the king's command, in order to avoid certain dangers to that wool, and they paid that sum to the mariners as has been testified before the council by persons in whom the king has confidence. To the collectors of the custom of wool, hides and wool-fells in the port of London. Henry Milkel, Henry de Levedale, John de Love, John de Gampe, Peter Nosprester, John Sagre, James de Forst, Godfrey Kirker and Godekinus Edeler, merchants of Lovayne and of Dyst in Brabant, have besought the king to order their ships and wool to be dearrested and

Aug. 14. Windsor. To the prior of Bernewell, collector in the diocese of Ely of the triennial tenth lately granted by the clergy of the province of Canterbury. Order upon sight of these presents, without delay or excuse, to pay to William de la Pole or to his attorney what is in arrear to him of the sum which was assigned to him and afterwards revoked, knowing that if he delays or refuses to make this payment the king will stretch forth his hand to him and his house with the utmost rigour and will cause the money to be levied of his manors, lands, possessions, goods and chattels by certain lieges appointed for this, as the king lately caused a certain sum of the money of the tenth of the third year to be assigned to William, and caused tallies thereof under the prior's name to be levied at the king's receipt and delivered to William, in part payment of divers sums of money in which the king was bound to him for loans and other causes, and although the king afterwards caused the assignment to be revoked by writ of the exchequer and ordered the sum so assigned to be paid to him at the exchequer, which sum is not yet paid, as the king has learned, yet because William has promised to lend the king a large sum in parts beyond the sea for his expedition of war and other affairs, in his great need, the king wishes William to be satisfied for the said sum, considering what dangers and damage may be incurred by the king and his lieges in those parts and by all the realm if the payment is not made at the appointed time.

Sept. 2. Berkhampstead.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer, Dublin. Order to inspect the rolls and memoranda of that exchequer and if they find that Master William de Epworth, second baron of that exchequer is bound to render accounts for the times when he was receiver of certain of the king's moneys in the parts of Ulster and for other offices in Ireland accountable to the king, then to admit Nicholas de Snyterby to the office of second baron and permit him to exercise the duties of the office with them, notwithstanding the commission of the office to William, and to compel William to render the said account at the exchequer, as although the king lately appoinnted William to be second baron during good conduct, receiving the accustomed fees, and ordered the treasurer and barons to admit him to that office, yet the king has learned that William is bound to render such accounts, and has endeavoured to postpone the rendering of these accounts from day to day, and as the king believes that William has procured his appointment to the office in order that he may more easily escape what the nature and issue of the account require, the king has considered the faithful service of Nicholas de Snyterby in whose place William was appointed, and whose laudable conduct in the office is vouched for by credible testimony. It is the king's intention that in appointments to such offices preference shall be given to those who know most and he therefore orders the treasurer and barons that when William has rendered his accounts and has satisfied them for what pertains to the king therefor, or has found security to do this, they shall then admit to the said office of baron, the one of the two, Nicholas or William, who is fittest for the office and who has more knowledge and they shall make an examination upon this with the aid of others of the council whom they shall invite for this.

To John de Wolde and Tidmannus de Lymbergh. Order to pay to Katherine daughter of William Duc of Brussels and to Henry Estor her son or their attorneys, 50*l.* of the issues of the customs in the port of London, if they have not yet been paid, as the king ordered the collectors of those customs to pay that sum to them for Midsummer term last [as at page 508 above]; and the collectors refused to pay that sum to Katherine and Henry because they paid all the customs and subsidies in that port when they were received, to John and Tidmannus, according to the form of an indenture made between the king and the merchants of Almain, as the king has learned from Henry and Katherine; and because the indenture contains that rents and fees which the king granted to magnates and others in fee or for a term, upon those issues, should be paid to them, the king does not wish the payment of the 50*l.* to be further delayed.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Whereas the abbot of Rameseye was lately attached to answer the king and Margaret, countess of Kent, because he refused to pay to her 50*l.* which he was wont to render at the exchequer yearly for the fairs of St. Ives, and which the king assigned to Margaret as dower after the death of Edmund, earl of Kent, tenant in chief, for the 11th, 12th and 13th years of the reign, and although the abbot, pleading before the treasurer and barons alleged that Henry king of England had granted to the abbot of Rameseye by charter and to the monks there, a certain fair in St. Ives to last for eight days from Easter, without rendering anything therefor; and after that Henry III also granted the residue of that fair to the abbot and convent, because merchants stayed there to trade beyond the eight days, for rendering 50*l.* yearly, and also that if at any time the fair should be lost by war in England, so that they should receive nothing therefrom, they should be quit of the ferm from that time, and they exhibited charters testifying this before the treasurer and barons; and in the 11th, 12th and 13th years there was war in the realm by sea and land, with those of France, so that merchants did not come to the fair with their goods as they used, so that the abbot received no profit therefrom for that time; and the abbot has also alleged that the countess in pleading before the treasurer and barons has claimed the 50*l.* rent as dower, and has thus assumed that the rent was her free tenement, and she pretended that the rent issued from the fairs which she asserts the abbot holds, assuming them to be his free tenement, and that the treasurer and barons ought not to have cognisance in this plea according to the law and custom of the realm, chiefly because neither the countess nor the abbot are ministers of the exchequer, whereupon he showed certain writs of the king to them that they should not hold such pleas concerning a free tenement; but they, notwithstanding the allegations of the abbot, considered erroneously that the countess should recover against the abbot the said rent and arrears for the three years and 25*l.* for Easter term last, together with damages to be taxed by them, as the king is informed by the abbot, and because errors have occurred in the record and process and in the judgment, the king wishing justice to be done orders the treasurer and barons to call before them the justices and others and cause the record and process to be diligently examined, to hear the reasons of the countess and of the abbot and also the errors which the abbot wishes to indicate, and to cause those errors to be corrected and full and speedy justice to be done to the parties, and the king will cause the record and process with all things touching them to come before him, and will have the errors corrected as justice demands, and in the meantime they shall supersede the execution of the king's orders by exchequer writs to levy the 50*l.* for the said year and the 25*l.* for Easter term last of the said abbot.

To the assessors and vendors of the ninth of sheaves, fleeces and lambs and of the goods of citizens and burgesses and of the fifteenth of the goods of merchants and others dwelling in lonely and waste places, granted by the community of the realm in co. Order to cause the subsidy to be levied and be delivered to the receiver thereof in that county, by indenture, in accordance with the form of other orders directed to them, so that answer shall be made to the king by the hands of the receiver for one moiety thereof at the feast of All Saints next and for the other moiety at the Purification following, as the king has learned from many that they do not travail so diligently to levy the subsidy as the king's urgent necessity demands, but are negligent and lukewarm although the king has caused them to be aroused to a speedy levy, by divers orders, and as the king is compelled to pay great sums of money for the war in parts beyond the sea, for which the subsidy was granted, and to pay almost innumerable sums of money to his allies and other persons in those parts under heavy and penal obligations besides the arrears of such debts in which the king is bound to them for divers terms past, the king wishes to hasten the levying of the subsidy so far as is consonant with his convenience and the greater quiet of his people. July 6. Waltham Holy Cross. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to audit the account of Thomas Crosse, whom the king lately appointed receiver of his money for the wages of men at arms, hobelers and archers whom he lately ordered to be chosen in Ireland to be sent on the king's service to Scotland, and to pay the said wages during pleasure, and to cause him to have allowance for his wages and for the expenses incurred by him in the premises, and further to do what pertains to the final issue of the account, as on 15th July in the 9th year of the reign, the king ordered Thomas by writ under the seal used in Ireland to deliver 10*l.* of the money in his custody to the mariners of certain ships of England who were arrested at Dublin, Droghda and Dundalk with their ships, for no small time before the justiciary of Ireland started for those parts for the expedition of the war of Scotland, in recompense for their costs and expenses for that time, and afterwards by another writ under the same seal the king ordered Thomas to pay wages from the said money to the masters and mariners of certain ships lately arrested by the king for the said war, who had not then received wages, from 26 July in the said year, and that the masters and mariners should cause their said ships to be made ready for horses and victuals at the king's cost and that Thomas should cause boards, helms and all other necessaries for the ships to be bought with the said money, and a certain great engine, 40 crossbows (balistas) with sufficient quarrels, 100 shovels, 100 axes, 100 spades, 100 catapults, 100 bowls for moulding bread, 24 hand axes, 24 kettles, 50 tripods, 300 horseshoes with nails, for the said war, to be made and purveyed, and the king both for himself and for Thomas wishes the rendering of the said account to be hastened. Order to excuse the abbot of Peterborough for not coming to that chapter, knowing that if anything is attempted against him by reason of his absence, the king will not omit to do what he lawfully may against those who impede his affairs and those of the realm, as he lately appointed that abbot to supervise that the subsidy of the ninth of sheaves, fleeces and lambs and of the goods of citizens and burgesses granted by the community of the realm, in cos. Northampton and Rutland should be levied for his use, and to incite the assessors and vendors of that subsidy to be diligently attendant upon the levying of the same, and to compel them to this if they were remiss, and because the king learned that the assessors and vendors have behaved negligently he directed the abbot by another writ, that in consideration of the king's most urgent need for lack of money, for which he hoped to have assistance at that time from the subsidy, he should apply all diligence to the speedy levying of that subsidy in every possible way and to diligently perform the other things contained in the commission to him, knowing that if he excused himself under any pretext whatsoever, the king would severely punish him and his house and also the assessors and vendors, who were to travail at the levying of the subsidy without any dissimulation. Order to cause 500 sacks of wool, collected in that county for the king's use, to be delivered by indenture to Robert de Galeweye, Thomas Flemmyng and William Fitz Dieu, merchants of Newcastle upon Tyne, to be taken to Flanders for the expedition of the king's affairs, as the king lately sold 500 sacks of the said wool to those merchants, and they undertook before the council to pay 100*l.* for those sacks to the keeper of the wardrobe in parts beyond the sea on the octaves of Michaelmas next for the king's war there, and the residue of the price of the 500 sacks within three weeks from the time when they are delivered to them, by twenties, thirties, forties or more, and that they should take them to the nearest port and pay the custom and subsidy of 40*s.* a sack in the ports where they are laded, as is fully contained in the indenture made between the king and the merchants.

By the keeper and C.

To the collectors of customs in the port of Newcastle upon Tyne. Order to permit the merchants to lade 400 sacks of the said 500 sacks in that port and to take them to Flanders, having first paid the custom and subsidy thereon, so that the king's affairs be not delayed, provided that they do not take the wool of others. The king has ordered the collectors of customs in the port of Hertilpol to permit the merchants to lade the remaining 100 sacks in that port and to take them to Flanders as aforesaid.

Somerset by land to London, to be delivered there for the king's use, as he has besought the king to grant that he may do so, to be delivered in part payment of the sum of wool which the king ordered to be taken for his use in that county, and William has undertaken before the council to deliver the wool to those deputed to receive it, when it arrives at the city.

The like to the following, to wit:—

The takers and purveyors of wool in co. Wilts for 14 sacks.

The takers and purveyors of wool in co. Southampton for 14 sacks.

Sept. 15. Andover. To Walter de Hanleye. Order to cause 11 sarplars of wool in the house of John de Wycombe of Bristol, a sack of wool in the house of William le Hauker, a sack of wool in the house of Thomas Blanket of that town, and 14 sarplars of wool in the custody of the abbot of Gloucester of the sort of co. Gloucester, arrested by Walter and by Richard de Castro, the king's clerk, by reason of the king's commission to them to arrest wool for his use in that county, to be delivered to the takers and purveyors of wool in that county, by indenture, as part of the sum of wool which the king has ordered to be levied in that county, to be delivered by them to the receivers of the king's wool in that county, by indenture, by which indentures the king wishes satisfaction to be done to those to whom the wool belongs, of the subsidy of the ninth lately granted for two years, of the second year, according to the ordinance made in the last parliament held at Westminster.

Sept. 15. Andover. To the collector of the biennial tenth lately granted by the clergy of the province of York, in the diocese of York. Order to pay 54*l.* of the money of that tenth reserved to the king, to William de Snoryng, merchant, to whom the king is bound in that sum for divers victuals bought by him by the king's order for the munition of the castles of Edenburgh and Stryvelyn in Scotland, notwithstanding the revocation of assignments previously made upon the issues of that tenth, and to receive from him a tally of the exchequer containing that sum and levied in the collector's name.

By bill of the treasurer.

Sept. 4. Berkhampstead. To Geoffrey de Staunton and his fellows, takers and purveyors of wool in co. Nottingham. Order to cause certain wool arrested by him to be dearrested without delay or excuse and delivered to Walter Prest, merchant of Melton Moubray, and to Hugh Cokheved, merchant of Barton upon Humber, to be taken to Flanders to do their pleasure therewith in accordance with the indenture made with them so that they may be able to pay to the king the sums which they are bound to pay to him thereof, knowing that if they delay to do this the king will cause them to be punished with all possible rigour and will cause all their lands, goods and chattels to be seized unto his hand and the price of the wool arrested by them, to be levied thereof without delay, as the king lately sold to those merchants 500 sacks of co. Leicester and 100 sacks of co. Rutland of the 20,000 sacks of wool granted in the last parliament held at Westminster, and they undertook before the council to pay 600 marks for that wool to the keeper of the wardrobe in parts beyond the sea, on 1st September last, for the expedition of the war there, and the residue of the price within three weeks from the time when the sacks should be delivered to them, as is contained in an indenture made between the king and them, and afterwards the king learned that Geoffrey and his fellows arrested certain wool, purveyed by those merchants in co. Leicester which they wished to take to the port of Kyngeston upon Hull and thence to Flanders, for making payments to the king there, because the king's wool in that county was not ready, on the River Trent, on its passage to the port of Kyngeston, and although the king ordered Geoffrey and his fellows to dearrest that wool without delay and deliver it to the merchants, to be taken as aforesaid, yet they have refused to do so, wherefore the merchants have not been able to make the said payments to the king.

July 25. Kennington. To the sheriff of Northampton. Order to cause hay, straw, shoes and all other things necessary for the custody of certain of the king's horses, and also wages for the keeper of the horses for the time when he shall stay in that bailiwick to be found, according to the ordinance and advice of John de Grymesby, the king's avener, and to the form of the statute concerning provision for the king's horses, and to cause indentures to be made thereupon as by the advice of the council the king has ordained that John shall stay in that bailiwick with the said horses for a certain time.

By bill of the treasurer.

The like to the sheriff of Leicester.

Aug. 4. Berkhampstead. To the prior of Holy Trinity, Norwich. Whereas the king appointed him to receive the subsidy of the ninth of sheaves, fleeces and lambs granted by the community of the realm, in co. Norfolk, so that he should answer for the money thereof, and now the king has learned that the vendors of the ninth in that county have sold it to certain men who are to levy it and receive the money thereof for their own use, and the men have caused tallies to be levied at the exchequer in the prior's name in his discharge upon the pretext of certain assignments made to him upon the subsidy, wherefore Queen Isabella and Queen Philippa cannot receive the sums assigned to them upon the subsidy in that county; the king therefore orders the prior not to receive any tallies of the exchequer for any sums except such as he receives by the hands of the sheriff and not to charge himself by such tallies or by any other warrant made to him for such sums received by others nor to do any thing by which the payment of the sums assigned to the said queens may be retarded, but to pay these sums to the queens or to their attorneys when he receives the money of the subsidy.

Aug. 25. Berkhamp stead. To the abbot of Faversham, collector in the diocese of Canterbury of the triennial and biennial tenths granted by the clergy of the province of Canterbury. Order to pay to Henry de Kendale, keeper of the king's victuals at London and Sandwich, 20*l.* upon his wages and the expenses of the office, receiving from him his letters patent testifying the receipt of the money, provided that the payments to Matthew Canaceon, assigned to him upon those tenths, be not retarded. By C.

To the sheriff of Wilts. Order to pay to John Mauduyt, whom the king appointed supervisor of the deduit of his beasts and dogs in the forests, chaces, parks, woods and elsewhere this side Trent during pleasure, receiving 40*l.* yearly for his wages and fees by the hands of the sheriff of Wilts, the said 40*l.* yearly so long as John remains in the said office.

Sept. 1. Berkhamp-stead. To the abbot of Derleye. Order to pay to Henry de Lancastr[ia], earl of Derby, or to his attorney, 2,661*l.* of 3,677*l.* 17*s.* 4*d.* of the money of the first year of the subsidy of the ninth in that county, by indenture made between them, receiving from the earl the king's letters of assignment made to him and the bills containing the sum of 2,661*l.*, and if the bills contain a greater sum to cause them to be endorsed with the sums paid to him and then delivered to him, as the king ordered the prior of Thurgarton, late receiver of the subsidy in co. Derby, to pay 2,661*l.* to the earl or to his attorney, which sum the king assigned to the earl of the said subsidy, of 3,677*l.* 17*s.* 4*d.* of a greater sum in which the king was bound to the earl for his wages for the time when he was in the king's service, as may appear by bills in his possession, or he says, under the seal of William de Northwell, sometime keeper of the wardrobe, and by a roll sent into chancery under the privy seal, and now, for certain causes the king has appointed the abbot in place of the prior to receive all money for the king's use in co. Derby, and the prior has hitherto paid nothing of that sum to the earl, as the king has learned. By p.s.

Aug. 28. Berkhamp-stead. To Reymund Seguyn, the king's butler. Order to deliver to Hugh de Audeley, earl of Gloucester, 15 tuns of wine upon those in which the king is bound to him by a bill of the wardrobe, for his wages and those of his men at arms and for the replacing of his horses lost in the war of Scotland, to wit in the siege of Dunbar castle. By bill of the treasurer.

Aug. 20. Berkhamp-stead. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer and to the chamberlains. Order to pay to Peter Bard, Peter Condy and William Rede of Sandwich or to their attorneys, without delay, the price of 16 tuns of wine taken for the munition of Dover castle, as Peter, Peter and William have besought the king, as John Soles, under pretext of a commission to him to take certain wine and other victuals for the munition of that castle, took 16 tuns of wine from them, as may appear by an indenture made between them in which the price of the wine is stated. To the mayor and bailiffs of Sandwich. The merchants of the society of the Peruzzi have besought the king that whereas they caused 46 sacks and 26 cloves of wood, 338 wool fells, to wit 7 sacks and 6 cloves thereof in 8 sarplars, under the name of Arnald de Aldyngham, 28 sacks and 42 cloves in 28 sarplars under the name of Anthony Bache, 5 sacks and 50 cloves under the name of Thomas Cary, 300 wool fells in two sarplars under the name of Arnald Simonet, 20 wool fells in one sarplar under the name of John de Maldre, 18 wool fells in a pack (fard) under the name of John de Burton to be laded in the port of London in a ship of Alan atte Mede long before the king's order that no wool should be taken out of the realm before the scrutiny of wool in that port, to be taken thence to Bruges in Flanders, and they paid there the customs and subsidies due thereon, as may appear by letters in the merchants' possession under the coket seal, and the ship in sailing to Bruges fled to the port of Sandwich for fear of the king's enemies who were then at sea, and the mayor and bailiffs, pretending that the wool had been laded after the order aforesaid, arrested it and detain it, and the king considering that the said wool and fells were laded to be taken to parts beyond the sea in aid of the expenses of the king's household which the merchants undertook to find, orders the mayor and bailiffs to view the said letters of coket and if they find that satisfaction was done to the king for the custom and subsidy in the port of London, before the order aforesaid, then to cause the said wool and fells to be de-arrested without delay and delivered to the said merchants to be taken to Bruges as aforesaid.

Sept. 10. Windsor. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to supersede the demand made upon Walter de Pulton for the extent of a messuage, 20 acres of land, 3 acres of meadow and 10*s.* rent in Northwode which belonged to John Dobyn, tenant in chief, and which were in the king's hand by reason of the minority of John, son and heir of the said John, as the king lately committed to Walter the custody of the said tenements to hold during pleasure, rendering the extent thereof at the exchequer yearly, and afterwards Walter surrendered the king's letters to chancery to be cancelled, because he neither had received nor could receive anything thereof, and the letters were then cancelled as is found by inspection of the chancery rolls.

Aug. 20. Berkhampstead. To the collectors of customs in the port of London. Order to permit Peter, cardinal priest of St. Praxed, or his attorneys to take 60 sacks of wool from that port to Bruges in Flanders without paying the custom and subsidy due thereon, in accordance with the king's grant to him for his favour to the king in his affairs in parts beyond the sea. The king wishes letters obligatory to be made for Henry Muddepenyng and his fellows, merchants of Almain, to whom he granted all the customs and subsidies in all ports of the realm to hold until they were satisfied for certain sums in which the king was bound to them, and who gave their consent in the premises, so that they shall have the customs and subsidies until they have received 120*l.* for the said 60 sacks beyond the sums due to them by the king, or shall have satisfaction for the said 120*l.* at another time.

Sept. 2. Berkhampstead. To the receiver of the subsidy of the ninth of sheaves, lambs and fleeces and of the ninth of citizens and burgesses and of the fifteenth of merchants and other forinsic persons, lately granted by the community of the realm, in the archdeaconry of Lincoln. Order to pay to Master Bernard de Sistr[ia], papal nuncio in England or to his attorney, by indenture, 1,200 marks, of the money touching the merchants of the society of the Peruzzi in that archdeaconry, provided that nothing of the portion touching the merchants of the society of the Bardi is paid by the pretext of this order, as the merchants of the said societies lent the king great sums of money for his affairs and they have promised to lend him more and have undertaken to pay money for him, and the king assigned to them all the said subsidy of the ninths and fifteenth lately granted in the parliament at Westminster on Wednesday after Sunday in mid Lent last, in the said archdeaconry, in part payment of the said sums; and Peter Dini has acknowledged before the king in chancery for himself and his fellows, merchants of the society of the Peruzzi, that they borrowed 1,200 marks of Bernard, and he besought the king to cause that sum to be paid to Bernard of the money touching them of the said assignment in the archdeaconry of Lincoln. Canterbury. Order to pay 150*l.* (sic) to the merchants of the society of the Bardi without delay, if they find that the king ordered him to pay 250*l.* to those merchants of which the king caused tallies to be levied at the receipt of the exchequer and delivered to the merchants in the prior's discharge, in part payment of certain sums in which the king is bound to them, which order the prior has not obeyed, as the king has learned, and the merchants have agreed to lend the 250*l.* to the king for his affairs in parts beyond the sea, when they receive them. If the prior delays payment the king will cause him to be rigorously punished, and will cause the 250*l.* to be levied of his manors, lands, possessions, goods and chattels by certain lieges appointed for the purpose.

Sept. 20. Andover. To the sheriff of Gloucester. Order to supersede the demand made upon the mayor, bailiffs and lawful men of Bristol for 22*l.* for the queen's gold of 220*l.* paid to the king for the tenth granted by the citizens and burgesses of the realm, until the quinzaine of Michaelmas next, so that before that day the rolls and memoranda of the exchequer may be examined, and the attorneys of Queen Philippa and of the mayor and others heard, and justice done in the matter, as the mayor and others assert that they ought to be discharged of the 22*l.* and they are distrained therefor by the sheriff and have besought the king to cause the demand made on them for that sum to be superseded as the queen's gold ought not to be exacted of such a tenth of right or custom. By C.

Sept. 15. Windsor. To Ralph Sauvage and Stephen de Forsham. Order to be attendant upon the taking and levying of wool for the king's use in co. Kent, and in all matters contained in the king's commission to them, not awaiting the presence of William Vaghan, as the king lately appointed Ralph, Stephen and William to take 1,000 sacks of wool in that county of the 20,000 sacks granted by the parliament at Westminster held on Wednesday after the Translation of St. Thomas last, so that satisfaction for the price of the wool should be given to the men from whom it was taken of the subsidy of sheaves, fleeces and lambs of the second year, and to do certain other things contained in the king's letters patent; and now the king has learned from trustworthy testimony that William is detained by such infirmity that he cannot travail upon the premises for this turn, and that Ralph and Stephen have done nothing in taking the wool or other things by reason of his absence; and the king wishes the wool in that county to be taken and purveyed with all possible speed. By C.

Sept. 6. Berkhampstead. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer, Dublin. Order to pay to Thomas, bishop of Hereford, or to his attorney, without delay, the arrears of his fee as keeper of Ireland, or to give him an assignment therefor upon the ferm of cities and boroughs of that land or upon customs due there so that he shall not have cause to complain of the lack of payment of those arrears, whereby it would behove the king to be further disturbed in the matter, as in consideration of the bishop's costs and expenses as keeper of Ireland in keeping the peace there, and in setting out to repel the king's enemies with a great force of armed horse and foot, the king ordered the said treasurer and barons several times to pay the bishop the arrears of his said fee before all the king's other ministers in Ireland, and although they received these orders and the bishop earnestly sued before them for payment, yet they have hitherto paid him little or nothing.

Order to supersede the payment of 329*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* to John de Molyns and to cause the king's writ for the payment of that sum, if it is on the files of chancery, and the enrolment of the same to be cancelled, as the king lately ordered them to pay John that sum, which he lent to the king at Lescluse in Flanders and which the king promised to pay him at Michaelmas next or to give him an assignment therefor, but now the king has granted that he shall receive that sum of the subsidy of the ninth of sheaves, lambs and fleeces in co. Sept. 10. Berkhampstead. To the collectors of the subsidy of the ninth of sheaves, fleeces and lambs and to the taxers of the ninth and fifteenth in co. Derby. The men of the hamlet of Alwaston in that county have complained to the king shewing him that whereas the chapel of St. Michael, Alwaston, was united for certain causes to the church of St. Michael, Derby, by the former archbishop of Canterbury, metropolitan of the place, and the chapel was taxed at 6 marks and the church at 10 marks, each by itself before the union, and although the men of the hamlet are ready to answer for the said ninth according to the said tax of 6 marks, yet the collectors, because the church is now taxed at 16 marks together with the chapel, as is said, and the parishoners of the church living at Derby pay the ninth with their fellow burgesses, pretending that they ought not to be charged with the ninth of that church at the same time, have charged the men of Alwaston with the entire tax of 16 marks by reason of an order of the king directed to them under the form of a patent containing that the ninth ought to be sold for the tax of the churches at the least, whereupon the king has been besought to provide a remedy; the king therefore orders the collectors, if they find that the chapel was taxed at 6 marks before it was united, to assess the men of the hamlet for the ninth according to that tax, and to supersede the demand made upon them for the remaining 10 marks until it is found by the lieges, whom the king will appoint to enquire concerning the true value of the ninth in all the parishes of that county, whether the tax of the chapel reaches the true value of the ninth of the hamlet, so that if the value of the ninth exceeds 6 marks, the men shall answer for the surplus. Proviso that the said parishioners dwelling at Derby shall pay the ninth of all their moveables in that town according to their true value, as well as the ninth of their sheaves, fleeces and lambs without that town and the limits of the said church, and within the said county.

Sept. 27. Andover.

To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to allow 123*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* to John de Causton and Thomas de Swanlond, collectors of customs in the port of London, in their account, charging therewith Thomas de Baddeby the king's clerk, Nicholas Pik and the sheriffs of London, each of them with what he received, as the said collectors have besought the king to supply a remedy, as Peter Byne and his fellows, merchants of the society of the Bardi, and John Baroncel and his fellows, merchants of the society of the Peruzzi, in the month of December in the 12th year of the reign, delivered at the request of the council, 50 marks to Thomas who was then deputed to take certain of the king's wool from the port of London to parts beyond the sea, for his expenses in the same, 40*l.* to Nicholas for his expenses in the munition of certain ships of war for the safe conduct of the wool, and 50*l.* to the sheriffs for the payment of wages to the men setting out in those ships, and although the collectors paid 123*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* to the merchants afterwards by order of the council, yet the treasurer and barons have hitherto delayed to allow them that sum. To the same. Whereas the king lately caused the priory of Arundel to be taken into his hand among priories etc. of aliens, and afterwards on 27 July in the 11th year of the reign the king committed the custody thereof to the prior, to hold during pleasure, rendering 35*l.* yearly to the king therefor; and afterwards at the prior's suit beseeching the king to grant him some mitigation in that ferm, as Edward I when the priory was in his hand by reason of a war with the king of France remitted 8*l.* yearly to the prior of that ferm, and because it was found by a certificate sent into chancery that from the time of Edward I the priory was taxed at 54*l.* 3*s.* 11½*d.* and was committed to brother Denis, then the prior, for rendering 35*l.* yearly, and that afterwards because the prior had no allowance for his maintenance and that of his five fellow monks, after the priory was taken, except of 19*l.* 3*s.* 11½*d.* yearly, when 27*l.* yearly ought to be allowed to him according to an ordinance then made for the maintenance of such men of religion, it was agreed that the prior should pay 27*l.* yearly thenceforward during the custody in consideration of the divers charges born, by the priory at this time and because the king wished to show favour to Richard earl of Arundel, in conformity with his request, on 15 May last the king granted that the prior should have the custody during pleasure, rendering 27*l.* yearly therefor; and now the prior has besought the king that whereas he has paid 8*l.* yearly for three years beyond the said 27*l.* the king will order the said 24*l.* to be allowed to him in the payment of the 27*l.*, to wit 13*l.* 10*s.* at Michaelmas term next and the residue thereof at other terms; the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to cause such allowance to be made to the prior, if they find that he paid 24*l.* as aforesaid.

To Richard de Venables, escheator in cos. Gloucester, Worcester, Hereford, Salop, Stafford and the march of Wales. Order not to intermeddle further with the temporalities of the abbey of Pershore, restoring the issues thereof to the prior and convent, having taken a simple seisin in the name of the king's lordship within the gates of the abbey, which is now void by the resignation of brother William de Herewynton, the last abbot, as the king considering the damage suffered by the abbey in voidances in times past, by the wasting and destruction of its woods, groves and other appurtenances by escheators and other keepers, and wishing according to the statute concerning such custodies enacted in the late parliament at Westminster and at the earnest request of the abbot, that the abbey should in future be protected against such damage, granted to the abbot and convent then that the prior and convent should have the custody of the abbey in every voidance with free administration and disposition of the possessions thereof, saving to the king the knights' fees and advowsons of the abbey during voidances, rendering 36*l.* for the first two months of the voidance, and pro rata for a longer or shorter time; and that no escheator, sheriff or other bailiff or minister of the king should intermeddle with the custody by reason of a voidance, except that the escheator or other minister should take a simple seisin as aforesaid at the beginning of every voidance, and that done, should immediately depart without taking any fealty or recognisance or other thing thence, so that he should not stay there more than one day for the purpose of taking the seisin or substitute anyone in his place. The king also granted that if in time of a voidance he should cause an army to be summoned, the prior and convent should not be bound to make any service therein for their own and the demesne knights' fees of the abbey then in their hands, and should not be molested for that cause, saving the fees held of the abbey pertaining to the king.

Sept. 30. Andover. To the sheriff of Essex. Order to take and imprison without delay all those whom the assessors and vendors of the ninth of sheaves, lambs and fleeces granted in the late parliament at Westminster for the defence of England, shall make known to him to be rebel and contrary in the levying and sale of that ninth, and to keep them there until the king has ordained concerning their punishment, as the king is informed that certain men of the county refuse to pay the ninth and will not permit it to be levied of them, but resist the vendors and assessors in the levying and sale thereof to the utmost of their power, so that the vendors cannot answer to the king therefor as they ought. By C.

Surrey and taken to that city, and the king ordered the said takers and purveyors to dearrest the said 7 sarplars without delay and deliver them to Peter Chenny and Bernardinus Dyny of Florence, the cardinal's attorneys. The king wishes Henry Muddepenyng and his fellows, merchants of Almain, to whom he granted all the customs and subsidies in all the ports of the realm to hold until they should be satisfied for certain sums of money in which the king is bound to them, to have the said customs and subsidies until they are satisfied for 120*l.* for the custom and subsidy of the said 60 sacks, beyond the sums due to them by the king or until they are satisfied for that sum at another time.

John Polkyn and Thomas Colle, merchants, to lade 1,000 sacks of the king's wool of cos. Gloucester and Worcester in that port and take them to Flanders having first paid the custom and subsidy thereon, provided that they do not take the wool of other counties, as the king lately sold them 500 sacks of the wool of co. Gloucester and 500 sacks of that of co. Worcester, of the 20,000 sacks granted to him in the last parliament at Westminster, and they undertook before the council to pay 200*l.* of the price of the wool to the keeper of the wardrobe, in parts beyond the sea, on the quinzaine of Michaelmas next, for the war there, and the residue within three weeks from the time when the sacks were delivered to them, and that they may take them to the nearest port, and that they will pay the subsidy thereon of 40*s.* a sack, as is contained in the indenture made with them.

Oct. 8. Andover. To the collectors of the customs of wool, hides and wool-fells in the port of London. Whereas the king lately sold 600 sacks of the wool of co. Warwick to John de Wesenham and Walter de Chiryton, and they undertook in like manner to pay 100*l.* of the price to the keeper on the quinzaine of Michaelmas next and the residue as aforesaid, as well as the custom and subsidy thereon, and now the said merchants have besought the king to grant that they may take 60 sacks of their own wool from that port and the port of Boston, as none of the king's wool is as yet levied in the said county, so that they cannot pay the king the sums which they have undertaken to pay him unless other help is afforded to them, the king has therefore granted their request and orders the collectors to permit them to lade 20 sacks of their own wool of the said 60 sacks and to take them as aforesaid. Sept. 18. Kennington. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Whereas, as the king has learned, he lately ordered the justiciary of Ireland or him who supplies his place, by writ of privy seal, to distrain Alexander de Bikemore, archbishop of Dublin, collector of the tenth granted to the late king in the 13th year of his reign by the clergy of Ireland, so that he should be before them on the morrow of the close of Easter last to render his account for the said tenth; and because the king was informed by the archbishop that he accounted for that tenth before the treasurer and barons of the exchequer, Dublin, and satisfied the king for the arrears thereof, as may fully appear by the rolls and memoranda of the exchequer, Dublin, the king afterwards ordered the treasurer and barons of the exchequer, Dublin, to inspect the rolls and memoranda of that exchequer and inform the king of what they should find, and they have certified that they have found nothing in the rolls and memoranda concerning any tenth granted to the late king by the clergy of Ireland in the 13th year or of any account rendered by the archbishop therefor, but that it is found that the archbishop was collector of a certain yearly tenth granted to the late king by Pope John XXII in the said year, of ecclesiastical benefices and the temporalties and spiritualities annexed thereto in Ireland, and he rendered account therefor in the exchequer, Dublin, and satisfied the king for the arrears, and was found in surplus upon that account; the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to view the said certificate, which he sends to them enclosed with a writ sewed thereto, and to supersede the demand made upon the archbishop for rendering the said account, releasing him from any distraint made for that cause, without delay.

Oct. 26. The Tower. To the same. Order to discharge John Mauduyt, sheriff of Wilts, Robert de Wodeford and Henry Burry, late receivers of wool in co. Wilts, of 270 sarplars of wool of the sort of co. Wilts, except 29 sarplars which afterwards came into the custody of Robert and Henry, and Thomas de Bynedon and Robert de Farnefeld, late receivers of wool in co. Southampton, of 136 sacks, 40 cloves, 5 pounds of wool of co. Southampton, provided that answer is made to the king for the 29 sarplars by Robert and Henry and for 50 cloves of wool by Elias Farman of Hungerford and others mentioned below, as the king, being lately informed that several men of the town and county of Southampton and of co. Wilts both before alien enemies, entered that town and afterwards had carried away the king's wool there, appointed Edmund de la Beche, Robert Daundely and James de Wodestok to take an inquisition concerning the wool so taken, to take the wool into the king's hand and keep it safely until further order, and to find how much of the said wool had been burned or plundered by the said alien enemies; and now it is found by the inquisitions taken thereupon by Edmund and James that the said receivers in co. Wilts, under pretext of the king's commission to them, took from co. Wilts to Southampton, before Michaelmas in the 12th year of the reign, 270 sarplars of wool containing 332¼ sacks and 12 cloves, which were burned and carried away by the alien enemies on Monday after Michaelmas in the 12th year, except 29 sarplars containing 32 sacks 2 cloves, which afterwards came into the custody of Robert and Henry; and that the said receivers in co. Southampton received 136 sacks 40 cloves 5 pounds of the better sort of that county, according to the rate of the fifteenth, which were also burned and carried away by the said enemies, except 50 cloves thereof which were taken and carried away after the said burning by the following men, to wit, by Elias Farman ½ sack, by John atte Strode, hayward of Bisshopestok 6 cloves, by William de Dambele of Nutshillyng 6 cloves, by William Sparewe and Robert Elys of Nyweton 6 cloves, by Alexander sometime hayward of Hugh de Cammoys, 6 cloves, and that those 50 cloves came into the hands of Elias and the others; and now John de Stonore has testified before the king in chancery that the premises contained in the inquisitions are the truth, wherefore the king wishes justice to be done to Robert, Henry, Thomas and Robert. By C.

Oct. 25. The Tower. To Robert de Clere, escheator in cos. Norfolk, Suffolk, Cambridge, Huntingdon, Essex and Hertford. Order to cause Robert brother of Ingelram son of Robert de Merk, and Jacomina, wife of Robert de Merk, to have seisin of the manor of Merk in the town of Great Dunmowe, saving the relief of Robert due to the king in this respect, as the king has learned by inquisition taken by the escheator that Jacomina held the said manor at her death by the grant of John Gamelyn to Robert and herself and the heirs of their bodies, by a fine levied in the court of Edward I, as of the honour of Boulogne, by the service of a knight's fee, and that they had a son Ingelram and Robert, who was born afterwards, and that Ingelram crossed to parts beyond the sea long before the death of Jacomina but it is not known whether he is alive or dead, and Robert is the next heir apparent of Robert and Jacomina and of full age; and the king has taken Robert's fealty for the said manor and has given him respite for his homage until the Purification next unless the king return to England in the mean time. Oct. 20. Andover. To Ralph de Middelneye, escheator in cos. Somerset, Dorset, Cornwall and Devon. Order not to intermeddle further with the manors of Stoke Tristre, Cokelyngton and Boyford, co. Somerset, restoring the issues thereof from 2 July last, as the king has learned by an inquisition taken by the escheator that John de Lorty held no lands at his death in his demesne as of fee, but that long before his death he granted the said manors by charter to one Elizabeth Child of Stanford, whom John married after the said enfeoffment, and that John had no estate in those manors except as the husband of Elizabeth, who survives him, and that the manors are held of the king by the service of a knight's fee and on 2 July last the king pardoned the trespass of Elizabeth in acquiring the manors and entering them without licence.

Oct. 22. Andover To the escheator in cos. Cornwall, Devon, Somerset and Dorset. Order not to intermeddle further with the manors of Puttenye and Knoll, co. Somerset, restoring the issues thereof, those of Puttenye from 15 July last and those of Knoll from the time of its being taken into the king's hand, as the king has learned by inquisition taken by the escheator that John de Lorty at his death held no lands in his demesne as of fee but that long before his death he granted the said manors to Ralph de Middelneye, and the manor of Puttenye is held of the king by the service of rendering 20*s.* yearly at the exchequer by the hands of the sheriff of Somerset, and the manor of Knolle is held of another than the king, and on 15 July last the king pardoned Ralph his trespass in acquiring the manor of Puttenye without licence. Order to cause Roger de Bisshopesdon son of John de Bisshopesdon to have seisin of the bailiwick of the forestry of la Leekheye, which is the king's hay, as the king has learned by inquisition taken by the escheator that John at his death held the said bailiwick in his demesne as of fee by the service of grand serjeanty and that he held no other lands in chief, and that Roger is his next heir and of full age, and the king took Roger's fealty for the said bailiwick and gave him respite for his homage until the Purification next unless the king return from parts beyond the sea in the meantime. By the keeper and C.

Oct. 26. The Tower. To the sheriff of Lancaster. Order to cause Simon de Walton to have seisin without delay of a messuage and a carucate of land in Walton near Westderby which Thomas de Spellawe held, who was outlawed for felony, as the king has learned by inquisition taken by the sheriff that the said lands were in the king's hands for a year and a day, and that Thomas held them of Simon, who had the year, day and waste thereof and ought to answer for them to the king.

Nov. 5. Wallingford To Thomas de Yafford, late the mayor of Kyngeston upon Hull, John Helward and John Stut, late bailiffs of that town, and to John de Barton and Hugh de Clay, collectors of customs in the port of that town. Order to deliver to William Mousake or to his attorney 12 sacks and a pocket of wool, without delay, and to permit him to cross from that port to parts beyond the sea with the wool, having first paid the custom and subsidy due thereon, as for a certain sum of money which William will pay to the king in the treasury before the octaves of Martinmas next, the king sold him 12 sacks 1 pocket of wool which Thomas de Brayton and Richard atte Wode, the king's sergeant of arms in that town and port, arrested as forfeit to the king, because they had been placed in ships to be taken to parts beyond the sea, without payment of the custom and subsidy due thereon, with intention to defraud the king thereof, which wool was delivered by indenture to the mayor and others, to be kept until further order. lands of the abbot of Fécamp in England to hold during pleasure, rendering 500 marks yearly therefor, to pay 250 marks to Thomas de Bradestan, banneret, or to his attorney for Michaelmas term last, or if the prior neglect to make such payment to cause that sum to be levied of the issues of the said lands and delivered to Thomas or his attorney, so that for lack of such payment Thomas may not have cause to depart from the king's service in parts beyond the sea, in which he is now staying, as the king ordered the proctor of the abbot's lands in England to pay the said 500 marks yearly to Thomas so long as the lands should remain in the king's hand [as at page 511 above], and the corn and all the goods and chattels in those lands are now in the prior's possession by virtue of the commission to him, wherefore the proctor cannot make the said payment, and the prior is bound to pay the said ferm for Michaelmas term last.

Oct. 18. Andover. To the same. Order to cause 140*l.* to be allowed by the king's favour to Roger de Forsham and William de Thorneye, who were lately elected sheriffs of London and Middlesex, in their ferm, for this turn, provided that they answer for the residue of that ferm, as they have besought the king, by their petition before him and his council, to provide for their indemnity, as they executed the office from Michaelmas in the 18th year of the reign until the Michaelmas following, and they are charged to pay 315*l.* for the ferm of the city for that year, and the greater part of that ferm is derived from the customs of wool, hides and wool-fells and other merchandise taken from the port of the city to parts beyond the sea, and brought to the city from those parts; and sheriffs in past time received these in aid of payment of the ferm, and for the maintenance of the ministers of the city and other charges, and by reason of divers orders of the king, after the election of Roger and William, forbidding merchants or others to take wool etc. out of the realm, and by reason of the war with France, the said sheriffs have been prevented from receiving such customs, and by examinations and information of Andrew Aubray, mayor of the city and of John de Causton, one of the collectors of the great custom there and of six aldermen, before the council, it is found that Roger and William in the year when they were sheriffs were prevented from receiving 140*l.* for the causes aforesaid.

Order to cause all the money of that subsidy received by him, except what the king has ordered to be delivered by his hands, to be taken to William de Edyngton, the king's clerk, to the Tower without delay, and delivered to him there by indenture, to be kept safely, as it was lately ordained by the king and his council in the said parliament that all the money of that subsidy for the present year and the year following, in all the counties this side Trent, shall be received at the Tower and kept there, to be expended for the defence of England, the prosecution of the war beyond the sea and other matters specially touching the king, and not for other uses, and the king has appointed William to receive that money and keep it in the Tower, so that he shall answer to the king therefor.

Nov. 20. Reading. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer and to the chamberlains. Order to view the bills of John Travers, late constable of Bordeaux, and to cause the executors of the will of Adam de Lymbergh, sometime constable of Bordeaux of the late king to have payment of the sums which are found to be due to Adam by those bills, in the accounts or other debts which Adam owes at the exchequer, and to inform the king if there is any reason why they should not do this, as the king ordered them to cause allowance to be made to Adam in his account and debts of the sums which should be found to be due to him [as at page 307 above], and now the executors have informed the king that although the treasurer, barons and chamberlains caused all the sums contained in the bills of Roger de Waltham, late keeper of the wardrobe, and of Nicholas de Heugat, late receiver of the late king's money and victuals in the parts of Bordeaux and in the letters of Ralph Basset, seneschal of the late king in Gascony, to be allowed to Adam while he lived and to the executors in the account, yet they have hitherto delayed to allow them the sums contained in the bills of John Travers, whereupon the executors have besought the king to order due allowance of the said sums to be made to them.

Salop and 400 sacks of co. Stafford, of the 20,000 sacks granted to the king, for certain sums to be paid to the king in parts beyond the sea for his affairs, as is contained in an indenture between the king and the merchants, and now the king has learned that the bailiffs have arrested the said wool which the merchants caused to be taken to Torkeseye, to be taken thence to the ports where they are to be laded, in order to levy a toll thereon, and have caused divers sums of money to be levied of the merchants of their wool: the king orders them to desist from such things and from hindering the merchants in taking the said wool, acquitting them of the toll and permitting them to take the wool to the said ports, so that they may make payment to the king as aforesaid, knowing that if they hinder the said merchants further, to the delay of the said payment, the king will punish them severely. Nov. 27. Wallingford. To the collectors of customs in the port of Boston. Order to permit Tidemannus de Lymberg and John de Wold and their fellows, merchants of Almain, or their attorneys, to lade 500 sacks of wool in that port and take them to Flanders without paying the custom and subsidy due thereon, certifying the king if Matthew Canaceon and Tisard Baret, merchants, have laded any wool in that port by reason of the king's order to those collectors to permit them to take 150 sacks of 500 sacks of wool from that port to parts beyond the sea, remitting that order to chancery, as the king is bound to James Scuteller of Brugges and Clare late the wife of Michael Joce of Parys in 101 sacks of wool of co. Lincoln by the weight of Brugges, to be delivered to their attorney at Martinmas last in the port of Kyngeston upon Hull or Boston, to be taken thence to Brugges at the king's cost, without paying the custom or subsidy thereon, and Matthew and Tisard undertook before the council to pay the said 101 sacks to James and Clare at Brugges and to exonerate the king towards James and Clare if the sacks were not delivered on the said feast, as is contained in an indenture made with them, and to satisfy Matthew and Tisard for the 101 sacks the king granted that they should lade 500 sacks of wool in divers ports of the realm, and take them to parts beyond the sea without paying the custom and subsidy thereon, in full satisfaction of the 101 sacks, and the king ordered the collectors to permit Matthew and Tisard to take 150 of those 500 sacks from that port to parts beyond the sea in the form aforesaid, and because Matthew and Tisard have asserted before the council that they cannot fulfil

Nov. 25. Wallingford. To R. bishop of Durham. Order to deliver all wool of co. Northumberland arrested by him in his liberty of Durham to Richard de Galeweye, Thomas Flemyng and William FitzDieu, merchants of Newcastle upon Tyne, by indenture containing the number of sacks and to whom they belonged, so that they may do their pleasure therewith and answer to the king for the price thereof, as the merchants have besought the king to order this to be done, as the king sold to them 500 sacks of wool of co. Northumberland, of the 20,000 sacks granted to him, so that they should pay 100*l.* to the keeper of the wardrobe in parts beyond the sea on the octaves of Michaelmas last, for the war there, and the price of the residue within three weeks from the time when the sacks should be delivered to them and that they would pay the custom and subsidy of 40*s.* a sack thereon, and although the merchants paid the 100*l.* yet they have not received any of the said wool because some men of the said county eloign the greater part of their wool from that county so that it may not be taken for the king's use and defraud the king thereof, taking it to the said liberty, contrary to the king's prohibition and proclamations, and this wool is arrested by the bishop by pretext of an order of the king directing him to enquire concerning wool brought into that liberty and to arrest it for the king's use. The king wishes to deliberate with the council whether the wool so arrested ought to remain to him as forfeit, or whether those to whom it belonged should be satisfied for the price thereof in accordance with the grant to the king of the 20,000 sacks aforesaid. Stafford to the port of Boston, in accordance with the king's grant to them, as he sold them 600 sacks of the wool of co. Warwick of the 20,000 sacks granted to him, and they undertook to pay 100*l.* of the price to the keeper of the wardrobe in parts beyond the sea, on the quinzaine of Michaelmas last, and the residue of the price within three weeks from the time when they received the wool, and that they would pay the custom and subsidy of 40*s.* a sack thereon, and afterwards at their suit, beseeching the king to permit them to take 60 sacks of their own wool at the ports of London and Boston, to accelerate the said payment, as none of the wool of co. Warwick is yet levied, so that they could not make payment as they had undertaken to do, unless they received assistance, the king granted that they should take 60 sacks of their own wool as aforesaid. To Henry Muddepenyng and his fellows, merchants appointed to receive all the issues of the customs of wool, hides and wool-fells and of the subsidy in the port of London and in other ports of the realm, under a certain form, or to their attorney in the port of London. Order to pay to Henry de Lancastr[ia] earl of Derby or to his attorney, 445 marks 9*s.* 7*d.* for Michaelmas term last, as the king ordered the collectors of the custom of wool, hides and wool-fells in that port to pay the said sum to the earl for that term and to show cause if they could not obey that order [as at page 580 above] and the collectors have certified in chancery that the said merchants, by virtue of the king's writ to the collectors, have received all the said issues from 8 May last until that time, so that they could not make the said payment, and in the indenture between the king and the merchants it is provided that the latter shall make such payments but shall not be charged with the arrears thereof.

Nov. 20. Wallingford. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to supersede the demand which the collectors of the ninth and fifteenth and of the biennial tenth granted by the clergy of the province of Canterbury, in co. Dorset, make upon John de Tydelmynton, the king's clerk, by reason of the manors of Brodeweye and Elleworth, co. Dorset, which belonged to Simon de Trewithosa, as on 27 October in the 13th year of the reign, the king committed to John the said manors, which were in his hand for debts in which Simon at his death was bound to him, to hold of the king at ferm from Michaelmas in the 13th year of the reign until the end of five years, rendering 31*l.* yearly at the exchequer, in part payment of the said debts, and now John has shown the king that the said collectors exact the ninth, fifteenth and tenth of him by reason of the manors and intend to levy the sum of those manors, and it is not consonant with right that he should be charged with the said quotas by reason of manors which are in the king's hand and are committed to him at ferm. By C.

Nov. 22. Wallingford. To Ralph de Middelnye, escheator in cos. Cornwall, Devon, Somerset and Dorset. Order to cause Robert de Seyntcler son and heir of Robert de Seyntcler, tenant in chief, to have seisin of all the lands of which his father at his death was seised in his demesne as of fee, as Robert the son has proved his age before the escheator, and the king has taken his fealty and given him respite for his homage until the Purification next, unless the king return to England in the mean time. By the keeper and C.

Nov. 24. Wallingford. To the mayor and bailiffs of Kyngeston upon Hull. Order to cause all the wool of certain merchants brought to that port, which they can prove to be their own, to be dearrested without delay and delivered to the merchants or to their attorneys to be sent to parts beyond the sea, as although the king appointed certain lieges to arrest wool for his use in cos. York, Lincoln, Nottingham and elsewhere, and to do certain other things contained in his letters patent, yet it is not the king's intention that wool purveyed in those counties by merchants and brought to that port or sent from it, shall be taken by virtue of such commissions. not to intermeddle further therewith, restoring the issues thereof to the prioress, as the king wishing to know the cause of the taking of that land into his hand ordered William Trussel, late escheator this side Trent, to certify him thereupon, and William has returned that he did not so take the said land, but that Robert de Holewell, sometime escheator in the aforesaid counties, delivered that land to him by indenture, asserting that it was in the king's hand by reason of the appropriation thereof made by the prioress after the publication of the statute of mortmain, without licence; and afterwards at the suit of the prioress asserting that she acquired the land of Adam son of John de Watlyngton by licence and she showed the king's letters of licence beseeching him to cause his hand to be amoved from the land, the king ordered Robert to take an inquisition upon the matter, by which it is found that the said two acres which were acquired of Adam are the same two acres which were taken by Robert de Holewell.

Oct. 30. The Tower. To the takers and receivers of wool in the city of London. Order to cause 19 sacks of wool taken by them to be dearrested without delay and delivered to John de Brake, merchant of Almain, to do his pleasure therewith, as he has besought the king to cause this to be done, as he bought 19 sacks of wool long before the grant of 20,000 sacks to the king, and they are arrested by the receivers by virtue of their commission, and the king has learned from trustworthy testimony that the sacks were bought as John asserts, and he wishes to show favour to John because he is a merchant of Almain and in the king's friendship. By C.

Nov. 18. Wallingford. To Robert de Clere, escheator in cos. Norfolk, Suffolk, Cambridge, Huntington, Essex and Hertford. Order to pay to Robert de Ufford, earl of Suffolk, or to his attorney, what is in arrear to him of 11*l.* 3*s.* 4*d.* rent of a certain fee ferm and 15*s.* rent of a certain yearly scutage, which John son of Robert de Thorp was wont to render to the king yearly for a moiety of the manor of Combes, co. Suffolk, and which the king granted to the earl on 15 February in the 12th year of the reign, and to the heirs male of his body with other manors and lands in part satisfaction of 1,000 marks of land and rent which the king granted to provide the earl, and now John is dead and the said moiety is taken into the king's hand and the fee ferm and scutage are withheld from the earl from the time of John's death, as the king has learned. The escheator shall pay the earl the said fee ferm and scutage yearly henceforth, so long as the moiety is in the king's hand.

Nov. 20. Wallingford. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer and to the chamberlains. Order that in all allowances upon accounts of purveyors, and receivers of the king's money and victuals, rendered before them concerning their liveries, and of all payments upon the exactions of debtors made by creditors, men at arms, serjeants and archers, they shall receive the indentures, letters or bills of those liveries or debts under the seal of William de Northwell, late keeper of the wardrobe, by which that clerk shall be charged upon his account, and the king shall be absolved of such debts when once satisfaction has been made, as William received divers sums of money and other victuals from divers purveyors, receivers and creditors who lent the king money, for the expenses of the household for the time when he was keeper, and also accounted with certain men at arms, serjeants of the household and archers by reason of his office and by the king's order, and made indentures for the purveyors and creditors and letters patent for the men at arms, serjeants and archers under his seal and delivered them, whereby the purveyors and receivers had allowance in their accounts for their liveries and the creditors, men at arms, serjeants and archers could pursue payment; and the king is informed that the treasurer, barons and chamberlains have caused divers such allowances to purveyors, receivers and creditors and payments to men at arms, serjeants and archers to be made without receiving the bills and indentures of William, so that allowances and payments can be newly exacted of the king at another time. By C.

Nov. 16. Reading. To R. bishop of Durham. Order to cause 35 sacks of wool arrested by him to be dearrested and delivered to William Lengleis the king's yeoman or his attorney, to do his pleasure therewith, as for a certain sum of money which William paid to William de la Pole for the king's use, the king granted that he should lade 100 sacks of wool in the port of Newcastle upon Tyne and take them to parts beyond the sea without paying the custom and subsidy thereon, and he is hindered in doing this and has now informed the king that 35 sacks which he caused to be purveyed of the 100 sacks are arrested by the bishop by virtue of the king's order to arrest all wool fraudulently taken into the liberty of Durham, and William has besought the king to order the wool to be delivered to him in aid of paying his debts in which he is bound to divers men by reason of the king's service, and the king has considered the damages and costs sustained by William in the said service in parts beyond the sea, and also that he is satisfied for the custom and subsidy of that wool. By p.s.

Nov. 16. Reading. To the vendors and assessors of the ninth of sheaves, fleeces and lambs in co. Hertford. Order to supersede the demand made upon the prioress and nuns of Chesthunt for that ninth, restoring without delay anything which they have levied of them for this cause, as the prioress and nuns have besought the king to order that exaction to be superseded, as their house is so slenderly endowed that the goods and possessions thereof do not suffice for their maintenance unless they are assisted by the alms of the faithful, and for this cause the house was not taxed at the tenth, fifteenth, or any quota granted by the clergy or laity in times past. By C.

Oct. 31. Wallingford. The vendors and assessors of the ninth of sheaves, lambs and fleeces granted by the community of the realm in co. Northampton. Order to go from town to town and inform themselves of the money or other goods which are received from the men of those towns beyond the ninth by their deputies buying the ninth or charged therewith or the constables, reeves or others under colour of expenses which they pretend that they ought to receive from the townships for the levying of the ninth or for other reasons, by threats, compulsion, extortion or other unjust ways, and to cause all the money and other goods so taken beyond the ninth, to be restored with all speed to those from whom they were taken, so that nothing shall be levied or paid beyond what is due, knowing that if they are remiss, the king will send certain of his justices to that county, before St. Andrew next, with power to enquire concerning oppressions, grievances and excesses, and to hear and determine them, punishing those whom they shall find guilty beyond the accustomed punishment, as the king has learned from the lamentable information of the people of that county that some who are deputed by the vendors to levy the wool and others who are charged to buy the ninth of divers towns in the county and four men who are charged towards the king with the unsold ninth, and the constables and reeves of such towns have levied and extorted intolerable sums of money from the men of the towns so that many are compelled by necessity to desert their own places and to seek their food from other's distribution, at which the king is greatly angered. The king has ordered the sheriff of the county to be attendant upon the vendors in the premises as they shall direct him, and the king further orders them to cause the ninth to be levied according to the form of the grant and of the king's orders.

Oct. 20. The Tower. To the mayor and sheriffs of London. Order to permit the dean and chapter of St. Martin's le Grand, London, to close a way between the cemetery of that church and the church of St. Leonard on the west, and to keep it closed in accordance with the grant of Edward I to William de Luda, then dean, and the chapter on the 27 April in the 14th year of his reign, after the finding of an inquisition taken by Henry le Waleys and Gregory de Rokeslegh that this would not be to the damage of the king or of the city of London, and the king, learning from the present dean and chapter that although they have caused the way to be closed for a long time, by virtue of the said grant, yet it has been unlawfully opened by certain rivals against the form of the letters of Edward I, ordered the mayor and sheriffs to take an inquisition upon the matter, by which it is now found that the way was closed by a stone wall by virtue of the grant aforesaid, and that in the first year of the present reign it was opened wilfully by John Sok and certain other persons unknown. MEMBRANE 11.

Dec. 6. The Tower. To William Scot and his fellows, justices of assize in Sussex. Whereas the king lately committed to William Trussel of Cubbesdon the custody of all the lands which belonged to Hugh de Sancto Johanne, tenant in chief, which were in the king's hands by reason of the minority of Hugh's heir, to hold until the heir should come of age, and now the king has learned that Thomas de Hunstane arrames an assize of novel disseisin before the justices against Edmund de Sancto Johanne, Hugh's son and heir, and William and others contained in the original writ concerning tenements in Bridham and Estichenore, which are in William's custody of the said heir's inheritance, the king orders the justices to behave themselves so circumspectly in that assize that no disinheriting of the heir shall be made during his minority without consulting the king. By p.s.

Dec. 8. The Tower. To Nicholas de Langeton, mayor of York, and to William de Grantham, John Randeman and John Haunsard, late bailiffs of that city, and to Nicholas de Scorby and Walter de Kelstern, collectors of customs in the port of that city. Order to cause 4 sacks of wool arrested by Thomas de Brayton and Richard atte Wode, the king's sergeant at arms, and delivered to them by indenture, to be dearrested without delay and delivered to the master and brethren of the hospital of St. Leonard, York, if they are their own wool, in accordance with the king's grant that they should be quit of all tenths, fifteenths and other subsidies and quotas.

Dec. 5. The Tower. To the abbot of Bukfestr[e]. Order to exercise the king's commission to him to receive the money of the sudsidy of the ninth of sheaves, wool and lambs and of the ninth granted by cities and boroughs and of the fifteenth of merchants and others in the parliament at Westminster on Wednesday after Sunday in Mid-Lent in co. Devon, to which the king appointed him and to answer for that money to the king, notwithstanding the commission to the abbot of Forde to receive that money, made on 15 November last, which the king has revoked by these presents, because the first term of payment was passed long before the 15th November and the abbot of Bukfestre had intermeddled with the receiving of the money for that term and had received the greater part thereof, and if the abbot of Forde was charged with receiving the money it would manifestly be to the detriment of the king. By K.

Mandate to the vendors and assessors of the subsidy to deliver all the money to the abbot of Bukfestre by indenture, superseding the execution of the order directing them to deliver that money to the abbot of Forde. By K.

Lincoln, restoring the issues thereof to him, as the king, wishing to be certified upon the taking of the said lands into his hand, ordered the escheator to inform him thereof in chancery, and the escheator returned that he had so taken them because he was informed by trustworthy testimony that John le Botiller, Ralph's son, now deceased, held the said lands of his father's gift, in his demesne as of fee, at his death, in chief of the king by knight's service, and afterwards at Ralph's suit showing the king that John did not hold these lands as aforesaid and had no estate therein except at Ralph's will, and that they are not held of the king, and beseeching the king to order his hand to be amoved, the king ordered the escheator to take an inquisition on the matter, by which it is found that John held no lands in the said town in his demesne as of fee at his death, but that he held lands in the towns of Wilkesby, Holtham and Cunnyngesby of Ralph at will, and a plot in the town of Enderby of John son of Thomas de Multon of Frampton at Ralph's will, as of the soke of Horncastre, by the service of 4¾*d.* and that the lands in Wilkesby, Holtham and Cunnyngesby are held in chief by knight's service.

By p.s.

Jan. 20. Westminster. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to audit the account of Constantine de Mortuo Mari, William de Calthorp, John de Holveston and Robert Curzoun, collectors and purveyors of wool in co. Norfolk, and to cause due allowance to be made to them for the costs they have incurred in buying canvas for sacking the wool, folding and cleaning it and for the wages of the men who packed it, weighed and carried it to the ports where it was to be laded and for other costs incurred upon the wool, notwithstanding that they incurred them without warrant, as they have besought the king to cause this to be done.

Jan. 14. The Tower. To William de Edynton, receiver of the ninth granted by the community of the realm and of the tenth granted by the clergy in all the counties this side Trent. Order to pay to Henry de Percy or his attorney 250*l.* without delay, having viewed his tally, as the king lately granted him that sum to be received of the tenth granted by the clergy in co. By p.s.

Jan. 6. Westminster. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to discharge the takers of wool in co. Cumberland of taking and levying wool, as the king appointed certain lieges for this and ordered them to deliver the wool to Thomas de Leuesham, William de Mallerstang and William de Baynbrigg, merchants of York, to whom the king had sold it, under a certain form, and afterwards the king ordered the takers to supersede the execution of that order, because all the money of the biennial ninth granted by the community of the realm in that county, from which payment for wool so taken for the king's use ought to be made, is reserved for paying the wages and expenses for the war of Scotland.

Jan. 15. Westminster. To the same. Whereas the king ordered the collectors of customs in the port of Great Yarmouth to permit Walter de Mauny to take 78 sacks 20 stones of wool from that port without paying the custom and subsidy thereon, these being allowed to him in full payment of 156*l.* 16*s.* 5*d.* [as at page 61 above], and now the king has learned from John Perebroun and Thomas de Drayton, collectors of customs in that port that although by virtue of that order they permitted Walter's attorneys to take the said wool, receiving an indenture under the name of Roger de Clepton, yet the treasurer and barons have delayed to make allowance to them in their account for the same, because it appears by the endorsement of the indenture that Roger has the king's letters of allowance in the custom and subsidy of his own wool taken out of that port, unless the collectors surrender at the exchequer the king's letters patent of which the endorsement makes mention, whereupon the collectors have besought the king to provide a remedy; and on a scrutiny of the rolls of chancery it is not found that any such allowance has been made to Roger in that port or elsewhere: the king therefore orders the treasurer and barons to cause allowance to be made to the collectors in their account, of what they shall be found to have allowed to Walter by virtue of the said order up to 156*l.* 6*s.* 5*d.*, receiving from them the king's writs and the said indenture, notwithstanding the endorsement aforesaid.

Jan. 6. Westminster. To the same. Order to audit the accounts of Thomas de Melcheburn and William de Snoryngg, late collectors of customs in the port of Lenn and receivers of wool in co. Norfolk, and to cause allowance to be made to them for the sums which they shall be found to have expended in hiring houses, paying the wages of men recovering the wool in that port, weighing, folding, cleaning and keeping it safely and for other expenses incurred thereupon, notwithstanding that they incurred them without warrant. By C.

Jan. 20. Westminster. To the justices of the Bench. deliver it to Richard de Galeweye, Thomas Flemyng and William FitzDieu, merchants of Newcastle-upon-Tyne, to whom he had sold it under a certain form, and afterwards the king ordered them to supersede the execution of their commission, because all the money of the biennial ninth granted by the community of the realm in that county, of which payment for such wool ought to be made, is reserved for paying wages and expenses for the war of Scotland.

Jan. 26. Westminster. To Robert Parvyng and his fellows, justices in eyre at the Tower of London. Order to admit Adam de Stayngrave, the king's clerk, to the office of keeping the rolls and writs in that eyre, to which the king has appointed him, to hold during pleasure. By K.

Order to deliver to Adam all the writs touching the city of London and the men and citizens of the same which are in his custody, without delay, as the king has ordered Roger Hillary, chief justice of the Bench, to adjourn all pleas touching those men to Roger Parvyng and his fellows, justices in eyre for the common pleas at the Tower of London. By K.

To Reymund Segwyn, the king's butler. Order to receive from Joan de Carreu what he is bound to pay in the king's name to the merchants from whom 6 tuns of wine are taken, and to deliver to her those 6 tuns of wine of the right prise in the port of Bristol yearly in accordance with the king's grant to her of 6 tuns of wine yearly for life to be received by the hands of the butler.

MEMBRANE 3.

Jan. 10. Westminster. To the takers and purveyors of wool in the city of London. Writ of aid in favour of William Bisshop and Francis Forset, the king's serjeants-at-arms, whom the king has appointed to cause all wool of the merchants of the societies of the Leopardi, Bardi and Peruzzi, arrested by the takers, to be dearrested to the number of 400 sacks, and to deliver them to William and Francis or to the merchants of the Leopardi to be taken to Flanders, as the king ordered the collectors of customs in the ports of London and Southampton to permit the merchants of the Leopardi to take 400 and 600 sacks respectively to Flanders under a certain form [as at page 599 above] and the king appointed William and Francis in order that the wool might be taken to the ports more speedily. Order to cause Hugh son of Hugh de Courteneye, earl of Devon to have seisin of the following castles, honours, manors, hundreds, towns and lands which are held of others than the king, restoring the issues thereof to him, as the king has learned by inquisitions taken by the escheator that Hugh the earl at his death held in chief for life the castle, manor and honour of Plympton with the manors of Twiverton, Exemynstre, Thopsham and the hundreds of Plympton, Twiverton, Harrig, Wonford, with free fishing in the water of Exe and all appurtenances in co. men who should receive it, in the case of John's death during that term, that they should hold it until the end of that term, and now the king is informed by John son of Walter Jordan, burgess of Droghda, that although John son of William demised the manor to him, to hold from St. Peter ad Vincula in the 12th year of the reign, for 7 years, and he was seised thereof long before the death of the grantor, yet the manor is taken into the king's hand by the death of John, contrary to the form of the king's grant, and 40 marks from that manor are granted to John de Founteyns by the king, to be received for life, wherefore John son of Walter has besought the king to supply a remedy; the king therefore orders the justiciary to take an inquisition on the matter and if he finds that John son of William demised the manor to John son of Walter as aforesaid, then he shall cause the king's hand to be amoved therefrom and the manor to be restored to the latter together with the issues thereof, and he shall not intermeddle further with the manor or permit any of the king's ministers to do so during the said term but permit John to hold the manor quit of the said 40 marks, until the end of the term, notwithstanding the grant to John de Fourneys, provided that at the expiry of the term the manor shall revert to the king. MEMBRANE 1.

Jan. 21. The Tower.

To William de Edyngton, receiver of the subsidy of the ninth of sheaves, lambs and fleeces and of the biennial tenth granted by the clergy, on this side Trent, at the Tower of London. Because the merchants of the societies of the Bardi and Peruzzi on the king's last passage to Flanders undertook to find the expenses of his household and the wages of his serjeants from 1 June last for a year, 2,000 marks a month of 28 days, the Bardi granting 1,200 marks and the Peruzzi 800, the king assigned to them all the profits of the subsidy of co. Gloucester of the present year, as is found by an indenture in the possession of William de Cusancia, keeper of the wardrobe, and divers other sums of the tenth to be received at the Purification for the better support of this charge, and now with the consent of the council it is ordained that the said assignments shall be observed entire because the money thereof shall not be spent in any other way until they are satisfied for the sums due to them for the said cause, the king therefore orders William to view the assignments and the sums contained in them, which will be shown to him by the said keeper and to pay all the money of the subsidy to the keeper or his attorney by indenture. Westmorland 200, and in the other counties as it is apportioned to them by the king's council, and that bonds or other sureties shall be made for those from whom the wool is taken, containing the sum and the price as formerly ordained at Nottingham, to be paid with the said ninth and other subsidies granted to the king, of the second year, and of that subsidy of the second year is levied, that satisfaction shall be done to the persons from whom the wool was taken, and the said sacks in cos. Cumberland and Westmorland are sold to the said merchants and will be delivered to them by indenture made between them and the takers of the wool at the price of 4 marks the sack, to be paid at Bruges to the keeper of the wardrobe or to another deputed for this within three weeks after the wool is delivered to them, and they shall take it to the nearest port in payment thereof according to the price which is current beyond between merchant and merchant, and they will pay 40*s*. a sack to the customers when the wool passes beyond or give them satisfaction; and the said merchants shall be bound to make payment of 100*l*. in the said parts beyond at Michaelmas next or before if they can, to the keeper of the wardrobe or him whom the king deputes to receive the same. It is also agreed by the council that the said 100*l*. shall be allowed to the merchants in the sum which they are bound to pay to the king for the wool, and also that the merchants shall not be bound to answer for more wool than they have received and than is contained in the indentures made between them and the collectors, and if the merchants cannot sell the wool by reason of war and the king has great need of money to pay his debts, the merchants may satisfy the debtors with the said wool as it may please the king and as they may agree, so that the king be served with the price, in accordance with the agreements aforesaid. For the loyal accomplishment of the premises the archbishop and others have promised in the king's name that the wool which shall be delivered to the merchants and the wool purveyed by themselves shall not be taken and their ships shall not be arrested and no other hindrance shall be put in their way, but they shall have protection and writs for the expedition of this affair, and with the assent and ordinance of the council the chancellor has set the great seal to one part of this indenture, and the archbishop and others have undertaken to keep their part of the premises. Enrolment of a like indenture made with Hardelef de Barton, merchant of Kyngeston upon Hull, and Thomas Tyrwhite, merchant of Beverley, to whom the king sold 500 sacks of the said wool of co. Aug. 8. Berkhampstead. To the collectors of customs in the port of London. Order not to permit any alien merchants to lade any wool in that port and take it to parts beyond the sea until they have taken oath that the wool is their own and was faithfully bought before Friday the morrow of St. Margaret the Virgin last, and that they will not pass the wool of others as their own before the king is satisfied for the 20,000 sacks of wool granted to him or until further order, knowing and making known to the said merchants that if they pass any wool as their own which did not belong to them before the said morrow the king will cause it to be seized as forfeit and will do his will therewith, and he wishes first to have information upon this by inquisitions and making scrutiny, as the parliament at Westminster held on Wednesday after St. Thomas the Martyr last granted the king 20,000 sacks of wool, whereupon the king appointed divers lieges in all the counties of the realm to take and collect that wool according to the portions ordained in each county by the advice of the council; and now the king has learned from many that alien merchants seeking their own gain are contriving to get the larger part of the wool of the realm into their hands by collusion between them and those who have the wool, under colour of buying the same, which they pretend was done before the grant to the king, so that they may defraud the king of the wool and make void the grant to the king. The king wishes the collectors first to take diligent information upon the matter by inquisition, scrutiny or otherwise.

earl of Huntyngdon and others of the council of the one part and Sir William de la Pole of the other part, testifying that the king, in consideration of the payments which William has made for him on either side of the sea for the war and other affairs, and for the damages which he has incurred by reason of such payments, has granted with the assent of the prelates and others aforesaid that all assignments made to William before the date of this indenture, at the exchequer and elsewhere, wherefor he has tallies, shall be duly observed, notwithstanding any order to the contrary, and William shall have writs to all those to whom such repeals were made, to pay the said assignments, and in case some of the assignments are taken out of his hand by any repeal or otherwise and paid to the exchequer, so that he cannot be served in the places where the assignment was made and of which he has tallies, the king grants that William shall be paid the equivalent in money or wool, or shall have an assignment before the feast of All Saints next. The king also grants to William the entire ninth of sheaves, lambs and fleeces in co. Suffolk for the first year and the ninth of cities and boroughs and the fifteenth of foreign merchants for the same year to be received by the hands of the receivers of the same, and the ninth and fifteenth of the second year in cos. Suffolk and Norfolk after satisfaction shall be made for 1200 sacks of wool which are to be taken in those counties for the king's use, to those from whom the wool is taken, the king also grants to William 10,000*l.* of the biennial tenth, to wit: 2,000*l.* of the third part thereof for the Purification term next and in addition as much as may be levied thereof beyond the assignments previously made thereupon by the council, and the residue at Midsummer term following, in part payment of the said debts, of which 2,000*l.* William has undertaken to pay for the expenses of the household of the king's children, to wit 20*l.* a week, and the residue for other necessaries, according as the king's treasurer will order him, and William will begin the said charge from 6 August last, and will maintain it thus for a year following, and he grants that of the first money of the biennial tenth granted by the clergy so much shall be taken as is then paid for the expenses of the said children, and of the first money levied after the tenth Queen Philippa shall have the moiety until she is provided with 2,000*l.* as part of the debt which the king owes to her for the expenses of her household, to be received by the hands of her treasurer, without recompence for any debt touching her chamber; the king has also granted to William the entire ninth of sheaves, lambs and fleeces in cos. Northampton and Somerset of the second year, after satisfaction is made for 1,000 sacks of wool ordained to be taken there for the king's use, to those from whom they are taken, and upon this William shall have writs for the assignments both for the tenth and the ninth, and levy tallies under the names of the collectors or receivers of the same. The king also grants to William all the wool taken for his use in cos. Norfolk and Suffolk and in co. Lincoln for the price ordained at Nottingham, less 1 mark the sack, and William shall pay the custom of 40*s.* the sack at the ports where the wool is laded, and in addition he shall pay in Flanders between this and Michaelmas next 3,000 marks in money as it is current between merchant and merchant, and for this payment he shall buy, purvey and carry 300 sacks of wool to Flanders between this and the said feast and he shall have protections and writs of the great seal so that his men deputed for this may not be molested or hindered by any minister of the king in the purveyance or carriage of the wool, until it is taken to Flanders, and William and his ministers shall not be disturbed in parts beyond by any minister of the king upon any pretext. Of the remainder of the price of the king's said wool, William shall have allowance of 3,300 marks which he will afterwards lend to the king in parts beyond by the hands of Master Robert de Askeby, receiving the money, and of 2,000 quarters of wheat which he caused to be delivered to Robert for the king's use, and of more or less. If William receive more of the king's wool than amounts to the 6,300 marks aforesaid and the wheat, he shall make payment to the king in his wardrobe in the said parts beyond or elsewhere according to the king's commandment, from time to time within three weeks after the wool is delivered to him, to wit for 20 or 40 sacks or more, and he will pay for the customs as aforesaid and also the costs and expenses incurred upon the wool, without the king being charged with anything. As the king is bound to William in great sums of money lent to him for the war and his needs, beyond the assignments contained in this indenture, the king grants that after the merchants of Almain, to whom he has granted the customs and subsidies in all the ports of England, are paid the sums which they lent to the king, William shall have the said customs and subsidies until he is fully paid for the debt which is due to him and also for that which shall come to the king in the meantime, with one leaf of the coket seal in each of the said ports. Because Sir John de Pulteneye has undertaken to pay for William to divers merchants, great sums of money in which William was bound to them, and which he undertook for the king's use, the king grants, with the assent and at the request of William, that a leaf of the coket in all the ports shall remain in John's custody under the seals of the customers of each port until William is satisfied for his debts, so that John can be better paid for what William owes him. The king and others of the council promise to observe the premises in good faith, in witness whereof the king has set his seal to one part and William has set his to another part of the indenture before the king and his council. Dated at London as aforesaid. French.

To the mayor, sheriffs and aldermen of London. Order to preserve the peace and tranquility of that city in accordance with the ordinance, so that the king may not have cause to lay hands on the city or on its liberties or otherwise to punish them, as they certified the king concerning the form of the ordinance made by them for the preservation of the peace there, at his order, and the king further ordered them to cause that ordinance to be observed and to punish transgressors, and now the king has learned that although certain ministers of the city attached certain trespassers for misdeeds and excesses committed by them in the city, and wished to punish them, yet these broke the attachment, laid rash hands on them, beat, wounded and ill-treated them and committed other crimes, whereby the king's affairs have been much retarded, and the punishments provided in the ordinance have not yet been applied by the mayor and others, so that unless a remedy is speedily provided great evils may arise.

Order not to permit any wool or other merchandise on which custom and subsidy ought to be paid, to be taken from that port or from other places of their districts before the arrival of the lieges appointed to enquire concerning the same and to make scrutiny thereof, knowing that if they are not diligent and vigilant in doing this the king will cause them to be punished as abetting those who evade the order, as certain lieges testified in the parliament held at Westminster on Wednesday after the Translation of St. Thomas last that divers merchants and others, notwithstanding the proclamations and prohibitions of the king have laded no small quantity of wool and merchandise, not customed or coketted, in that port and other places, defrauding the king of the custom and subsidy due thereon, wherefore the king has appointed certain lieges to take inquisition by the oath of men of those parts of the names of the merchants and others, and of the masters and mariners of ships who laded wool and merchandise not customed or coketted in that port and took them to parts beyond the sea, and at what time, to wit after the king's first passage to Brabant, and concerning the wool and who took it and to do certain other things contained in their commission, and to certify the king fully concerning the premises.

To John Daune, Robert Beaupel, sheriff of Cornwall and William Shaumbornoun. Order to supersede the taking of John Lercedekene and the further execution of their appointment, by a mainprise, as although the king learning that John was notoriously suspect of certain felonies and misdeeds, appointed them to arrest him in accordance with the form of the ordinance and agreement lately made in the parliament at Westminster, to take him to the Tower of London, and cause him to be detained in prison there by the constable until further order, yet Thomas de Ferrar[iis], knight of co. To R. bishop of Durham. The merchants and mariners of Lescluse in Flanders have besought the king to order the release of Clays son of Clays and of a ship of that town called 'la Madeleyne' and the goods and chattels therein, as the ship, of which Nancier Subbel and Clays are masters, was lately taken at sea by the king's enemies of the town of Caleys who freighted the ship to take certain persons to Scotland, against the wish of the masters and mariners, whose lives were spared for this cause, and the ship was taken while sailing by the sea coast towards the said parts by men and mariners of England near Berwick upon Tweed, and Clays is detained in Norham Castle by Robert de Maners, the constable there, and the ship and the goods and chattels of the masters and mariners therein are arrested by the bishop's ministers in Halieland; the king therefore orders the bishop to take an inquisition on the matter and if he finds that Clays, the ship, goods and chattels are detained as aforesaid, then he shall cause them to be released without delay, and shall so behave in the matter that the merchants and lawful men of Flanders shall be contented and that the complaint be not repeated to the king. The prior of Holy Trinity, Dublin, has shown the king that although Edward I, when the temporalities and common seal of the priory were taken into his hand because the prior and convent with other abettors had celebrated the election of the future archbishop of Dublin before they received the king's licence to elect, ordered William Dodyngseles, then justiciary of Ireland and the council there, to cause those temporalities to be replevied to the prior and convent together with their seal, yet the treasurer and barons distrain them to render account for the issues of the said temporalities from the time of the replevin and to answer to the king for the same, whereupon they have besought the king to provide a remedy, and the king wishing to be certified upon the matter, orders the treasurer and barons to inspect the rolls and memoranda of the exchequer and to inform the king of what they find there before Easter next, superseding in the mean time the said demand made upon the prior and convent. Dec. 8. The Tower. To Robert Parvyng and his fellows, justices appointed to hold pleas before the king. Henry Goldebeter, Thomas Gra, William de Acastr[ia], John de Luteryngton, John de Ripon, Walter de Kelstern, Thomas de Berewyk, Thomas de Lyndeseye, John Goldebeter, William de Skelton, William de Baynbrigg and John Shakelok, merchants of York, have besought the king to aid them, as while they were in his service in parts beyond the sea to make payments and loans to him there for wool which they bought from him and for other causes, they were indicted before the justices at the procuration of certain of their rivals, contriving to aggrieve them, because they had taken certain non-coketted wool out of the realm contrary to the king's prohibition; and they offered to answer before the king upon the premises so that the truth might be enquired into, and the king wishing to have cognisance of this affair, orders the justices that if any process has been taken before them upon the premises or any inquisition or indictment touching the merchants is returned before them, then they shall send the tenor of the record and process to chancery, under Robert's seal, without delay, so that when the king has seen it he may cause what seems reasonable to the council to be done, and in the meantime the justices shall supersede making any execution against the merchants upon the premises unless the king orders otherwise. York, to the takers and purveyors of wool in that Riding, by indenture without delay so that the takers and purveyors may deliver that wool to Henry Goldbetere, Thomas Graa, William de Acastr[ia] and John de Luteryngton, merchants of York, who will then be able to pay the king the sums which they are bound to pay to him for 1,500 sacks of his wool sold to them in the East, North and West Ridings, co. York, as the king ordered the takers and purveyors in the East Riding to deliver all such wool, arrested by them or delivered to them by Thomas and Richard up to 500 sacks, to the said merchants [as at page 589 above]. chancery, to the king in an upper chamber near the great hall in the Tower of London, in the presence of Sir John Darcy, steward of the household, Sir Giles de Bello Campo, knights, and of John de Wynwyk, clerk, and the king delivered the seal to Robert Burghcher, knight, who there took oath to act faithfully in the office of chancellor, in the presence of William and of the steward, Giles and John, and on Friday following he took the seal to Berkyngchapel near the Tower, opened it and caused writs to be sealed therewith, and then caused it to be put in a bag under his seal and taken to his lodging; and on Saturday following, the king sitting at dinner in the said chamber, the chancellor who was about to set out upon his own affairs, by the king's licence delivered the seal in the bag to Sir Edmund de Grymesby, clerk of chancery, to be taken to the chamber of the king, and in the presence of William de Monte Acuto, earl of Salisbury, and of William de Bello Campo the king ordered Thomas de Brayton and Edmund to take the seal and deliver it to Thomas de Evesham, to be kept in his custody under their seals until the return of the chancellor, and that writs should be sealed therewith in the meantime; and Edmund at the ninth hour on that Saturday took the seal to Berkyngchapel and Thomas and Edmund delivered it to Thomas de Evesham, who took it to his lodging in Faytourlane, London, and on the following Sunday caused it to be opened in the house of the friars of Mount Carmel, London, about the first hour in their chapter, in the presence of Thomas de Brayton and Edmund, and other clerks of chancery, and writs to be sealed therewith, and afterwards he caused the bag to be closed up under the seals of himself, Thomas and Edmund, and carried it to his lodging. Dec. 18. The Tower. To the sheriff of Hereford. Whereas the late king on 28 March in the 17th year of his reign committed to Adam de Helnak those two parts of the lands in Tadynton, Wolyngchepe and Clehangre in that county which belonged to John de Northgrave, deceased, and were in the king's hand by reason of the minority of John's heir, which two parts Adam bishop of Hereford, whose lands the late king caused to be taken into his hand, lately held by the late king's commission for rendering 5 marks yearly at the exchequer, to hold from Easter then following, during pleasure, and now William, John's son and heir, has informed the king that although the said two parts, because he proved his age before the escheator, as he says, were delivered to him, yet the sheriff distrains him to render the 5 marks for the time when the two parts were in the custody of Adam de Helnak, wherefore he has besought the king to provide a remedy; the king therefore ordered the treasurer and barons of the exchequer to hear William's plaint calling before them Adam de Helnak and others, hearing the reasons and inspecting the rolls and memoranda of the exchequer, and if they found that Adam held the said two parts as aforesaid and that the five marks are in arrear for his time, then to supersede the demand made upon William, charging Adam with the 5 marks or others who ought to be charged therewith; the king therefore orders the sheriff to take security from William to answer to the king at the exchequer on the morrow of Hilary next for the 5 marks, unless he can show that he ought to be discharged thereof, and so supersede the levying of the 5 marks of him until that morrow, releasing him from any distraint made for that cause.

Memorandum. Nov. 23. Wallingford. To the collectors of the new custom in the port of London. Enrolment of indenture made between the king and Matthew Canaceon, George Canaceon and their fellows, merchants of the society of the Leopardi, testifying that whereas the king was bound to them in 13,547*l.* 6*s.* of which they were to pay him in parts beyond the sea 10,000 florins of Florence, amounting to 1,500*l.* at 3*s.* the florin; for which debt 500 sacks of wool were assigned to the merchants to be taken of the merchants of the Bardi and Peruzzi, who undertook for the king to pay 500 sacks of wool valued at 3,000*l.* to the Leopardi; and there were also assigned to them 659 sacks of co. Lincoln, 387 sacks of co. Northampton, 500 sacks of co. Oxford and Coteswold, 459 sacks of co Berks, each sack at a mark less than the price ordained at Nottingham; as appears by an agreement lately made between the king and Matthew and Tisard his fellow; and those merchants have surrendered that indenture because they could not be supplied with the said wool and have received nothing thereof, together with the writs, in wax which they had to the receivers of wool in the said counties to deliver the wool to them, wherefore it is agreed between the king and the Leopardi that the 10,000 florins, which they have not paid because they did not receive the wool, shall be rebated of the said sum of 13,547*l.* 6*s.* and the merchants shall be discharged of the said 10,000 florins; the king also grants to the merchants of the 12,047*l.* 6*s.* remaining due to them, for which they have certain jewels as appears by indenture made with them, in the following form, to wit, that the king will deliver to them without delay the said 500 sacks of the Bardi and Peruzzi for the 3,000*l.* aforesaid, to wit 300 sacks of the Bardi at Southampton, and 200 sacks of the Peruzzi at London and also all the money arising from the ninth of lambs, sheaves and fleeces and the ninth of cities and boroughs and the fifteenth of merchants and others in co. Suffolk, according to the assignment made to them, in part payment of the 12,047*l.* 6*s.*, and then to this intent, that if the merchants had had the assignment of the wool in the aforesaid counties that the assignment of co. Suffolk should be reserved to the king, and if they had not received the wool they should have the assignment. Also because the Leopardi have undertaken to pay for the king 42,000 or 45,000 little florins, at two crowns for three florins, for the release of the earl of Derby for the debt of Malyns, the king grants that he will satisfy them as follows, to wit: to deliver to them 1,200 sacks of his wool wherever they wish in England to be taken to Flanders, paying 40*s.* a sack for the custom and subsidy and quit of the petty custom, of which 1,200 sacks the merchants of the Bardi and Peruzzi shall deliver to them at the port of Southampton 300 sacks without delay, and 600*l.* for 100 sacks of wool, which said 400 sacks the Bardi and Peruzzi undertook to pay for the release of the said earl, and the 600*l.* shall be paid in money at London of the first money of their assignments of six counties, because the Bardi and Peruzzi have not 100 sacks of the 400 ready; and the king will deliver to them 800 sacks of his wool for the residue, of which Sir Bartholomew de Burghersh and Sir William de Kildesby have undertaken to have 100 sacks without delay, and the king has promised that the remaining 700 sacks shall be delivered to them at London at the Purification next, in full satisfaction of the 45,000 little florins as aforesaid. And the Leopardi have granted that when they have received the 400 of the 1,200 sacks at Lescluse, they are bound to release the earl of Derby fifteen days after for the debt of Malyns only, to wit that all the wool aforesaid shall pass the sea at the king's risk and that the merchants are bound to pay 40*s.* a sack for the custom and subsidy and no more, because they are enfranchised by the king as are the burgesses of London, and for this they have writs at every time and at every place that they ask for the same. Jan. 20. The Tower. To the sheriff of Kent. Order to cause proclamation to be made that all those who hold the lands of men of religion and other aliens, which the king has caused to be taken into his hand and committed to the priors of those places and to others for rendering a certain ferm, at a less ferm than they ought to render according to the value of the lands, shall come to chancery and the king will cause the custody of such lands to be delivered to them for a reasonable ferm. The like to all the sheriffs of England.

Jan. 15. Westminster. To the treasurer and barons of the exchequer. Order to cause Anthony de Lucy to have respite until Whitsuntide next for the remainder of his account for the time when he was sheriff of Cumberland, as he is staying in that county upon the march of Scotland for the safety and defence of those parts.

Jan. 23. Westminster. To the justiciary of Ireland or to him who supplies his place. Order to cause proclamation to be made that all merchants who enter the port of Waterford with their ships and boats within the bounds of Rodowan and Rodibak shall lade and discharge their merchandise at that city under pain of the forfeiture of the ships and the merchandise therein, and shall pay the customs there, as was customary before the king's grant to the men of Rosponte, except ships of the marshalsea of Leynster laded with the merchandise of the men of that marshalsea after the justiciary and his lieutenant have taken inquisition upon the matter, if they find that ships ought to ply to the port of Waterford within the said bounds, except those of the said marshalsea and have been wont to do so, and that the grant to the men of Rosponte was to the king's prejudice, as at the suit of the citizens of Waterford showing the king that the citizens then from the time of the conquest of Ireland and the foundation of the city had enjoyed such liberty that all ships entering that port within the said bounds ought to lade and unlade their goods and merchandise at that city and not elsewhere, paying the customs there, except ships of the said marshalsea, and the said citizens hold that of the king at fee ferm, to wit, for rendering 100 marks at the exchequer of Dublin yearly, and they have nothing whereof they can levy the said ferm except the profit of such traffic, and by reason of a grant of the king to the burgesses of Rosponte in that land, who craftily showed that it would not be to the damage of the king or of the said city, but an advantage to the king of 40*l.* if ships entering that port should apply at that town as well as at the city of Waterford and lade and discharge there as is said, because such ships apply at Ros and lade and discharge there, so that the citizens lose the greater part of the said profits, to their damage and impoverishment, the withdrawal of the payment of the said ferm and the manifest destruction of the city; and the king wishing to be certified upon the matter ordered the lieutenant to go to that city on a day appointed by him, or to any other place where the citizens and burgesses could go with safety, and to take an inquisition upon the matter in the presence of the mayor of the city and captains of the town, if they chose to attend, and to send it to the king to the chancery in England, so that the king might cause to be done what should seem good to the council, after the inquisition had been seen; and at the time of the king's grant to the men of Rosponte it was not the king's intention to do any prejudice thereby to the city or to its citizens. CALENDARS OF STATE PAPERS, &c.

[IMPERIAL 8vo., cloth. Price 15*s*. each Volume or Part.]

Subsequent to recommendations of Committees of the House of Commons in 1800 and 1836, the Master of the Rolls, in 1865, stated to the Lords of the Treasury that although "the Records, State Papers, "and Documents in his charge constitute the most complete and perfect "series of their kind in the civilized world," and although "they are "of the greatest value in a historical and constitutional point of view, yet "they are comparatively useless to the public, from the want of proper "Calendars and Indexes." Whereupon their Lordships assented to the necessity of having Calendars prepared and printed, and empowered the Master of the Rolls to take such steps as might be necessary for this purpose.

Capgrave's Chronicle extends from the creation of the world to the year 1417. Being written in English, it is of value as a record of the language spoken in Norfolk.

2. CHRONICON MONASTERII DE ABINGDON. Vols. I. and II. Edited by the Rev. JOSEPH STEPHENSON, M.A., Vicar of Leighton Buzzard. 1858.

This Chronicle traces the history of the monastery from its foundation by King Ina of Wessex, to the reign of Richard I. The author incorporates into his history various charters of the Saxon kings, as illustrating not only the history of the locality but that of the kingdom.

3. LIVES OF EDWARD THE CONFESSOR. I.—La Estoire de Seint Aedward le Rei. II.—Vita Beati Edvardi Regis et Confessoris. III.—Vita Æduardi Regis qui apud Westmonasterium requiescit. Edited by HENRY RICHARDS LUARD, M.A., Fellow and Assistant Tutor of Trinity College, Cambridge. 1858.

The first is a poem in French, probably written in 1245. The second is an anonymous poem, written between 1440 and 1450, which is mainly valuable as a specimen of the Latin poetry of the time. The third, also by an anonymous author, was apparently written between 1066 and 1074.

4. MONUMENTA FRANCISCANA.

Vol. I.—Thomas de Eccleston de Adventu Fratrum Minorum in Angliam. Adæ de Marisco Epistolæ. Registrum Fratrum Minorum Londoniæ. Edited by J. S. BREWER, M.A., Professor of English Literature, King's College, London.

5. FASCICULI ZIZANIORUM MAGISTRI JOHANNIS WYCLIF CUM TRITICO. Ascribed to THOMAS NETTER, of WALDEN, Provincial of the Carmelite Order in England, and Confessor to King Henry the Fifth. Edited by the Rev. W. W. SHIRLEY, M.A., Tutor and late Fellow of Wadham College, Oxford. 1858.

This work gives the only contemporaneous account of the rise of the Lollards.

6. THE BUIK OF THE CRONICLIS OF SCOTLAND; or, A Metrical Version of the History of Hector Boece; by WILLIAM STEWART. Vols. I.-III. Edited by W. B. TURNBULL, Barrister-at-Law. 1858.

This is a metrical translation of a Latin Prose Chronicle, written in the first half of the 16th century. The narrative begins with the earliest legends and ends with the death of James I. of Scotland, and the "evil ending of the traitors that slew him." The peculiarities of the Scottish dialect are well illustrated in this version.

7. JOHANNIS CAPGRAVE LIBER DE ILLUSTRIBUS HENRICIS. Edited by the Rev. F. C. HINGESTON, M.A. 1858.

The first part relates only to the history of the Empire from the election of Henry I. the Fowler, to the end of the reign of the Emperor Henry VI. The second part is devoted to English history, from the accession of Henry I. in 1100, to 1446, which was the twenty-fourth year of the reign of Henry VI. The third part contains the lives of illustrious men who have borne the name of Henry in various parts of the world.

8. Historia Monasterii S. Augustini Cantuariensis by Thomas of Elmham, formerly Monk and Treasurer of that Foundation. Edited by Charles Hardwick, M.A., Fellow of St. Catherine's Hall, and Christian Advocate in the University of Cambridge. 1858.

This is a Latin Chronicle extending from the Creation to the latter part of the reign of Edward III., with a continuation to the year 1413.

10. Memorials of Henry the Seventh; Bernardi Andreæ Tholosatis Vita Regis Henrici Septimi; necnon alia quædam ad eundem Regem Spectantia. Edited by James Gairdner. 1858.

The contents of this volume are—(1) a life of Henry VII., by his poet Laureate and historiographer, Bernard André, of Toulouse, with some compositions in verse, of which he is supposed to have been the author; (2) the journals of Roger Machado during certain embassies to Spain and Brittany, the first of which had reference to the marriage of the King's son, Arthur, with Catharine of Arragon; (3) two curious reports by envoys sent to Spain in 1505 touching the succession to the Crown of Castile, and a project of marriage between Henry VII. and the Queen of Naples; and (4) an account of Philip of Castile's reception in England in 1506. Other documents of interest are given in an appendix.

11. Memorials of Henry the Fifth. I.—Vita Henrici Quinti, Roberto Redmanno auctore. II.—Versus Rhythmici in laudem Regis Henrici Quinti. III.—Elmhami Liber Metricus de Henrico V. Edited by Charles A. Cole. 1858.

The Liber Custumarum was compiled in the early part of the 14th century during the reign of Edward II. It also gives an account of the laws, regulations, and institutions of the City of London in the 12th, 13th, and early part of the 14th centuries.

13. Chronica Johannis de Oxenedes. Edited by Sir Henry Ellis, K.H. 1859.

Although this Chronicle tells of the arrival of Hengist and Horsa, it substantially begins with the reign of King Alfred, and comes down to 1292. It is particularly valuable for notices of events in the eastern portions of the kingdom.

The author was born about the end of the fourteenth century, consecrated Bishop of St. Asaph in the year 1444, and translated to the see of Chichester in 1450. His work gives a full account of the views of the Lollards, and has great value for the philologist.

20. Annales Cambriæ. Edited by the Rev. John Williams ab Ithel, M.A. 1860.

These annals, which are in Latin, commence in 447, and come down to 1288. The earlier portion appears to be taken from an Irish Chronicle used by Tigernach, and by the compiler of the Annals of Ulster.

In the first two volumes is a History of England, from the death of Henry III. to the death of Henry V., by Thomas Walsingham, Precentor of St. Albans.

In the 3rd volume is a Chronicle of English History, attributed to William Rishanger, who lived in the reign of Edward I.: an account of transactions attending the award of the kingdom of Scotland to John Balliol, 1291-1292, also attributed to William Rishanger, but on no sufficient ground: a short Chronicle of English History, 1292 to 1300, by an unknown hand: a short Chronicle, Willelmi Rishanger Gesta Edwardi Primi, Regis Angliæ, probably by the same hand: and fragments of three Chronicles of English History, 1285 to 1307.

In the 4th volume is a Chronicle of English History, 1259 to 1296: Annals of Edward II., 1307 to 1323, by John de Trokelowe, a monk of St. Albans, and a continuation of Trokelowe's Annals, 1323, 1324, by Henry de Blaneforde: a full Chronicle of English History, 1392 to 1406. and an account of the benefactors of St. Albans, written in the early part of the 15th century,

The 5th, 6th, and 7th volumes contain a history of the Abbots of St. Albans, 793 to 1411, mainly compiled by Thomas Walsingham, with a Continuation.

The 8th and 9th volumes, in continuation of the Annals, contain a Chronicle probably of John Amundesham, a monk of St. Albans.

The 10th and 11th volumes relate especially to the acts and proceedings of Abbots Whethamstede, Albon, and Wallingford.

The Chronicle of Evesham illustrates the history of that important monastery from 690 to 1418. Its chief feature is an autobiography, which makes us acquainted with the inner daily life of a great abbey. Interspersed are many notices of general, personal, and local history.

Richard of Cirencester's history is in four books, and gives many charters in favour of Westminster Abbey, and a very full account of the lives and miracles of the saints, especially of Edward the Confessor, whose reign occupies the fourth book. A treatise on the Coronation, by William of Sudbury, a monk of Westminster, fills book ii. c. 3.

Edited by the Rev. WILLIAM STUBBS, M.A., Vicar of Navestock, Essex, and Lambeth Librarian. 1864-1865.

The authorship of the Chronicle in Vol. I., hitherto ascribed to Geoffrey Vinesauf, is now more correctly ascribed to Richard, Canon of the Holy Trinity of London.

The letters in Vol. II., written between 1187 and 1199, had their origin in a dispute which arose from the attempts of Baldwin and Hubert, archbishops of Canterbury, to found a college of secular canons, a project which gave great umbrage to the monks of Canterbury.

39. RECUEIL DES CRONIQUES ET ANCHIENNES ISTORIES DE LA GRANT BRETAIGNE A PRESENT NOMME ENGLETERRE, par JEHAN DE WAURIN. Vol. I., Albina to 688. Vol. II., 1399-1422. Vol. III., 1422-1431. Edited by WILLIAM HARDY, F.S.A. 1864-1879. Vol. IV., 1431-1447. Vol. V., 1447-1471. Edited by Sir WILLIAM HARDY, F.S.A., and EDWARD L. C. P. HARDY, F.S.A. 1884-1891.

40. A COLLECTION OF THE CHRONICLES AND ANCIENT HISTORIES OF GREAT BRITAIN, NOW CALLED ENGLAND, by JOHN DE WAURIN. Vol. I., Albina to 688. Vol. II., 1399-1422. Vol. III., 1422-1431. (Translations of the preceding Vols. I., II., and III.) Edited and translated by Sir WILLIAM HARDY, F.S.A., and EDWARD L. C. P. HARDY, F.S.A. 1864-1891.

41. Polychronicon Ranulphi Higden, with Trevisa's Translation. Vols. I and II. Edited by Churchill Babington, B.D., Senior Fellow of St. John's College, Cambridge. Vols. III.-IX. Edited by the Rev. Joseph Rawson Lumby, D.D., Norrisian Professor of Divinity, Vicar of St. Edward's, Fellow of St. Catharine's College, and late Fellow of Magdalene College, Cambridge. 1865-1886.

This chronicle begins with the Creation, and is brought down to the reign of Edward III. The two English translations, which are printed with the original Latin, afford interesting illustrations of the gradual change of our language, for one was made in the fourteenth century, the other in the fifteenth.

42. Le Livere de Reis de Brittanie e Le Livere de Reis de Engletere. Edited by the Rev. John Glover, M.A., Vicar of Brading, Isle of Wight, formerly Librarian of Trinity College, Cambridge. 1865.

These two treaties are valuable as careful abstracts of previous historians.

43. Chronica Monasterii de Melsa ab anno 1150 usque ad annum 1406, Vols. I.-III. Edited by Edward Augustus Bond, Assistant Keeper of Manuscripts, and Egerton Librarian, British Museum. 1866-1868.

45. Liber Monasterii de Hyda: a Chronicle and Chartulary of Hyde Abbey, Winchester, 455-1023. Edited by Edward Edwards. 1866.

The "Book of Hyde" is a compilation from much earlier sources, which are usually indicated with considerable care and precision. In many cases, however, the Hyde Chronicler appears to correct, to qualify, or to amplify the statements which, in substance, he adopts.

There is to be found, in the "Book of Hyde," much information relating to the reign of King Alfred which is not known to exist elsewhere. The volume contains some curious specimens of Anglo-Saxon and mediæval English.

46. Chronicon Scotorum. A Chronicle of Irish Affairs, from the earliest times to 1135; and Supplement, containing the events from 1141 to 1150. Edited, with Translation, by William Maunsell Hennessy, M.R.I.A. 1866.

47. The Chronicle of Pierre de Langtoft, in French Verse, from the earliest period to the death of Edward I. Vols. I. and II. Edited by Thomas Wright, M.A. 1866-1868.

It is probable that Pierre de Langtoft was a canon of Bridlington, in Yorkshire, and lived in the reign of Edward I., and during a portion of the reign of Edward II. This chronicle is divided into three parts; in the first, is an abridgment of Geoffrey of Monmouth's "Historia Britonum"; in the second, a history of the Anglo-Saxon and Norman kings, to the death of Henry III.; in the third, a history of the reign of Edward I. The language is a specimen of the French of Yorkshire.

48. The War of the Gaedhil with the Gaill, or The Invasions of Ireland by the Danes and other Norsemen. Edited, with a Translation, by the Rev. James Henthorn Todd, D.D., Senior Fellow of Trinity College, and Regius Professor of Hebrew in the University of Dublin. 1867.

50. Munimenta Academica, or, Documents illustrative of Academical Life and Studies at Oxford (in Two Parts). Edited by the Rev. Henry Anstey, M.A., Vicar of St. Wendron, Cornwall, and late Vice-Principal of St. Mary Hall, Oxford. 1868.

51. Chronica Magistri Rogeri de Houedene. Vols. I.-IV. Edited by the Rev. William Stubbs, M.A., Regius Professor of Modern History and Fellow of Oriel College, Oxford. 1868-1871.

The earlier portion, extending from 732 to 1148, appears to be a copy of a compilation made in Northumbria about 1161, to which Hoveden added little. From 1148 to 1169—a very valuable portion of this work—the matter is derived from another source, to which Hoveden appears to have supplied little. From 1170 to 1192 is the portion which corresponds to some extent with the Chronicle known under the name of Benedict of Peterborough (see No. 49). From 1192 to 1201 may be said to be wholly Hoveden's work.

WORKS PUBLISHED IN PHOTOZINCOGRAPHY.

DOMESDAY BOOK, or the GREAT SURVEY OF ENGLAND OF WILLIAM THE CONQUEROR, 1086; fac-simile of the Part relating to each county, separately (with a few exceptions of double counties). Photozincographed at the Ordnance Survey Office, Southampton, by Colonel Sir HENRY JAMES, R.E., F.R.S., DIRECTOR-GENERAL of the ORDNANCE SURVEY, under the superintendence of W. BASEVI SANDERS, an Assistant Record Keeper. 35 Parts, imperial quarto and demy quarto (1861-1863), boards.

Domesday Survey is in two parts or volumes. The first, in folio, contains the counties of Bedford, Berks, Bucks, Cambridge, Chester, and Lancaster, Cornwall, Derby, Devon, Dorset, Gloucester, Hants, Hereford, Herts, Huntingdon, Kent, Leicester and Rutland, Lincoln, Middlesex, Northampton, Nottingham, Oxford, Salop, Somerset, Stafford, Surrey, Sussex, Warwick, Wilts, Worcester, and York. The second volume, in quarto, contains the counties of Essex, Norfolk, and Suffolk.

Domesday Book was printed verbatim et literatim during the last century, in consequence of an address of the House of Lords to King George III. in 1767. It was not, however, commenced until 1773, and was completed early in 1783. In 1860, Her Majesty's Government, with the concurrence of the Master of the Rolls, determined to apply the art of photozincography in the production of a fac-simile of Domesday Book.

This work forms a comprehensive Palæographic Series for Ireland. It furnishes characteristic specimens of the documents which have come down from each of the classes which, in past ages, formed principal elements in the population of Ireland, or exercised an influence in her affairs. With these reproductions are combined fac-similes of writings connected with eminent personages or transactions of importance in the annals of the country to the early part of the eighteenth century.

The specimens have been reproduced as nearly as possible in accordance with the originals, in dimensions, colouring, and general appearance. Characteristic examples of styles of writing and caligraphic ornamentation are, as far as practicable, associated with subjects of historic and linguistic interest. Descriptions of the various manuscripts are given by the Editor in the Introduction. The contents of the specimens are fully elucidated and printed in the original languages, opposite to the Fac-similes—line for line—without contractions—thus facilitating reference and aiding effectively those interested in palæographic studies.

In the work are also printed in full, for the first time, many original and important historical documents.

Part I. commences with the earliest Irish MSS. extant.

Part II.: From the Twelfth Century to A.D. 1299.

Part III.: From A.D. 1300 to end of reign of Henry VIII.

Part IV. 1: From reign of Edward VI. to that of James I.

In part IV. 2 the work is carried down to the early part of the eighteenth century, with Index to the entire publication.
